Demo Moves To Slash Taxes Rebuffed By House Committee

Cooper Says He Will Carry Fight For Cut To Floor

Plan To Up Personal Exemption Defeated

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today sidetracked—amid sharp political maneuvering — Democratic proposals for big cuts in both individual income and excise taxes.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn), senior Democrat on the tax-writing group, promptly served public notice that Democrats will fight on the House floor, if necessary, for an individual income tax cut this year for all taxpayers.

Cooper, in a statement backed by House Democratic leaders, urged Republicans on the committee to reconsider their earlier action defeating a Democratic move to boost personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $700.

Politically-Explosive Issue

That would save taxpayers—and cost the government in revenue—about 2¼ billion dollars a year. Cooper said individuals "have not received their fair share of tax relief" in a vast tax revision bill now nearing completion within the committee.

There were no outward signs of Republicans yielding on the politically explosive issue at this time, but GOP congressional leaders conceded privately that some of their party members are getting restive under almost daily Democratic hammering for bigger tax cuts.

Ike Broadcast Expected

These leaders said they are expecting President Eisenhower to make a nation-wide television or radio broadcast soon, aimed at marshalling public and congressional support for the administration's embattled tax policies.

Rep. Boggs (D-La) provoked a sharp argument within a closed-door committee session by moving to cut all excise or sales taxes which are now above 10 per cent down to that level.

Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) banged his gavel and declared the motion out of order. There was a flurry of debate, but the Boggs' motion never was pressed to a vote.

INDICTED—Julius C. Holmes (above), New York City, was among those named yesterday in five additional indictments returned by a federal grand jury, charging 18 persons and seven corporations with diverse offenses in connection with the disposal of surplus ships from World War II. Two Men, Rifle In Car, Seized As They Attempt To Visit Ike

Hagerty Says Pair Drinking, No Plot Against President

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—Police arrested and took a rifle from two men who attempted to call on President Eisenhower at his vacation headquarters today.

Announcing the arrest, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen there was "no indication at all" that the men had plotted an attempt on the President's life.

The incident occurred in mid-afternoon, a few hours before Eisenhower was scheduled to start back to Washington by plane.

Hagerty called a news conference to tell of the arrest of the two, who have been charged with vagrancy, he said.

Pair "Drinking Quite A Bit"

The secretary said there had been a report of an attempt on Eisenhower's life.

"That," Hagerty declared, "is completely inaccurate."

What did happen, he added, was that two men who had been "drinking quite a bit" drove up to the gate of the ranch where the President and Mrs. Eisenhower have been vacationing guests since last Wednesday.

Hagerty identified the men as Carl Lee Kinsey and John D. Ortega, an Indian. He said police had not yet obtained an address for either. Both are about 30, Hagerty said.

Police later gave Kinsey's age as 25 and listed his address as San Bernardino, Calif. They identified Ortega as a 48-year-old Mission Indian living in the Palm Springs area.

They told Secret Service agents guarding the gate they wanted to see the President, who had just returned to the ranch from nearby Tamarisk Golf Club.

Rifle Found In Car

The agents became suspicious of the behavior of the men and took a look in the back seat of their car and found an unloaded rifle and some shells.

The Secret Service took the two into custody and turned them over to Palm Springs Police Chief John S. Davis.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, ending a six-day vacation, were scheduled to take off at 11:30 p.m. (EST) on the eight hour overnight flight to the capital. There are sleeping quarters aboard their private plane, the Columbine.

Bricker Plan Backer Cites U.N. Charter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), backing the Bricker amendment to curb the scope of treaties, said today the United Nations charter contains "the seeds of power to deprive our states of a Republican form of government."

He told the Senate the U.N. is preparing a whole series of treaties which would operate as domestic legislation in the United States, affecting citizens in matters on which even the federal government cannot legislate under the Constitution.

Night Sessions Likely

The U.N. charter, Jenner contended, "has within it the pattern for making the states into satellite provinces, subject to a Congress which under the United Nations charter will have to tell them what to do."

Thus another round of debate began on the controversial plan of Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to limit the president's power to make treaties and other international agreements.

When the Senate will reach a showdown vote on the issue remained uncertain. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, said it may be necessary to hold night sessions tomorrow and Thursday "to see if we can complete this constitutional amendment."

Move To Curb Debate Fails

Knowland tried unsuccessfully to get unanimous consent to limit debate, beginning tomorrow, to two hours on one section of the complex legislation. This is Bricker's amendment to his own original proposal — a modification which would provide that a treaty or international agreement cannot become effective as domestic law unless Congress passes enabling legislation or unless the Senate so specifies in ratifying a treaty. International agreements are not now subject to ratification.

State Dept. Says Firings Include 11 Loyalty Cases

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The State Department released 590 employes as security risks last year, including 11 fired on grounds of questionable loyalty, but 291 of the workers got jobs with other government agencies.

In addition to the 291 transfers, the House Appropriations Committee was told, 188 resigned, 50 were let out in reductions in force, 36 left on completion of temporary work, four retired and 21, including the 11 loyalty cases, were listed as discharged for cause.

The committee made public today the figures given in testimony by the department's security administrator, R. W. Scott McLeod.

Not Quizzed About Transfers

McLeod was not questioned about the 291 transfers, and there was no indication how many of the employes may still be working for the government. He did say 99 of the transfer cases, "homosexual deviations" made up the principal security factor.

Seven of the 11 fired for "pro-Communist activities or associations," McLeod said, had charges pending against them when the Eisenhower administration took office.

President Eisenhower said in his State of the Union message to Congress that 2,200 government workers had been let out under the security program he ordered into effect last April. There has been no breakdown, however, to show how many were let out for loyalty reasons.

GOP Under Demo Fire

The program provides for discharge of workers who are considered security risks for such reasons as excessive drunkenness, over-talkativeness, homosexuality and other traits which might cause them to disclose secret information they deal with in their work, as well as for disloyalty and subversion.

Democrats have insisted that most of the discharges were for reasons other than questionable loyalty, and have accused Republican speakers of using the figures loosely to show loyalty risks.

He's Not Losing On Coffee Sales

GRANDRAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—Grocer Pat Ryan posted a wholesale invoice showing what he pays for coffee, and this sign: "This coffee cost me a dollar. Pay whatever you think I should make a pound."

"Some people pay just a dollar," Ryan says, "but others have paid from $1.05 all the way to $1.20. Sales continue to go from bad to worse in volume, though." Ryan intends to leave the sign up until the price of coffee breaks.

Many of them wept as they stepped ashore. They received a tremendous welcome from relatives and friends before being taken to their old homes in Epirus, northern Greece.

Graham Quiets Angry Britons

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Feb. 23 (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham arrived in Britain today and declared he had come to preach the Bible and not to talk politics.

That appeared to quiet much of the controversy around him.

At a news conference with reporters who met him aboard the liner United States he tapped the Bible he was carrying and said:

"What I have to say is in this book. Do not expect from me stunts of sensationalism, but in meetings beginning March 1 I hope to emphasize that Christ can be a real factor in everyday life."

The 35-year-old handsome evangelist has angered a few Britons and startled many more. Bright posters with his picture dominate hundreds of London billboards.

While Graham was on the high seas a storm developed over his advance publicity campaign. Laborites were angered by a calendar put out by Graham's organization which they said suggested that socialism had emptied British churches.

Graham telephoned from the liner saying the word should have been "secularism", not "socialism." Secularism is a system of social ethics that excludes religious considerations.

Indochina Red Units Withdraw

SAIGON, Indochina, Feb. 23 (AP)—The French announced tonight the Vietminh had pulled back their forces from the vicinity of three threatened key points in northern Indochina, including a beleagured fortress protecting the Laotian royal city of Luang Prabang.

But there was no indication whether the Communist-led rebels would renew the assaults or open up on other sectors.

(The French National Assembly in Paris voted Tuesday to open debate on March 5 on Indian Prime Minister Nehru's suggestion that both sides agree to a cease-fire in Indochina pending discussion of an Indochinese settlement at the Geneva conference opening April 26.

China Reds' Slaughter Toll Set At 15 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee released today an official estimate that the Red Chinese have slaughtered about 15 million of their own people since 1949.

The figures came from Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, who said they fitted into "just about the bloodiest pattern that the Communists have followed in any country in the world."

Robertson appeared before the committee at a closed-door session last month in connection with the State Department's budget request. His testimony was not made public until today.

British Plane Vanishes

SINGAPORE, Feb. 23 (AP)—A British plane carrying loud speaker equipment for broadcasting to Malayans in the rebel-infested jungles disappeared with five persons aboard today. Troops headed toward a jungle area where unofficial reports said the plane's wreckage was sighted.

Test Of New Polio Vaccine Is Launched At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, smiling and confident, launched today the first large-scale tests of his new vaccine in the fight against polio.

Dr. Salk administered shots of the new preventive to more than 250 school children of the first three grades—the first of 5,000 to be inoculated in Pittsburgh elementary schools. A national testing program will be sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the spring.

The youngsters — some awed, some grinning and some a bit scared—sat through the five-minute injection process with hardly a murmur. They didn't like the blood sampling. The hypodermic needle stung for a second. But shortly afterward, they were giggling and chattering about the experience.

Salk and his staff chose the first three grades of two elementary schools for the first round of injections which will continue through June 19.

The purpose of the current test is three-fold: To check the effectiveness of the vaccine, to determine how many shots are needed, and how often they must be given. Many children in the test will be given as many as three shots.

Dr. Salk's vaccine differs from gamma globulin, used widely last summer against polio. Gamma globulin is made from blood which contains antibodies, and remains in the bloodstream only a short time.

A committee of government-appointed polio experts said last night there is not enough information to conclude whether gamma globulin actually checked polio last summer.

Salk's vaccine, by causing the body to produce its own antibodies is expected to give immunity from polio for possibly seven months at a time.

Hvasta Calls On Secretary Dulles

Reds Kenneled POWs Like Dogs, Inquiry Is Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A military inquiry board was told today that Communists in Korea kenneled American prisoners like dogs and forced them to dig their own graves in efforts to obtain war crime "confessions."

But even after "confessions" were wrung from some of the men, two witnesses related, most of those behind the barbed wire refused to believe them.

Three Marine Corps generals and an admiral are taking testimony to decide whether any charges should be lodged against Col. Frank H. Schwable, 45, of Arlington, Va., a Marine Corps flier.

Schwable signed a germ warfare confession while a prisoner of war, but repudiated it as soon as he was released, declaring it was forced out of him by brutal mistreatment.

One of today's witnesses, a Marine flier decorated for courage and fortitude while a prisoner of war, said he sympathized deeply with Schwable after learning that he had cracked under the Red pressure.

"I had the utmost sympathy for Col. Schwable," Lt. Col. William G. Thrash, a onetime Georgia Tech football player, testified.

Thrash, of Atlanta, said he didn't know how close he himself came to cracking under months of solitary confinement, mistreatment and constant "mental harassment." Asked by a member of the inquiry court if he ever felt near the breaking point, the tall Marine flier answered:

"I don't know. I don't believe I ever displayed any emotion in front of the Chinese. Sometimes by myself at night I had severe nervous spells, sweating and so forth. I fluctuated between frustration, indignation and despair."

He signed a document demanded by his Communist captors—a confession he was responsible for organizing a sort of underground resistance movement among Allied soldiers in the same camp with him.

More Indictments Bared In Ship Deals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A U. S. career diplomat and a former congressman were named today in indictments charging conspiracy in disposing of surplus ships from World War II.

They were Julius C. Holmes, former U. S. minister to London now on leave of absence after being called home to work in the State Department to help settle the Yugoslav-Italian dispute over Trieste, and former Rep. Joseph E. Casey, Massachusetts Democrat.

Also named was Stavros Niarchos, a Greek shipowner with large holdings. He told newsmen in London the charges against him are unfounded, and implied they were the outgrowth of a Republican political attack on a group of Democrats.

The three were named along with 15 other individuals and seven corporations in indictments which Atty. Gen. Brownell said were returned by a grand jury last April 23 and kept secret since then.

Woman Motorist Gives Stalled Car King-Sized "Push"

CRANSTON, R. I., Feb. 23 (AP)—A motorist from this city sheepishly swears this story is true—but even if it isn't, a newspaper would have to be pretty selfish not to pass it along as he tells it.

He was driving on the Merritt Parkway toward New York when his car stalled and he discovered the battery was dead.

He flagged down a passing driver, who was a woman, and she agreed to give him a push to get the car started.

Because his car has an automatic transmission the driver explained to the lady, "You'll have to get up to 30 to 35 miles an hour in order to get me started."

The lady nodded wisely and the stalled driver climbed into his car and waited for her to line up behind him.

He waited. And waited. Then he turned around to see where the woman was.

She was there all right—coming at him at 30 to 35 miles an hour.

The crash caused $300 damage to his car.

Pope's Recovery Reported Slowed

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Vatican said today the recovery of Pope Pius XII has slowed down. The statement dispelled hopes of a rapid recovery for the 77-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, said in an official announcement that the Pope "still needs a notable period of assiduous care" and that his recovery was progressing "with increased slowness."

Vatican sources attributed this to the Pope's renewed difficulty during the past two or three days in taking nourishment.

L'Osservatore's statement was clearly intended to discredit too glowing accounts of the pontiff's recovery.

Leather Industry Unveils Atomic Gloves, Floor Tile

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—And now—cuff links, floor tiling and atomic gloves, all made of leather.

For the leather people, who used to stick pretty much to such things as shoes, belts and suitcases, today opened a display at the Department of Commerce. And, no doubt about it, they've pulled out all the stops.

Or, as I. R. Glass, executive vice president of the Leather Industries of America, said as he looked happily around:

"Our industry has become the envy of the world."

Take those atomic gloves. Impregnated with lead, they look like small sleeping bags. Just the thing, though, if you hanker to split an atom. The U.S. government is about the only customers. Price per pair: $60.

The cuff links are novel, and the leather block floor covering is supposed to be as easy to put down as any tiling. But its cost, $1.50 a square foot, puts it more in the league of good broadloom.

In the middle of the lobby is a display of various leather materials, in a surprising range of colors and textures.

"Why," said one astonished reporter, "you've got one that looks just like a plastic."

A pained silence. Finally a leather man said, "Feel it. It doesn't feel like a synthetic."

"All this talk of dacron and orlon," Glass said. "They're wonderful, of course. But leather is the real miracle product. It's the only one with fibres in three dimensions, width, breadth and depth."

With all the fancy coats, sports equipment, furniture covering and pretty material, it was nice to know that the five billion dollar leather industry still goes in heavily for shoes, belts and suitcases.

Nation Won't Go "Boom To Bust," Mitchell Asserts

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in a major speech tonight said the nation was gradually readjusting its economic scale from a wartime peak but was not "going from boom to bust."

His speech was prepared for a Flint Republican rally and a nationwide broadcast.

Mitchell said:

"We are coming down from the artificially-high peak made by war and inflation to a plateau — and we are almost there. There may be a slight, but not significant, increase in unemployment for the next two months. Then for another few months, we will rest at that level.

"This is part of a necessary readjustment that we could only postpone, not avoid. And it is my view that we are better off getgint it over with fast, rather than adopting schemes to postpone it, which would themselves make the adjustment sharper, more painful, and more protracted when it does occur."

To this extent, he said, he was not in favor of public works projects, as advocated by CIO and AFL leaders, at this time.

He said President Eisenhower has already stated he is prepared to start public works projects if the unemployment situation worsens. Mitchell said he supported Eisenhower's stand.

Mitchell made his address after a whirlwind tour of industrial plants in the Flint area. He visited General Motors Corp.'s AC spark plug, Chevrolet and Ternstedt divisions in an effort to obtain a first hand look at problems of auto industry workers.

Mitchell said the Eisenhower administration's program would be beneficial to labor and the economic progress of the nation.

Senator Says Red Working In Code Room

Pentagon Declares Woman Never Had Access To Secrets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) charged today that a woman identified by a witness as a card-carrying, dues-paying Communist during the 1940's is now handling "top secret" messages in the Pentagon code room.

McCarthy's accusation — the latest move in his running feud with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens—brought a quick statement from the Army. It said the woman, Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, "never" had access either to secret codes or uncoded secrets.

Mrs. Moss's attorney said she denies ever having been a Communist.

McCarthy, speaking out at a televised hearing before his Senate Investigations subcommittee, said Mrs. Moss was still working in the code room "as of today."

Army Fires Back

The Army retorted:

1. As a result of the Army's own investigation, undertaken "prior to any action by the McCarthy committee, Mrs. Moss was shifted from her $3,335-a-year job as a communication relay machine operator for the Signal Corps in the Pentagon to an "unclassified position" on Feb. 5.

2. Mrs. Moss formerly operated equipment handling "unintelligible code messages, both classified (secret) and unclassified," but "never had access to the codes, to the cryptographic rooms or to the code rooms."

The Army said the coded tape which goes through the relay machines is handled outside of the "highly guarded code room" and could not be understood even if it fell into the hands of unauthorized persons. It said the tape itself "cannot be deciphered" — presumably without a coding machine.

Checkup Based On Ike Order

Emphasizing that its investigation was undertaken before McCarthy moved into the case, the Army said its checkup on Mrs. Moss was based on President Eisenhower's executive order of March 23, 1953, which directed federal department chiefs to re-examine the security status of their employes.

Firing a new blast in his charge of "Communist coddling" by the Army, McCarthy had said earlier that the facts about the woman's alleged Communist background should come as "no surprise to the Army."

"The Army had the same information months ago," he said.

Subcommittee Counsel Roy M. Cohn said the subcommittee had information that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover sent a memo to the Army and the Civil Service Commission on Sept. 11, 1951, bearing on Mrs. Moss's loyalty status.

McCarthy said he had advised Pentagon officials some time ago he planned to air the case publicly unless they "did something" about it, but he commented:

"I doubt very much that Army Secretary Stevens personally knew about this case."

Accused Red Spy Refuses To Talk

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Victoria Stone, a New York jeweler, refused today to answer more than 60 questions about Red spying in the United States.

When members of the House Un-American Activities Committee told her they had evidence linking her with Communist espionage in the '30s and '40s, Mrs. Stone exclaimed:

"I have definitely denied it time and time again, and I refuse to answer again."

She said she based her refusal on the grounds "the committee tends to incriminate and degrade me."

The witness, a plump woman of 50, was near tears at the end of 20 minutes of questioning. She protested she had testified for the committee in 1948 without invoking her constitutional protection against self-incrimination, and had appeared before a grand jury, but "still it goes on."

All she wants now, Mrs. Stone told the committee emotionally, is a chance to forget about her past.

State Dept. Says Firings Include 11 Loyalty Cases

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The State Department released 590 employes as security risks last year, including 11 fired on grounds of questionable loyalty, but 291 of the workers got jobs with other government agencies.

In addition to the 291 transfers, the House Appropriations Committee was told, 188 resigned, 50 were let out in reductions in force, 36 left on completion of temporary work, four retired and 21, including the 11 loyalty cases, were listed as discharged for cause.

The committee made public today the figures given in testimony by the department's security administrator, R. W. Scott McLeod.

Not Quizzed About Transfers

McLeod was not questioned about the 291 transfers, and there was no indication how many of the employes may still be working for the government. He did say 99 of the transfer cases, "homosexual deviations" made up the principal security factor.

Seven of the 11 fired for "pro-Communist activities or associations," McLeod said, had charges pending against them when the Eisenhower administration took office.

President Eisenhower said in his State of the Union message to Congress that 2,200 government workers had been let out under the security program he ordered into effect last April. There has been no breakdown, however, to show how many were let out for loyalty reasons.

GOP Under Demo Fire

The program provides for discharge of workers who are considered security risks for such reasons as excessive drunkenness, over-talkativeness, homosexuality and other traits which might cause them to disclose secret information they deal with in their work, as well as for disloyalty and subversion.

Democrats have insisted that most of the discharges were for reasons other than questionable loyalty, and have accused Republican speakers of using the figures loosely to show loyalty risks.

Two Men, Rifle In Car, Seized As They Attempt To Visit Ike

Hagerty Says Pair Drinking, No Plot Against President

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—Police arrested and took a rifle from two men who attempted to call on President Eisenhower at his vacation headquarters today.

Announcing the arrest, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen there was "no indication at all" that the men had plotted an attempt on the President's life.

Hvasta Calls On Secretary Dulles

Reds Kenneled POWs Like Dogs, Inquiry Is Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A military inquiry board was told today that Communists in Korea kenneled American prisoners like dogs and forced them to dig their own graves in efforts to obtain war crime "confessions."

But even after "confessions" were wrung from some of the men, two witnesses related, most of those behind the barbed wire refused to believe them.

Three Marine Corps generals and an admiral are taking testimony to decide whether any charges should be lodged against Col. Frank H. Schwable, 45, of Arlington, Va., a Marine Corps flier.

Schwable signed a germ warfare confession while a prisoner of war, but repudiated it as soon as he was released, declaring it was forced out of him by brutal mistreatment.

One of today's witnesses, a Marine flier decorated for courage and fortitude while a prisoner of war, said he sympathized deeply with Schwable after learning that he had cracked under the Red pressure.

"I had the utmost sympathy for Col. Schwable," Lt. Col. William G. Thrash, a onetime Georgia Tech football player, testified.

Thrash, of Atlanta, said he didn't know how close he himself came to cracking under months of solitary confinement, mistreatment and constant "mental harassment." Asked by a member of the inquiry court if he ever felt near the breaking point, the tall Marine flier answered:

"I don't know. I don't believe I ever displayed any emotion in front of the Chinese. Sometimes by myself at night I had severe nervous spells, sweating and so forth. I fluctuated between frustration, indignation and despair."

He signed a document demanded by his Communist captors—a confession he was responsible for organizing a sort of underground resistance movement among Allied soldiers in the same camp with him.

Woman Motorist Gives Stalled Car King-Sized "Push"

CRANSTON, R. I., Feb. 23 (AP)—A motorist from this city sheepishly swears this story is true—but even if it isn't, a newspaper would have to be pretty selfish not to pass it along as he tells it.

He was driving on the Merritt Parkway toward New York when his car stalled and he discovered the battery was dead.

He flagged down a passing driver, who was a woman, and she agreed to give him a push to get the car started.

Because his car has an automatic transmission the driver explained to the lady, "You'll have to get up to 30 to 35 miles an hour in order to get me started."

The lady nodded wisely and the stalled driver climbed into his car and waited for her to line up behind him.

He waited. And waited. Then he turned around to see where the woman was.

She was there all right—coming at him at 30 to 35 miles an hour.

The crash caused $300 damage to his car.

Pope's Recovery Reported Slowed

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Vatican said today the recovery of Pope Pius XII has slowed down. The statement dispelled hopes of a rapid recovery for the 77-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, said in an official announcement that the Pope "still needs a notable period of assiduous care" and that his recovery was progressing "with increased slowness."

Vatican sources attributed this to the Pope's renewed difficulty during the past two or three days in taking nourishment.

L'Osservatore's statement was clearly intended to discredit too glowing accounts of the pontiff's recovery.

More Indictments Bared In Ship Deals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A U. S. career diplomat and a former congressman were named today in indictments charging conspiracy in disposing of surplus ships from World War II.

They were Julius C. Holmes, former U. S. minister to London now on leave of absence after being called home to work in the State Department to help settle the Yugoslav-Italian dispute over Trieste, and former Rep. Joseph E. Casey, Massachusetts Democrat.

Also named was Stavros Niarchos, a Greek shipowner with large holdings. He told newsmen in London the charges against him are unfounded, and implied they were the outgrowth of a Republican political attack on a group of Democrats.

The three were named along with 15 other individuals and seven corporations in indictments which Atty. Gen. Brownell said were returned by a grand jury last April 23 and kept secret since then.

Nation Won't Go "Boom To Bust," Mitchell Asserts

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in a major speech tonight said the nation was gradually readjusting its economic scale from a wartime peak but was not "going from boom to bust."

His speech was prepared for a Flint Republican rally and a nationwide broadcast.

Mitchell said:

"We are coming down from the artificially-high peak made by war and inflation to a plateau — and we are almost there. There may be a slight, but not significant, increase in unemployment for the next two months. Then for another few months, we will rest at that level.

"This is part of a necessary readjustment that we could only postpone, not avoid. And it is my view that we are better off getgint it over with fast, rather than adopting schemes to postpone it, which would themselves make the adjustment sharper, more painful, and more protracted when it does occur."

To this extent, he said, he was not in favor of public works projects, as advocated by CIO and AFL leaders, at this time.

He said President Eisenhower has already stated he is prepared to start public works projects if the unemployment situation worsens. Mitchell said he supported Eisenhower's stand.

Mitchell made his address after a whirlwind tour of industrial plants in the Flint area. He visited General Motors Corp.'s AC spark plug, Chevrolet and Ternstedt divisions in an effort to obtain a first hand look at problems of auto industry workers.

Mitchell said the Eisenhower administration's program would be beneficial to labor and the economic progress of the nation.

Senator Says Red Working In Code Room

Pentagon Declares Woman Never Had Access To Secrets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) charged today that a woman identified by a witness as a card-carrying, dues-paying Communist during the 1940's is now handling "top secret" messages in the Pentagon code room.

McCarthy's accusation — the latest move in his running feud with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens—brought a quick statement from the Army. It said the woman, Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, "never" had access either to secret codes or uncoded secrets.

Mrs. Moss's attorney said she denies ever having been a Communist.

McCarthy, speaking out at a televised hearing before his Senate Investigations subcommittee, said Mrs. Moss was still working in the code room "as of today."

Army Fires Back

The Army retorted:

1. As a result of the Army's own investigation, undertaken "prior to any action by the McCarthy committee, Mrs. Moss was shifted from her $3,335-a-year job as a communication relay machine operator for the Signal Corps in the Pentagon to an "unclassified position" on Feb. 5.

2. Mrs. Moss formerly operated equipment handling "unintelligible code messages, both classified (secret) and unclassified," but "never had access to the codes, to the cryptographic rooms or to the code rooms."

The Army said the coded tape which goes through the relay machines is handled outside of the "highly guarded code room" and could not be understood even if it fell into the hands of unauthorized persons. It said the tape itself "cannot be deciphered" — presumably without a coding machine.

Checkup Based On Ike Order

Emphasizing that its investigation was undertaken before McCarthy moved into the case, the Army said its checkup on Mrs. Moss was based on President Eisenhower's executive order of March 23, 1953, which directed federal department chiefs to re-examine the security status of their employes.

Firing a new blast in his charge of "Communist coddling" by the Army, McCarthy had said earlier that the facts about the woman's alleged Communist background should come as "no surprise to the Army."

"The Army had the same information months ago," he said.

Subcommittee Counsel Roy M. Cohn said the subcommittee had information that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover sent a memo to the Army and the Civil Service Commission on Sept. 11, 1951, bearing on Mrs. Moss's loyalty status.

McCarthy said he had advised Pentagon officials some time ago he planned to air the case publicly unless they "did something" about it, but he commented:

"I doubt very much that Army Secretary Stevens personally knew about this case."

Accused Red Spy Refuses To Talk

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Victoria Stone, a New York jeweler, refused today to answer more than 60 questions about Red spying in the United States.

When members of the House Un-American Activities Committee told her they had evidence linking her with Communist espionage in the '30s and '40s, Mrs. Stone exclaimed:

"I have definitely denied it time and time again, and I refuse to answer again."

She said she based her refusal on the grounds "the committee tends to incriminate and degrade me."

The witness, a plump woman of 50, was near tears at the end of 20 minutes of questioning. She protested she had testified for the committee in 1948 without invoking her constitutional protection against self-incrimination, and had appeared before a grand jury, but "still it goes on."

All she wants now, Mrs. Stone told the committee emotionally, is a chance to forget about her past.

Atom Guns For Czechs?

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 23 (AP)—A West German veterans' newspaper said today the Soviet Union has stationed atomic cannon in neighboring Czechoslovakia. There was no immediate comment from Western officials.

Indochina Red Units Withdraw

SAIGON, Indochina, Feb. 23 (AP)—The French announced tonight the Vietminh had pulled back their forces from the vicinity of three threatened key points in northern Indochina, including a beleagured fortress protecting the Laotian royal city of Luang Prabang.

But there was no indication whether the Communist-led rebels would renew the assaults or open up on other sectors.

(The French National Assembly in Paris voted Tuesday to open debate on March 5 on Indian Prime Minister Nehru's suggestion that both sides agree to a cease-fire in Indochina pending discussion of an Indochinese settlement at the Geneva conference opening April 26.

China Reds' Slaughter Toll Set At 15 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee released today an official estimate that the Red Chinese have slaughtered about 15 million of their own people since 1949.

The figures came from Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, who said they fitted into "just about the bloodiest pattern that the Communists have followed in any country in the world."

Robertson appeared before the committee at a closed-door session last month in connection with the State Department's budget request. His testimony was not made public until today.

British Plane Vanishes

SINGAPORE, Feb. 23 (AP)—A British plane carrying loud speaker equipment for broadcasting to Malayans in the rebel-infested jungles disappeared with five persons aboard today. Troops headed toward a jungle area where unofficial reports said the plane's wreckage was sighted.

Test Of New Polio Vaccine Is Launched At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, smiling and confident, launched today the first large-scale tests of his new vaccine in the fight against polio.

Dr. Salk administered shots of the new preventive to more than 250 school children of the first three grades—the first of 5,000 to be inoculated in Pittsburgh elementary schools. A national testing program will be sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the spring.

The youngsters — some awed, some grinning and some a bit scared—sat through the five-minute injection process with hardly a murmur. They didn't like the blood sampling. The hypodermic needle stung for a second. But shortly afterward, they were giggling and chattering about the experience.

Salk and his staff chose the first three grades of two elementary schools for the first round of injections which will continue through June 19.

The purpose of the current test is three-fold: To check the effectiveness of the vaccine, to determine how many shots are needed, and how often they must be given. Many children in the test will be given as many as three shots.

Dr. Salk's vaccine differs from gamma globulin, used widely last summer against polio. Gamma globulin is made from blood which contains antibodies, and remains in the bloodstream only a short time.

A committee of government-appointed polio experts said last night there is not enough information to conclude whether gamma globulin actually checked polio last summer.

Salk's vaccine, by causing the body to produce its own antibodies is expected to give immunity from polio for possibly seven months at a time.

Leather Industry Unveils Atomic Gloves, Floor Tile

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—And now—cuff links, floor tiling and atomic gloves, all made of leather.

For the leather people, who used to stick pretty much to such things as shoes, belts and suitcases, today opened a display at the Department of Commerce. And, no doubt about it, they've pulled out all the stops.

Or, as I. R. Glass, executive vice president of the Leather Industries of America, said as he looked happily around:

"Our industry has become the envy of the world."

Take those atomic gloves. Impregnated with lead, they look like small sleeping bags. Just the thing, though, if you hanker to split an atom. The U.S. government is about the only customers. Price per pair: $60.

The cuff links are novel, and the leather block floor covering is supposed to be as easy to put down as any tiling. But its cost, $1.50 a square foot, puts it more in the league of good broadloom.

In the middle of the lobby is a display of various leather materials, in a surprising range of colors and textures.

"Why," said one astonished reporter, "you've got one that looks just like a plastic."

A pained silence. Finally a leather man said, "Feel it. It doesn't feel like a synthetic."

"All this talk of dacron and orlon," Glass said. "They're wonderful, of course. But leather is the real miracle product. It's the only one with fibres in three dimensions, width, breadth and depth."

With all the fancy coats, sports equipment, furniture covering and pretty material, it was nice to know that the five billion dollar leather industry still goes in heavily for shoes, belts and suitcases.

Md. Senate Abandons Auto Inspection Plan

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — The Maryland Senate dropped today all attempts to get an automobile inspection law on the books this year.

Instead, it got ready to turn the thing over to Motor Vehicles Commissioner Thomas B. R. Mudd with instructions to study a "model law" and report in 1955.

The Judiciary Committee decided against the bill after a hearing in which several civic groups insisted there is need for inspections to cut down accidents.

The action was the main business in brief sessions of both houses, getting squared off to receive an expected veto from Governor McKeldin of the act to raise liquor taxes and give a share to the state's subdivisions.

Finance committees of both houses took advantage of the afternoon recess to get in more work on the governor's $238,000,000 budget. One development was a meeting of Democratic senators with members of the Board of Estimates.

After the Senate Judiciary Committee abandoned the car inspection plan, Sens. Melnicove (D-Balto 4th) and Lofstrand (R-Montgomery) put in resolutions asking that a "model law" study be undertaken. Lofstrand was the author of the inspection bill.

The Senate didn't take any immediate action because Sen. Hoff (R-Carroll) said the commissioner also should look into whether spot checks of cars on highways would be the answer.

The resolutions went back to committee for re-working.

At the hearing the committee was told by Washington I. Cleveland, leading a Montgomery County group, that Maryland is a dumping ground for jalopies which cannot pass inspection elsewhere.

Cleveland argued Maryland has 7.0 fatalities per 2100,000 miles driven, while 19 other states have lower death rates.

Mudd took a somewhat different view. He told the committee that around one-third of Maryland's fatal accidents involve cars from other states—some of them with inspection systems.

A bill to set up a special tax court escaped a legislative pitfall in the House, but backers put off for one day an attempt to get it approved by the full chamger.

Introduced by Del. Lawlor (R-Montgomery), the measure would dissolve the present State Tax Commission, dividing its duties between two new agencies.

One would be a department of assessments and taxation. The other would be a court passing on any appeals by taxpayers from the actions of the new department.

State Senate Passes Bill Ending Boat Tax

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — The Maryland Senate quietly, and in contrast to previous arguments over the matter, passed tonight its controversial bill to eliminate the state boat tax on craft 100 feet long or less.

The vote sending the measure to the House was 20 to 5 and not a word was spoken in debate. A couple of senators explained why they voted for it, but that was all.

Guided Missile Oversold, Chief Of CD Declares

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson told Congress today guided missiles have been oversold as defense weapons. He implied that President Eisenhower has asked military officials to tone down their claims.

"Some elements of the military," Peterson testified, "have overstated the ability of guided missiles, such as the Nike, to shoot down attacking enemy aircraft."

The Nike, an Army missile designed to protect major cities, recently was described as having an almost perfect rate of kill against test planes.

Peterson told a House Armed Services subcommittee that "very high level people in the administration have asked everybody who talks" about civil defense "to do so adequately and calmly and strike a balance," between the potential enemy threat and defense capacities.

Peterson quoted Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, former Air Force chief of staff, as estimating two years ago that 7 out of 10 enemy planes could penetrate American defenses.

The civil defense chief said his best information now is that "even with wonder weapons, five or six planes are still going to get through."

Peterson made these statements while testifying on a bill which would extend indefinitely the defense administrator's broad emergency powers during a civil defense crisis. These powers are now due to expire next June 30.

Louisville Fire Death Toll Climbs To Five

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 23 (AP)—The death toll in an apartment building fire near downtown Louisville climbed to five tonight as investigators worked on a theory that arson caused the blaze.

Mrs. Hazel Chapman, 23, who was dramatically rescued from a third floor window, died in a hospital tonight.

Two other persons burned to death and two died of injuries suffered in leaps from the blazing structure at Broadway and Preston St. last night.

Assistant Attorney General Of Maryland Wins Acquittal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP) — Joseph D. Buscher, 44, Maryland's assistant attorney general, today won a directed acquittal on charges that he assaulted a morals squad officer.

Scores of court spectators crowded forward to congratulate Buscher, Silver Spring attorney assigned to road commission affairs.

Municipal Judge Milton S. Kronheim directed the jury to free Buscher on grounds that no corroborating testimony was introduced after Police Pvt. Nicholas Visale testified Buscher indecently assaulted him in Buscher's automobile.

Buscher at first rejected his attorney's pleas to argue the motion. He said he wanted to put on his defense to tell how a morals squad officer trapped him and later, with two policemen, beat him.

Among witnesses who testified Buscher's reputation was "beyond reproach" were Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and former Gov. William Preston Lane of Maryland.

Specifically, Buscher faced a charge of simple assault of sexual nature, Asst. U. S. Atty. Alexander Stevens said.

Three Hurt In Battle Of Pro-Peron Factions

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 23 (AP)—A woman was seriously wounded, and two men were slightly hurt last night in a gun battle at headquarters of the brown-shirted pro-Peron Nationalist Alliance for Liberation.

Informed sources said the fight was between warring factions of the alliance but a statement from the organization blamed "persons of Communist tendencies."

The alliance is an ultra-nationalist organization which supports President Peron but has attacked strongly some of his closest advisers. It has been criticizing Interior Minister Angel Borlenghi, head of all federal police, accusing him of trying to undermine Peron while posing as one of the president's strongest supporters.

Iwo Jima, Nine Years After Brutal Battle, Is Lonely Outpost For 300

Editor's Note: On Feb. 23, 1945, U. S. Marines raised the Stars and Stripes on Mount Surabachi during the fight for Iwo Jima. The fight cost the lives of 23,000 Japanese defenders and 4,503 attacking Marines. Another 16,000 Marines were wounded. Today, nine years later, here is a look at the island.

By JIM BECKER

IWO JIMA, Feb. 23 (AP) — This tiny, waterless rock, scene of one of the most brutal, close-quarter battles in history, today is a lonely outpost for 300 Air Force officers and men.

These men are so isolated that they heard about the Korean truce through letters from home.

The men seldom see a woman. No woman lives on Iwo.

The men have a job to do and it is a vital one.

Iwo Jima is eight square miles of black sand and rock. It still bears the scars of vicious battle.

On it is one of the finest air strips in the world, a key link in the Pacific outpost chain of bases. The runway is almost 10,000 feet long enough to handle anything that flies.

Japan is 700 miles north. Okinawa is the same distance west, Guam the same to the south. Wake Island is about 1,500 miles east.

No planes are currently based here. But the field is in combat readiness.

Life on Iwo has some advantages. The tour of duty is short. It averages about 10 months, then the men are sent back to the United States.

The climate is pleasant. The temperature seldom dips below 65 degrees, seldom rises to 90. Occasionally a typhoon hits but the winds are nothing like those that lash Okinawa.

The men receive four-day rest leaves in Japan about every three months. All eagerly look forward to the regular trip to "The Hon"—slang for Honshu, Japan's main island.

The trip is made on the weekly mail plane from Guam. The return is made on the plane that flies goods and provisions to the island once a week.

If the weather is so bad planes can not fly, the men on Iwo eat canned food and go without mail.

Possibly the chief drawback to life on Iwo is boredom.

Lt. Col. Charles E. Dean, base commander, of Phoenix, Ariz., battles boredom with a heavy program of sports.

Chaplain (Capt.) George S. Bieber, Williamsport, Pa., who also pitches for the officers softball team, pushes Army correspondence courses for high school or college credit.

Col. Dean, in his unusual position as chief of the semitropical island, runs the housekeeping group that keeps the field operating and checks the weather.

Iwo is a haven with gasoline pumps for planes that are disabled or run short of fuel on flights to other Pacific points.

The airmen here feel a close kinship to the Marines who wrested the island from its fanatical defenders in a month-long bloody struggle.

They keep watch over the American flag that flies 24 hours a day over Mt. Surabachi, scene of the famous flag raising. A tattered flag is replaced by a new stars and stripes about once a week.

Nearly everywhere on the island are constant reminders of the bloody invasion. Wreckage is strewn over the bathing beach.

Maj. Harry Edwards, Gleason, Tenn., says "It's like living on a hunk of history."

Unemployment Takes Jump In Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 23 (AP)—The number of unemployed workers in the Hagerstown area took a jump of 471 last week.

The Maryland State Employment Service said claims rose to 1,879 last week from 1,408 the week before and a spokesman said the number is likely to go over 2,000 this week.

A number of local industries have been gradually reducing their employment rolls, the Employment Service representative said. The Fairchild Aircraft Division furloughed 1,400 of its production workers shortly after the first of the year.

Accused Tax Evader On Trial In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23 (AP) — Sol Schwaber, 54, head of a Baltimore plastic shoe sole firm, went on trial in U. S. District Court today on charges that he evaded income taxes totaling $79,317.23 in 1944 and 1945.

Schwaber is the controlling partner of Ackolite Co., which produces plastic soles for shoes, and is the controlling figure in Monarch Rubber Co., an affiliated concern.

U. S. Attorney George Cochran Doub told the jury he would prove that Schwaber evaded $11,392 in taxes in 1944 and $67,924 in 1945.

U.S. Leads World In Ownership Of Radios, 9th In Per Capita Newspaper Circulation

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP) — The United States leads the world in radio ownership but trails nine other countries in per capita newspaper circulation, U.N. figures showed tonight.

It also produces the most feature-length movies but lags behind Britain and West Germany in the number of book titles published yearly, the statistics brought out.

The figures were contained in the 1953 U. N. Statistical Yearbook, a 578-page compilation of social and economic data from almost 250 countries and territories.

Tables in the yearbook showed that:

1. The United States in 1952 had 110 million radio sets. This is almost half the 1953 estimate of 230 million sets in the whole world.

2. Out of every thousand inhabitants, 520 owned radios in North America — against 75 in the Soviet Union, 175 in the rest of Europe, 12 in the rest of Asia, 220 in Oceania, 40 in South America and 10 in Africa.

3. Daily newspaper circulation per thousand people in 1952 numbered 615 in Britain, 490 in Sweden, 447 in Luxembourg, 439 in Iceland, 416 in Australia, 396 in Norway, 383 in Belgium, 381 in Denmark, 358 in New Zealand and 353 each in the United States and Japan. (But papers were larger in the United States, where 1951 newsprint consumption was almost 10 times that of Britain.)

4. United States firms produced 368 long films in 1952, compared with 261 in Japan, 233 in India, 148 in Italy, 117 in Britain and 104 in France.

5. Books published in 1952, by number of titles, totaled 18,741 in Britain, 13,913 in West Germany, 11,840 in the United States, 10,410 in France, 9,679 in Italy, 6,728 in the Netherlands and 5,184 in Yugoslavia. Bulgaria was far down with 2,031.

No late figures were given for other Communist countries on either newspaper circulation or book and film production.

Milk Replaces Coffee

NEW ULM, Minn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Farm organizations in this area have an answer to the over-supply of dairy products and high cost of coffee.

They are going to serve milk instead of coffee at their meetings.

Suez–Britain, Israel, Egypt

Egypt appears to be taking an "either-play-by-our-rules-or-we-don't-play" attitude in negotiations with Great Britain over the Suez Canal and in U.N. Security Council debate on the Egyptian "blockade" of shipments bound for Israel.

The Egyptian representative to the United Nations told the Security Council on February 15 that Egypt "cannot respect" the council's 1951 resolution calling on Egypt to stop interfering with Israeli-bound shipping passing through the Suez Canal. Israel, on the other hand, points out that on December 7, 1953, Egypt extended the list of contraband to include "foodstuffs and all other commodities which are likely to strengthen the war potential of the Zionists in Palestine in any way whatever." Israel also points out that as of January 25 Egypt extended its embargo to the Gulf of Aqaba. This interferes with Red Sea shipping to the Israeli port of Elath.

Israel takes the position that it expects the Western Powers in the U.N. Security Council to show at least the same degree of initiative and support of the Israeli-Arab armistice of February 1949 and the Security Council resolution of 1951 as these powers have shown in support of other armistice conditions. The obvious reference is not only to the armistice in Korea but to a U. S.-British-French backed Security Council resolution of November 24, 1953 (adopted 9-0) censuring an Israeli attack on the Jordanian village of Kibya.

After a series of meetings in Cairo with Egyptian ambassadors to Washington, London, Moscow, New Delhi, and Karachi, President and Premier General Naguib of Egypt was reported on February 13 to have laid down a policy of "non-cooperation" in defense of the Middle East unless the United States backs Egypt in her negotiations with Great Britain for control of the Suez Canal.

These negotiations, in turn, embarrass Britain in its position on the Egyptian embargo on shipments to Israel. The London Economist on January 30 suggested: "If British State Foreign Minister Lloyd himself is afraid of aggravating his troubles with Egypt over canal defense or murdered soldiers, he might at least let other victims understand that if they start the ball rolling against Egypt (on the embargo) they will get British backing. Norway, France, the United States, the Netherlands, Greece, Turkey, and Italy are all affected."

Great Britain on February 3 was reported to have reimposed an embargo (lifted in 1953) on war material to Egypt because of Egyptian hostility in the Suez zone. Lloyd on February 17 said that between January 1, 1953, and February 11, 1954, 296 anti-British "incidents" had occurred in the Canal Zone. Fourteen British subjects had been killed and 31 more had been injured.

The long Anglo-Egyptian dispute over Suez has been whittled down to two issues: Under what terms would the British, after evacuating their 80,000 troops in the area, be permitted to return to the base? and, Should the 4,000 British technicians to be left behind wear uniforms? Some Americans appear to hope that the British will yield on the uniforms if the U. S. supports Britain on the terms of the return of British troops.

Poll Tax Payment

The Virginia legislature must decide whether to uphold a committee that rejected repeal of poll tax payment, $1.50 by each May 7, for the right to vote. The requirement is in the state constitution; repeal would have to be passed by two successive sessions of the legislature and then approved by a referendum in which only poll tax payers would be eligible to vote.

The question of repeal is a hardy perennial in Virginia politics. Four years ago one branch of the legislature voted for it, but the other branch pigeonholed it.

In 1949 repeal of the poll tax voting requirement did get as far as a referendum, but the proposal was tied up with such narrow new restrictions on the franchise that anti-poll taxers themselves helped to defeat it. In the gubernatorial election last fall, the Republican candidate came out for repeal; the Democratic candidate, who won, was against repeal.

In Congress the House of Representatives has several times in recent years voted for a federal ban on the poll tax voting requirement; each time the proposed ban died in the Senate by filibuster or threat of filibuster.

Only five states now hold on to the requirement: Virginia, Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama. It has been abandoned in Louisiana, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina and by Tennessee in 1953.

Military Aid For Japan

Now that the peace treaty between the United States and Japan has been in effect for almost two years, a new treaty is about to be signed whereby this country will help to build up Japan's military strength. The new treaty will follow the general pattern of similar agreements with the Latin American states.

Along with the peace treaty the two countries ratified a security treaty. In this each agreed to consider any armed attack on the other as a threat to its own safety and to act to meet the common danger, though always in accord with its own constitutional processes. Japan agreed to build up its military strength by steady increments.

To aid in this process the United States will undertake in the new treaty to furnish equipment, expert military advice and advisers. Japan will guarantee not to use her new military strength to commit aggression or break the peace.

The new treaty has the blessing of Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines, other states with which this country is associated in treaties for Pacific defense. The new Japanese constitution forbids the establishment of a Japanese army and air force, but Japan calls her present forces simply a police or security body and, anyhow, how to get around the constitutional ban is her affair, not ours.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Four Vital Health Factors

The rules of health are simple and not as difficult as cultists, neurotics, alarmists, and many misinformed persons have led us to believe. They revolve about using common sense in nutrition, cleanliness, and immunization. Like other rules, they must be re-emphasized from time to time in the home and at school. Children particularly require this education because habits developed in childhood last longest.

Nutrition goes beyond seven basic foods. Avoiding obesity, for example, keeps the body at a more efficient level, improves appearance, and adds years to life. The overweight man or woman needs only to cut down on the quantity at the table and resist temptation between meals and before going to bed. The necessity for a well balanced diet cannot be overestimated. Most of us fulfill all the nutritional requirements by eating one good meal a day along with the usual breakfast and small luncheon.

A good meal consists usually of soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables, salad, bread, dessert, and beverage. Breakfast is composed of fruit, egg, toast, and beverage. These two meals in themselves contain all the essentials; luncheon satisfies hunger and renews strength to carry on the daily work. The school luncheon is the exception because, for many children, it affords the only opportunity for a well-rounded meal.

For the majority, sanitary conditions in and about the home have been cared for by the municipal government. Sewers and safe water are available; health department regulations govern the milk supply and the safety of food handlers. Most of us take these safeguards for granted without realizing how important a role they play in the prevention of disease and widespread epidemics.

Cleanliness is a personal matter. Since the turn of the century, baths have become an accepted procedure and most of us have more than the Saturday night rendezvous with the shower or tub. Cleanliness of the hands also has helped minimize infections and contagious diseases.

Immunization prevents and controls certain diseases. With each passing year, the antivaccination group grows smaller as the benefits from vaccines and serums loom larger. People are looking forward to the development of a polio vaccine and "shots" that will ward off tuberculosis, brucellosis, and other prevalent infections. This phase of preventive medicine concerns parents and children because the immunization needs begin early in life.

All these innovations can be nullified, however, by abusing the body thru lack of sleep and overindulgence in stimulants, alcohol, and tobacco. Stress and strain also affect the body via the nervous system. These factors are easy to correct provided the individual wishes to do so. In this respect, most Americans can have health if they wish it.

HEART ENLARGEMENT

Mrs. L. writes: Can an enlarged heart be cured?

REPLY

Only in those cases in which the cause is remedial such as when heart trouble stems from anemia, overactive thyroid gland, or high blood pressure. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on enlarged heart.

Q FOR QUEENSLAND

E. L. writes: What is Q fever?

REPLY

An unusual type of pneumonia in which the victim has fever, headache, and cough. The diagnosis of this rickettsial infection is made from a laboratory test that demonstrates the presence of Coxiella burneti. The Q comes from Queensland, Australia, where the disease was first noted. Most of its victims had come into contact with infected milk of dairy products, or were workers in research laboratories, stock yards, or meat packing plants. In the Los Angeles area airborne contamination was a factor.

Senator Langer Sought Revenge For Way Republicans Treated Him Last Year; Langer Was Kept Uncertain About His Senate Seat

WASHINGTON — In order to understand Wild Bill Langer's battle against the confirmation of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States you have to know something about one of the most independent, unpredictable, colorful, and cantankerous members of the U. S. Senate. You also have to know something about that little motive called revenge, never quite absent in politics.

First, let it be noted that this writer, who predicted May 24, 1953, that Earl Warren would be appointed chief justice, believes he should have been confirmed long ago. I disagree most emphatically with both Langer and my contemporary, Westbrook Pegler, who claims Warren is not fit to sit on the Supreme Court because he once wrote a letter to James Petrillo, head of the Musicians Union.

Warren has one of the finest records of any man in public life today, as has been noted time after time in this column; and the Republicans would have won had they nominated him for president in 1948 instead of Tom Dewey.

However, politics being what it is, and the Senate having been given the power to pass on judicial nominations, let's take a look at the motives of the colorful and unpredictable senator from North Dakota. They were two:

Motive No. 1 was to show some of his colleagues what it's like to smear unsubstantiated charges on the Congressional Record, as McCarthy has been doing. Few Republican senators have protested when McCarthy poured all sorts of reckless and unverified charges into the record against Gen. George Marshall, Dean Acheson, and scores of others. Langer, who has never gone along with McCarthy on these, figured that what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Motive No. 2 was to retaliate against his fellow Republicans for what they did to him.

Langer Dangles

Not many people know it, but when the Republican Senate convened one year ago, Langer was the only Republican not permitted to take his seat except conditionally. Senator McCarthy was permitted to take his seat, despite one of the most devastating reports ever submitted against a fellow senator.

But when a group of Republicans from North Dakota, headed by Joe Bridston of Grand Forks, came to Washington to protest Langer's election, various Republican senators did their best backstage to unseat him.

Finally, Langer was allowed to assume a precarious position as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, but under the embarrassing position of having its staff investigate him. For almost a year, Republicans looked upon McCarran of Nevada, a Democrat, as more the chairman of this key, judge-making committee than was Langer.

Langer's Worst Enemy

Meanwhile, the Eisenhower administration appointed as assistant secretary of the interior, Fred Aandahl, the man who not only had run against Langer for the Senate but who had called him a Communist. Aandahl even got a $1,000 contribution from Roy Cullen, the Texas oil millionaire, to defeat Langer. But when he failed, the Eisenhower administration kicked Langer in the political shins by elevating Aandahl to one of the key spots in the Interior Department.

These were some of the reasons why the lone-wolf senator from North Dakota bided his time until definitely entrenched as chairman of the Judiciary Committee. By January of this year, he knew no one could dethrone him. So he proceeded to pick the second biggest target in Washington, the chief justice of the United States, in order to show disdain for his own Republican party.

Langer-Go-Round

Here are sidelights on the man the GOP leadership will have to cope with for five more years as head of the Judiciary Committee.

Langer once collected $25,000 from Boston columnist Bill Cunningham following a libel suit. The lawyer who collected the money for him was Joseph B. Keenan, who when assistant attorney general had once convicted Langer for conspiring to solicit political contributions from federal employes. Langer was sentenced to 18 months in jail, but never served. He appealed, went to trial two more times, and was cleared. He and Keenan, who prosecuted him, became close friends, and Chief Justice Warren will probably have no better friend than Langer after he is confirmed . . . Langer was elected governor of North Dakota immediately after his conviction. He is the only senator who boasts in his own, self-penned congressional biography that he was arrested . . . Langer's court troubles caused the Senate to scrutinize his election carefully the first time elected in 1940, but thanks to the votes of friendly Democrats, he was seated . . . Langer has voted as much with the Democrats as with the Republicans, and in 1950 seriously considered leaving the Republican party altogether. It was his key vote on the Judiciary Committee which defeated the 1947 move to probe the Kansas City vote frauds.

Langer's Cellophane

In 1949, Langer told a stormy Republican caucus that there were three types of Republicans—conservatives, self-styled liberals, and real liberals, such as himself . . . He has consistently fought for small business, began battling long ago against the use of federal funds for schools which practiced discrimination, probed the newsprint monopoly and telephone-company profits, and introduced a housing bill even ahead of Senator Taft . . . Senator Langer chews cigars without taking the cellophane wrapper off, never smokes them, which caused Senator Magnuson of Washington to remark: "Why don't you buy five-cent cigars, the cellophane tastes just the same." . . . President Truman, on whose campaign train he rode in North Dakota, once appointed Langer's nephew, Morgan Ford, to the U. S. Customs Court in New York. (Incidentally, Governor Warren also paid a friendly visit to Truman's campaign train in the same 1952 election). . . . Now 68 years old, Langer's health is not what it used to be. Elected for a six-year term, he will be 73 when that term expires and until that time he will run the Judiciary Committee chairmanship pretty much as Pat McCarran did—namely, as he pleases . . . The public will hear a lot more about lone-wolf Langer in coming months and Republican senators wish ruefully there was something they could do about it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Travail Of Arthur Dean

Because of an interview published in the "Providence Sunday Journal" of January 3, 1954, Arthur H. Dean, our ambassador at Panmunjom, has been put on the spot as an intervenor for Red China. I have written some on this subject and did a broadcast attacking Dean's position. Now, it appears that Dean is on the same side of the fence that most Americans are on.

In a letter to Alfred Kohlberg, dated February 17, Dean said:

"Let me say as an individual citizen:

"(1) I am in favor of a foreign policy which is formulated and carried out solely and only in the interest of the American people and which will defeat and set back the Communists everywhere and at all times. To be realistic there should be a complete and constant re-examination of this policy at all times so that American lives will not be lost and we will not be caught unawares.

"(2) I am not now and never have been in favor of recognizing Communist China.

"(3) I am not now and never have been in favor of admitting Communist China into the United Nations or into the family of nations. I admire very much the work of Nationalist China in the United Nations and particularly Mr. T. F. Tsiang who speaks effectively and to the point.

"(4) I am not now and never have been in favor of relaxing trade embargoes on Red China or North Korea.

"(5) To recognize Red China or to admit her to the U. N. would be a severe blow, not only to Nationalist China but to the morale of nations we are trying to aid in the fight against communism. Further it would hand to the Reds on a silver platter control over the large number of Chinese now resident in Southeast Asia and control over their assets in the rubber, manufacturing, fishing, insurance and shipping field which they would use against us.

"(6) So long as it does not involve us in war or in the needless loss of American boys' lives, I am in favor of aid to Chiang Kai-shek. I am not in favor of our participating in a military attack on the mainland. It would involve a long war of attrition 9,000 miles away. The Japanese couldn't win it across the Sea of Japan, without having commitments in Europe.

"(7) I was asked to go to Panmunjom to attempt to negotiate time, place and composition of the political conference on Korea. Except as related to these matters, I have no authority, have been asked to do nothing else, and except for this limited role have never been asked to participate in the formulation of our Far Eastern policy at any time.

"That is a matter for the President, the secretary of state, the assistant secretary of state for the Far East, and Senate and House leaders."

No more unequivocal statement has been made by anyone, certainly by no one in the government except Vice President Richard Nixon. Senator Knowland has, of course, been emphatic in this direction.

Now, what becomes of the "Providence Journal" interview in which Dean is reported to have said:

". . . I don't mind repeating my belief that it is in the selfish interest of the American people to put on a new set of glasses and really examine with a hard critical stare whether there is any possibility of putting Chiang Kai-shek back on the mainland. If we were genies with a bottle we would put Chiang back on the mainland, but we aren't genies and we haven't got a bottle.

"I think there is a possibility the Chinese Communists are more interested in developing themselves in China than they are in international communism. If we could use that as a devisive method of putting a wedge between the Chinese Communists and the Soviet Union, I think we might try it."

This, I take it, is now completely repudiated and that Mr. Dean's signature will go on the petition of The Committee for One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations. If I am to apologize for overemphasizing the "Providence Journal" interview, I must also congratulate Arthur H. Dean for being in a good cause—the cause of American dignity.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — George Kennan, chairman of the State Department's policy planning staff under the Truman-Acheson administration, has expressed himself in criticism of the way the government has been handling the cases of those in government employ who are charged with loose morals. Because of the controversy that has arisen about the discharge of "security risks" from the government and the frequent references in print to morals cases, what Mr. Kennan has to say is of current interest.

Mr. Kennan's speech before the annual Christian Conference on the Relavance of Religious Belief to Problems of Everyday Living was originally delivered last December off-the-record at Princeton University. In the February 12 issue of "The Princeton Alumni Weekly," however, it is stated that Mr. Kennan reconsidered and allowed his address to be printed. The section of Mr. Kennan's speech dealing with criticism of the government is as follows:

Terms It Un-Christian

"Let us, for the love of God, keep out of the ranks of the finger-pointing holier-than-thous — the people who sublimate their own sex urge in the peculiarly nasty and sadistic practice of snooping on others and exploiting the failures and embarrassments of others in this most excruciating and difficult of problems.

"In particular, let us not fall into the sort of immature Philistinism that seems to have taken possession of our government in its latter-day preoccupation with the morals of the public servant. What has gone on in Washington in these recent months in this regard has brought the greatest dismay and disgust to many of us older civil servants not only because it seems to rest on a very faulty understanding of human nature, but because it implies the existence in our midst of a race of angels, disguised as security officers, equipped to pass judgment on the sinful remainder of mankind. Surely nothing could be more un-Christian than this."

In another passage Mr. Kennan discusses the attitude of present-day Christians toward sex problems and says:

"It seems to me that the greatest sin to which Christians are susceptible in questions of sex is really the sin of intolerance and lack of charity. Whoever makes other people's personal problems more bitter and more hopeless by forgetting the cruelty of the conflict and by holding those people up to ignominy and censure for their failures and stumblings — he, in my opinion, is the man whose conscience should really burn him. He is the man who has the most to fear for the safety of his soul. He is guilty of the deadly sin of pride, and I suspect that there is none deadlier in the eyes of our Maker."

Discussed By Peurifoy

The problem of loose morals among government employes was discussed by John Peurifoy, deputy under secretary of state, on February 28, 1950, before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, when he disclosed that 91 persons had been eased out of the Department of State in the Truman administration in cases involving morals, including homosexuality. In this category of "security risks" he placed "a habitual alcoholic or a person who has any other physical or moral defect which could be preyed upon or which might be used by somebody who was attempting to penetrate into the department."

R. W. Scott McLeod, top security officer in the Department of State in the Eisenhower-Dulles administration, discussed the same subject in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," in its February 12, 1954, issue, as follows:

"Q: Does the average person, when he is told he must leave for one reason or another, carry that any further — does he ask for the right to appeal, or just resign and accept it?

"A: I think that probably the ratio would be quite similar to the number of people charged with crimes who plead guilty as against those who stand trial. As you know, in a preponderance of cases the fellow pleads guilty. I don't think there is a single exception in the homosexual cases. The investigation usually terminates in an interview, and the interview elicits a confession which results in a resignation.

"Q: Did sex perversion turn out to be a problem, after all the talk?

"A: Since 1947, when they started keeping figures on them, there have been more than 500 homosexuals terminated in the department.

"Q: Isn't that unusual, percentagewise, for that number of human beings?

"A: I don't think it is an unusual percentage if it were compared to the general population, although I know of no reliable statistics on which to base that comparison, but it certainly is an intolerable percentage in a sensitive agency.

"Q: Is it your feeling that homosexuals would be susceptible to blackmail?

"A: Well, that seems to me to be self-evident."

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — Some people . . . some places . . . some things:

Tommy Mara is a big, good-looking 18-year-old kid with the face of a Greek god (he's Italian) and the voice of a baritone angel. A few months ago he was unknown save to his nearest of kin and his circle of friends in New Haven, Conn. Now he sings for MGM records, has one named "More Than Ever" which seems headed upward, and is embarking on a national tour.

His father, Jimmy Santamauro, an immigrant who did better than fair in the trucking business, has bet a lot of money that Tommy will click. Parents throughout the country with children who have a musical bent, but need a break, will understand how much time and money it takes to get ahead professionally.

Father and son have dismissed from their minds the tens of thousands of aspiring young singers who have fallen by the wayside through the years.

They think only of Eddie Fisher, one of Tommy's heroes in life (and a nice boy, by the way), Perry Como, Frank Sinatra, Frankie Laine, Vic Damone and even Julius La Rosa. Tommy's approach is realistic:

"I always could sing and liked to sing for friends and gatherings in New Haven while I was in grammar school and high school," he was saying the other night at Camillo's. "Then somewhere along the way, I found out that you can make as much as $30,000 with one pop hit. That was it, I guess. Doing what I like to do for all the money I can get appealed to me."

It's hard for a young fellow not to sing like somebody else, he said. But he's trying, even though he keeps thinking of Fisher. He can't get Fisher out of his mind.

"He'll make half a million dollars this year, Eddie will," he said.

Mara said, not without a note of awe, that sales of popular records this year will exceed $125,000,000. His future, he acknowledged, is largely in the hands and within the whims of disc jockeys and juke box operators.

I've seen Sinatra leave places by rear doors rather than walk through a herd of screaming bobby-soxers, and I've seen the latter keep a vigil for hours outside of a place like Toots Shor's — and in the rain — waiting for him. I asked Mara how he'd feel about that.

"The ones coming up wish we were in the shoes of those fellows," he said. "Maybe later it will be different, but now it would be ideal. For me it's been three years of hard study, hard work, and a lot of expenses. My pop has picked up the tab until now. My first aim is to get him even."

Want to go on a safari? Next question: Got $3,000? If you have the desire and the dough, Temple Fielding is your man. Temp has been leading tourists around the world for five or six years with what I consider a travel guide as necessary as nylon shirts (etc) and soap. Fielding's guide will never tell you how many cobblestones are on the pavement in front of Notre Dame, or the number of panels in the stained glass windows of St. Paul's outside the walls. But it would tell you where and when to bring Kleenex, where to get a few more mil reis from your buck, and how to get an autographed picture of Farouk in tights.

Now in conjunction with Brownell Tours, of Birmingham, Ala., largest escorted tour operator in the world, Fielding is arranging a 65-day safari to leave the first week in April and a 56-day job departing justly after July 4. He won't guarantee the safari members will shoot a lion, or even meet Hemingway or Ruark. But if I know Fielding, it'll be different.

Comet III, the British jet due in 1956, has thus far been ordered by B.O.A.C. (5) and Pan-American (3). Sounds like a small fleet but the fleet's 500-mph speed, plus quick turn-around, plus 58 passenger capacity, will enable even these few planes to carry 97,000 trans-atlantic passengers a year, the same as the gigantic Queens or the incomparable United States.

Suez–Britain, Israel, Egypt

Egypt appears to be taking an "either-play-by-our-rules-or-we-don't-play" attitude in negotiations with Great Britain over the Suez Canal and in U.N. Security Council debate on the Egyptian "blockade" of shipments bound for Israel.

The Egyptian representative to the United Nations told the Security Council on February 15 that Egypt "cannot respect" the council's 1951 resolution calling on Egypt to stop interfering with Israeli-bound shipping passing through the Suez Canal. Israel, on the other hand, points out that on December 7, 1953, Egypt extended the list of contraband to include "foodstuffs and all other commodities which are likely to strengthen the war potential of the Zionists in Palestine in any way whatever." Israel also points out that as of January 25 Egypt extended its embargo to the Gulf of Aqaba. This interferes with Red Sea shipping to the Israeli port of Elath.

Israel takes the position that it expects the Western Powers in the U.N. Security Council to show at least the same degree of initiative and support of the Israeli-Arab armistice of February 1949 and the Security Council resolution of 1951 as these powers have shown in support of other armistice conditions. The obvious reference is not only to the armistice in Korea but to a U. S.-British-French backed Security Council resolution of November 24, 1953 (adopted 9-0) censuring an Israeli attack on the Jordanian village of Kibya.

After a series of meetings in Cairo with Egyptian ambassadors to Washington, London, Moscow, New Delhi, and Karachi, President and Premier General Naguib of Egypt was reported on February 13 to have laid down a policy of "non-cooperation" in defense of the Middle East unless the United States backs Egypt in her negotiations with Great Britain for control of the Suez Canal.

These negotiations, in turn, embarrass Britain in its position on the Egyptian embargo on shipments to Israel. The London Economist on January 30 suggested: "If British State Foreign Minister Lloyd himself is afraid of aggravating his troubles with Egypt over canal defense or murdered soldiers, he might at least let other victims understand that if they start the ball rolling against Egypt (on the embargo) they will get British backing. Norway, France, the United States, the Netherlands, Greece, Turkey, and Italy are all affected."

Great Britain on February 3 was reported to have reimposed an embargo (lifted in 1953) on war material to Egypt because of Egyptian hostility in the Suez zone. Lloyd on February 17 said that between January 1, 1953, and February 11, 1954, 296 anti-British "incidents" had occurred in the Canal Zone. Fourteen British subjects had been killed and 31 more had been injured.

The long Anglo-Egyptian dispute over Suez has been whittled down to two issues: Under what terms would the British, after evacuating their 80,000 troops in the area, be permitted to return to the base? and, Should the 4,000 British technicians to be left behind wear uniforms? Some Americans appear to hope that the British will yield on the uniforms if the U. S. supports Britain on the terms of the return of British troops.

Poll Tax Payment

The Virginia legislature must decide whether to uphold a committee that rejected repeal of poll tax payment, $1.50 by each May 7, for the right to vote. The requirement is in the state constitution; repeal would have to be passed by two successive sessions of the legislature and then approved by a referendum in which only poll tax payers would be eligible to vote.

The question of repeal is a hardy perennial in Virginia politics. Four years ago one branch of the legislature voted for it, but the other branch pigeonholed it.

In 1949 repeal of the poll tax voting requirement did get as far as a referendum, but the proposal was tied up with such narrow new restrictions on the franchise that anti-poll taxers themselves helped to defeat it. In the gubernatorial election last fall, the Republican candidate came out for repeal; the Democratic candidate, who won, was against repeal.

In Congress the House of Representatives has several times in recent years voted for a federal ban on the poll tax voting requirement; each time the proposed ban died in the Senate by filibuster or threat of filibuster.

Only five states now hold on to the requirement: Virginia, Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama. It has been abandoned in Louisiana, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina and by Tennessee in 1953.

Military Aid For Japan

Now that the peace treaty between the United States and Japan has been in effect for almost two years, a new treaty is about to be signed whereby this country will help to build up Japan's military strength. The new treaty will follow the general pattern of similar agreements with the Latin American states.

Along with the peace treaty the two countries ratified a security treaty. In this each agreed to consider any armed attack on the other as a threat to its own safety and to act to meet the common danger, though always in accord with its own constitutional processes. Japan agreed to build up its military strength by steady increments.

To aid in this process the United States will undertake in the new treaty to furnish equipment, expert military advice and advisers. Japan will guarantee not to use her new military strength to commit aggression or break the peace.

The new treaty has the blessing of Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines, other states with which this country is associated in treaties for Pacific defense. The new Japanese constitution forbids the establishment of a Japanese army and air force, but Japan calls her present forces simply a police or security body and, anyhow, how to get around the constitutional ban is her affair, not ours.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Four Vital Health Factors

The rules of health are simple and not as difficult as cultists, neurotics, alarmists, and many misinformed persons have led us to believe. They revolve about using common sense in nutrition, cleanliness, and immunization. Like other rules, they must be re-emphasized from time to time in the home and at school. Children particularly require this education because habits developed in childhood last longest.

Nutrition goes beyond seven basic foods. Avoiding obesity, for example, keeps the body at a more efficient level, improves appearance, and adds years to life. The overweight man or woman needs only to cut down on the quantity at the table and resist temptation between meals and before going to bed. The necessity for a well balanced diet cannot be overestimated. Most of us fulfill all the nutritional requirements by eating one good meal a day along with the usual breakfast and small luncheon.

A good meal consists usually of soup, meat, potatoes, vegetables, salad, bread, dessert, and beverage. Breakfast is composed of fruit, egg, toast, and beverage. These two meals in themselves contain all the essentials; luncheon satisfies hunger and renews strength to carry on the daily work. The school luncheon is the exception because, for many children, it affords the only opportunity for a well-rounded meal.

For the majority, sanitary conditions in and about the home have been cared for by the municipal government. Sewers and safe water are available; health department regulations govern the milk supply and the safety of food handlers. Most of us take these safeguards for granted without realizing how important a role they play in the prevention of disease and widespread epidemics.

Cleanliness is a personal matter. Since the turn of the century, baths have become an accepted procedure and most of us have more than the Saturday night rendezvous with the shower or tub. Cleanliness of the hands also has helped minimize infections and contagious diseases.

Immunization prevents and controls certain diseases. With each passing year, the antivaccination group grows smaller as the benefits from vaccines and serums loom larger. People are looking forward to the development of a polio vaccine and "shots" that will ward off tuberculosis, brucellosis, and other prevalent infections. This phase of preventive medicine concerns parents and children because the immunization needs begin early in life.

All these innovations can be nullified, however, by abusing the body thru lack of sleep and overindulgence in stimulants, alcohol, and tobacco. Stress and strain also affect the body via the nervous system. These factors are easy to correct provided the individual wishes to do so. In this respect, most Americans can have health if they wish it.

HEART ENLARGEMENT

Mrs. L. writes: Can an enlarged heart be cured?

REPLY

Only in those cases in which the cause is remedial such as when heart trouble stems from anemia, overactive thyroid gland, or high blood pressure. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on enlarged heart.

Q FOR QUEENSLAND

E. L. writes: What is Q fever?

REPLY

An unusual type of pneumonia in which the victim has fever, headache, and cough. The diagnosis of this rickettsial infection is made from a laboratory test that demonstrates the presence of Coxiella burneti. The Q comes from Queensland, Australia, where the disease was first noted. Most of its victims had come into contact with infected milk of dairy products, or were workers in research laboratories, stock yards, or meat packing plants. In the Los Angeles area airborne contamination was a factor.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Langer Sought Revenge For Way Republicans Treated Him Last Year; Langer Was Kept Uncertain About His Senate Seat

WASHINGTON — In order to understand Wild Bill Langer's battle against the confirmation of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States you have to know something about one of the most independent, unpredictable, colorful, and cantankerous members of the U. S. Senate. You also have to know something about that little motive called revenge, never quite absent in politics.

First, let it be noted that this writer, who predicted May 24, 1953, that Earl Warren would be appointed chief justice, believes he should have been confirmed long ago. I disagree most emphatically with both Langer and my contemporary, Westbrook Pegler, who claims Warren is not fit to sit on the Supreme Court because he once wrote a letter to James Petrillo, head of the Musicians Union.

Warren has one of the finest records of any man in public life today, as has been noted time after time in this column; and the Republicans would have won had they nominated him for president in 1948 instead of Tom Dewey.

However, politics being what it is, and the Senate having been given the power to pass on judicial nominations, let's take a look at the motives of the colorful and unpredictable senator from North Dakota. They were two:

Motive No. 1 was to show some of his colleagues what it's like to smear unsubstantiated charges on the Congressional Record, as McCarthy has been doing. Few Republican senators have protested when McCarthy poured all sorts of reckless and unverified charges into the record against Gen. George Marshall, Dean Acheson, and scores of others. Langer, who has never gone along with McCarthy on these, figured that what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Motive No. 2 was to retaliate against his fellow Republicans for what they did to him.

Langer Dangles

Not many people know it, but when the Republican Senate convened one year ago, Langer was the only Republican not permitted to take his seat except conditionally. Senator McCarthy was permitted to take his seat, despite one of the most devastating reports ever submitted against a fellow senator.

But when a group of Republicans from North Dakota, headed by Joe Bridston of Grand Forks, came to Washington to protest Langer's election, various Republican senators did their best backstage to unseat him.

Finally, Langer was allowed to assume a precarious position as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, but under the embarrassing position of having its staff investigate him. For almost a year, Republicans looked upon McCarran of Nevada, a Democrat, as more the chairman of this key, judge-making committee than was Langer.

Langer's Worst Enemy

Meanwhile, the Eisenhower administration appointed as assistant secretary of the interior, Fred Aandahl, the man who not only had run against Langer for the Senate but who had called him a Communist. Aandahl even got a $1,000 contribution from Roy Cullen, the Texas oil millionaire, to defeat Langer. But when he failed, the Eisenhower administration kicked Langer in the political shins by elevating Aandahl to one of the key spots in the Interior Department.

These were some of the reasons why the lone-wolf senator from North Dakota bided his time until definitely entrenched as chairman of the Judiciary Committee. By January of this year, he knew no one could dethrone him. So he proceeded to pick the second biggest target in Washington, the chief justice of the United States, in order to show disdain for his own Republican party.

Langer-Go-Round

Here are sidelights on the man the GOP leadership will have to cope with for five more years as head of the Judiciary Committee.

Langer once collected $25,000 from Boston columnist Bill Cunningham following a libel suit. The lawyer who collected the money for him was Joseph B. Keenan, who when assistant attorney general had once convicted Langer for conspiring to solicit political contributions from federal employes. Langer was sentenced to 18 months in jail, but never served. He appealed, went to trial two more times, and was cleared. He and Keenan, who prosecuted him, became close friends, and Chief Justice Warren will probably have no better friend than Langer after he is confirmed . . . Langer was elected governor of North Dakota immediately after his conviction. He is the only senator who boasts in his own, self-penned congressional biography that he was arrested . . . Langer's court troubles caused the Senate to scrutinize his election carefully the first time elected in 1940, but thanks to the votes of friendly Democrats, he was seated . . . Langer has voted as much with the Democrats as with the Republicans, and in 1950 seriously considered leaving the Republican party altogether. It was his key vote on the Judiciary Committee which defeated the 1947 move to probe the Kansas City vote frauds.

Langer's Cellophane

In 1949, Langer told a stormy Republican caucus that there were three types of Republicans—conservatives, self-styled liberals, and real liberals, such as himself . . . He has consistently fought for small business, began battling long ago against the use of federal funds for schools which practiced discrimination, probed the newsprint monopoly and telephone-company profits, and introduced a housing bill even ahead of Senator Taft . . . Senator Langer chews cigars without taking the cellophane wrapper off, never smokes them, which caused Senator Magnuson of Washington to remark: "Why don't you buy five-cent cigars, the cellophane tastes just the same." . . . President Truman, on whose campaign train he rode in North Dakota, once appointed Langer's nephew, Morgan Ford, to the U. S. Customs Court in New York. (Incidentally, Governor Warren also paid a friendly visit to Truman's campaign train in the same 1952 election). . . . Now 68 years old, Langer's health is not what it used to be. Elected for a six-year term, he will be 73 when that term expires and until that time he will run the Judiciary Committee chairmanship pretty much as Pat McCarran did—namely, as he pleases . . . The public will hear a lot more about lone-wolf Langer in coming months and Republican senators wish ruefully there was something they could do about it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Travail Of Arthur Dean

Because of an interview published in the "Providence Sunday Journal" of January 3, 1954, Arthur H. Dean, our ambassador at Panmunjom, has been put on the spot as an intervenor for Red China. I have written some on this subject and did a broadcast attacking Dean's position. Now, it appears that Dean is on the same side of the fence that most Americans are on.

In a letter to Alfred Kohlberg, dated February 17, Dean said:

"Let me say as an individual citizen:

"(1) I am in favor of a foreign policy which is formulated and carried out solely and only in the interest of the American people and which will defeat and set back the Communists everywhere and at all times. To be realistic there should be a complete and constant re-examination of this policy at all times so that American lives will not be lost and we will not be caught unawares.

"(2) I am not now and never have been in favor of recognizing Communist China.

"(3) I am not now and never have been in favor of admitting Communist China into the United Nations or into the family of nations. I admire very much the work of Nationalist China in the United Nations and particularly Mr. T. F. Tsiang who speaks effectively and to the point.

"(4) I am not now and never have been in favor of relaxing trade embargoes on Red China or North Korea.

"(5) To recognize Red China or to admit her to the U. N. would be a severe blow, not only to Nationalist China but to the morale of nations we are trying to aid in the fight against communism. Further it would hand to the Reds on a silver platter control over the large number of Chinese now resident in Southeast Asia and control over their assets in the rubber, manufacturing, fishing, insurance and shipping field which they would use against us.

"(6) So long as it does not involve us in war or in the needless loss of American boys' lives, I am in favor of aid to Chiang Kai-shek. I am not in favor of our participating in a military attack on the mainland. It would involve a long war of attrition 9,000 miles away. The Japanese couldn't win it across the Sea of Japan, without having commitments in Europe.

"(7) I was asked to go to Panmunjom to attempt to negotiate time, place and composition of the political conference on Korea. Except as related to these matters, I have no authority, have been asked to do nothing else, and except for this limited role have never been asked to participate in the formulation of our Far Eastern policy at any time.

"That is a matter for the President, the secretary of state, the assistant secretary of state for the Far East, and Senate and House leaders."

No more unequivocal statement has been made by anyone, certainly by no one in the government except Vice President Richard Nixon. Senator Knowland has, of course, been emphatic in this direction.

Now, what becomes of the "Providence Journal" interview in which Dean is reported to have said:

". . . I don't mind repeating my belief that it is in the selfish interest of the American people to put on a new set of glasses and really examine with a hard critical stare whether there is any possibility of putting Chiang Kai-shek back on the mainland. If we were genies with a bottle we would put Chiang back on the mainland, but we aren't genies and we haven't got a bottle.

"I think there is a possibility the Chinese Communists are more interested in developing themselves in China than they are in international communism. If we could use that as a devisive method of putting a wedge between the Chinese Communists and the Soviet Union, I think we might try it."

This, I take it, is now completely repudiated and that Mr. Dean's signature will go on the petition of The Committee for One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations. If I am to apologize for overemphasizing the "Providence Journal" interview, I must also congratulate Arthur H. Dean for being in a good cause—the cause of American dignity.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — George Kennan, chairman of the State Department's policy planning staff under the Truman-Acheson administration, has expressed himself in criticism of the way the government has been handling the cases of those in government employ who are charged with loose morals. Because of the controversy that has arisen about the discharge of "security risks" from the government and the frequent references in print to morals cases, what Mr. Kennan has to say is of current interest.

Mr. Kennan's speech before the annual Christian Conference on the Relavance of Religious Belief to Problems of Everyday Living was originally delivered last December off-the-record at Princeton University. In the February 12 issue of "The Princeton Alumni Weekly," however, it is stated that Mr. Kennan reconsidered and allowed his address to be printed. The section of Mr. Kennan's speech dealing with criticism of the government is as follows:

Terms It Un-Christian

"Let us, for the love of God, keep out of the ranks of the finger-pointing holier-than-thous — the people who sublimate their own sex urge in the peculiarly nasty and sadistic practice of snooping on others and exploiting the failures and embarrassments of others in this most excruciating and difficult of problems.

"In particular, let us not fall into the sort of immature Philistinism that seems to have taken possession of our government in its latter-day preoccupation with the morals of the public servant. What has gone on in Washington in these recent months in this regard has brought the greatest dismay and disgust to many of us older civil servants not only because it seems to rest on a very faulty understanding of human nature, but because it implies the existence in our midst of a race of angels, disguised as security officers, equipped to pass judgment on the sinful remainder of mankind. Surely nothing could be more un-Christian than this."

In another passage Mr. Kennan discusses the attitude of present-day Christians toward sex problems and says:

"It seems to me that the greatest sin to which Christians are susceptible in questions of sex is really the sin of intolerance and lack of charity. Whoever makes other people's personal problems more bitter and more hopeless by forgetting the cruelty of the conflict and by holding those people up to ignominy and censure for their failures and stumblings — he, in my opinion, is the man whose conscience should really burn him. He is the man who has the most to fear for the safety of his soul. He is guilty of the deadly sin of pride, and I suspect that there is none deadlier in the eyes of our Maker."

Discussed By Peurifoy

The problem of loose morals among government employes was discussed by John Peurifoy, deputy under secretary of state, on February 28, 1950, before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, when he disclosed that 91 persons had been eased out of the Department of State in the Truman administration in cases involving morals, including homosexuality. In this category of "security risks" he placed "a habitual alcoholic or a person who has any other physical or moral defect which could be preyed upon or which might be used by somebody who was attempting to penetrate into the department."

R. W. Scott McLeod, top security officer in the Department of State in the Eisenhower-Dulles administration, discussed the same subject in a copyrighted interview in "U. S. News & World Report," in its February 12, 1954, issue, as follows:

"Q: Does the average person, when he is told he must leave for one reason or another, carry that any further — does he ask for the right to appeal, or just resign and accept it?

"A: I think that probably the ratio would be quite similar to the number of people charged with crimes who plead guilty as against those who stand trial. As you know, in a preponderance of cases the fellow pleads guilty. I don't think there is a single exception in the homosexual cases. The investigation usually terminates in an interview, and the interview elicits a confession which results in a resignation.

"Q: Did sex perversion turn out to be a problem, after all the talk?

"A: Since 1947, when they started keeping figures on them, there have been more than 500 homosexuals terminated in the department.

"Q: Isn't that unusual, percentagewise, for that number of human beings?

"A: I don't think it is an unusual percentage if it were compared to the general population, although I know of no reliable statistics on which to base that comparison, but it certainly is an intolerable percentage in a sensitive agency.

"Q: Is it your feeling that homosexuals would be susceptible to blackmail?

"A: Well, that seems to me to be self-evident."

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — Some people . . . some places . . . some things:

Tommy Mara is a big, good-looking 18-year-old kid with the face of a Greek god (he's Italian) and the voice of a baritone angel. A few months ago he was unknown save to his nearest of kin and his circle of friends in New Haven, Conn. Now he sings for MGM records, has one named "More Than Ever" which seems headed upward, and is embarking on a national tour.

His father, Jimmy Santamauro, an immigrant who did better than fair in the trucking business, has bet a lot of money that Tommy will click. Parents throughout the country with children who have a musical bent, but need a break, will understand how much time and money it takes to get ahead professionally.

Father and son have dismissed from their minds the tens of thousands of aspiring young singers who have fallen by the wayside through the years.

They think only of Eddie Fisher, one of Tommy's heroes in life (and a nice boy, by the way), Perry Como, Frank Sinatra, Frankie Laine, Vic Damone and even Julius La Rosa. Tommy's approach is realistic:

"I always could sing and liked to sing for friends and gatherings in New Haven while I was in grammar school and high school," he was saying the other night at Camillo's. "Then somewhere along the way, I found out that you can make as much as $30,000 with one pop hit. That was it, I guess. Doing what I like to do for all the money I can get appealed to me."

It's hard for a young fellow not to sing like somebody else, he said. But he's trying, even though he keeps thinking of Fisher. He can't get Fisher out of his mind.

"He'll make half a million dollars this year, Eddie will," he said.

Mara said, not without a note of awe, that sales of popular records this year will exceed $125,000,000. His future, he acknowledged, is largely in the hands and within the whims of disc jockeys and juke box operators.

I've seen Sinatra leave places by rear doors rather than walk through a herd of screaming bobby-soxers, and I've seen the latter keep a vigil for hours outside of a place like Toots Shor's — and in the rain — waiting for him. I asked Mara how he'd feel about that.

"The ones coming up wish we were in the shoes of those fellows," he said. "Maybe later it will be different, but now it would be ideal. For me it's been three years of hard study, hard work, and a lot of expenses. My pop has picked up the tab until now. My first aim is to get him even."

Want to go on a safari? Next question: Got $3,000? If you have the desire and the dough, Temple Fielding is your man. Temp has been leading tourists around the world for five or six years with what I consider a travel guide as necessary as nylon shirts (etc) and soap. Fielding's guide will never tell you how many cobblestones are on the pavement in front of Notre Dame, or the number of panels in the stained glass windows of St. Paul's outside the walls. But it would tell you where and when to bring Kleenex, where to get a few more mil reis from your buck, and how to get an autographed picture of Farouk in tights.

Now in conjunction with Brownell Tours, of Birmingham, Ala., largest escorted tour operator in the world, Fielding is arranging a 65-day safari to leave the first week in April and a 56-day job departing justly after July 4. He won't guarantee the safari members will shoot a lion, or even meet Hemingway or Ruark. But if I know Fielding, it'll be different.

Comet III, the British jet due in 1956, has thus far been ordered by B.O.A.C. (5) and Pan-American (3). Sounds like a small fleet but the fleet's 500-mph speed, plus quick turn-around, plus 58 passenger capacity, will enable even these few planes to carry 97,000 trans-atlantic passengers a year, the same as the gigantic Queens or the incomparable United States.

Lt. Jeffries Rites Set Tomorrow

The body of Navy Lt. George G. Jeffries Jr., 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Jeffries, Depot Street, Frostburg, who lost his life in an airplane crash at Lake Charles, La., last Friday, will arrive at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, this afternoon.

Arrangements have been made for the body to remain at the funeral home for services tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. John B. Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, Frostburg, officiating. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

Lt. Jeffries, a 1941 graduate of Beall High School and a 1947 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, has been widely acclaimed as a hero due to crash landing his plane instead of bailing out near Lake Charles because of the danger that the craft would not clear that city of 50,000.

Lt. Jeffries, an instructor, was on a routine flight from Kingsville Air Base, near Corpus Christi, Texas, to MacDill AFB, Tampa, Fla., when engine trouble developed and his FGF plane started losing altitude. He was told to bail out by another officer in the flight, but elected to crash with his plane rather than have it endanger the lives of residents of Lake Charles.

The story of Lt. Jeffries' heroism, along with his picture, appeared in hundreds of newspapers over the weekend. The deed has also been the subject of editorials in a number of papers.

MRS. MAXIE ELSEY

Mrs. Maxie Elsey, 81, Terra Alta, died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hazel A. Lemon, 119 South Allegany Street, with whom she had been visiting for about two weeks.

A native of Preston County, Mrs. Elsey was a daughter of the late Mathias and Elscinda (Jenkins) Forman. She was the widow of John Elsey.

A sister, Mrs. Walter Matheny, Kingwood, survives. The body is at the Collins Funeral Home, Terra Alta, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Sumner Sawyers.

CHESTER M. BECKNER

WESTERNPORT—Chester Marion Beckner, 58, of Detroit, Mich., a former resident, died yesterday morning at the Veterans Hospital Dearborn, Mich., where he had been a patient for a month.

He was a veteran of World War I. A native of Goshen, Va., he was a son of Mrs. Elizabeth (Steers) Beckner, 200 Philos Avenue, and the late Lonie Beckner.

Mr. Beckner resided in Detroit for the past 20 years and operated a restaurant until recently. He attended the Presbyterian Church and also Hammond Street School.

Besides his mother, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. William Gusie, Mrs. Virginia Warner, Detroit; Miss Frances Beckner, here; seven brothers, B. R. Beckner, Marshall Beckner, Washington, Pa.; Bevely Beckner, Bayard Beckner, Detroit; Harry, Clifton Beckner, here; Lyman Beckner, Piedmont.

The body will be brought to the Fredlock Funeral Home tomorrow morning for a service at 2 p. m. with Rev. Robert M. Campbell, pastor of Piedmont Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Philos Cemetery.

MISS ANNA M. ROMPF

Miss Anna Martha Rompf, 78, of 415 North Mechanic Street, died Monday night in Memorial Hospital where she was admitted February 3. She had been in failing health several years.

Born February 11, 1876 in Piedmont, Miss Rompf was a daughter of the late Herman and Catherine (Glimb) Rompf. She held membership in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Surviving are a brother, John Rompf, city, and number of nieces and nephews. The body is at the George Funeral Home.

A service will be conducted at the funeral home tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. Raymond A. Faulds Jr., pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Greenmount Cemetery.

WILLIAM H. RAUPACH

William Henry Raupach, 91, native of Cumberland, died Sunday at the home of a son, Fred Raupach, RD 1, Glencoe, Pa.

Born September 21, 1862, he was a retired B&O section foreman and one of the oldest residents of Glencoe. His parents were the late Charles August and Julia (Shumaker) Raupach.

Survivors include six sons, William A. and George, Cleveland; Carl, Fred and Frank of Glencoe, and Arthur Raupach, Sproul, Pa., and five daughters, Mrs. Simon Leydig, Glencoe; Mrs. Calvin Sturtz, Avon Park, Fla.; Mrs. George Ackerman and Mrs. Bertha Knisely, Meyersdale, and Mrs. George Forbeck, Cumberland. Another son, Albert, preceded him in death.

Rites will be held today at 2 p. m. from the Konhaus Funeral Home, Meyersdale. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery, Cumberland.

CLAYTON GRIFFITH

FROSTBURG—Clayton Griffith, 53, who resided with his aunt, Miss Mary Hartig, 132 West Main Street, died Tuesday in Miners Hospital shortly after being admitted. He was a son of the late William and Kathleen (Hartig) Griffith.

Surviving are three brothers, William F. Griffith, Zihlman, Earl Griffith and Donald Griffith of Frostburg.

Five sisters, Miss Ethel Griffith and Mrs. Olive Duncan, of Frostburg; Mrs. Charles Walters, of Mt. Savage; Mrs. Edgar Rogers, Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Jerry Davis, Washington, D. C.

He was employed at the Allegany Ballistics Plant, and was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The body is at the Durst Funeral Home where services will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. Burial will be in the Frostburg Memorial Park.

EDWARD H. DYE

LONACONING—Edward Harrison Dye, 75, died at his home on Ridge Road, near Greencastle, Pa., on Wednesday afternoon after an illness of two weeks.

A native of Lonaconing, he was a son of John and Alice (Green) Dye. He resided in Pennsylvania for the past thirty-two years.

He was a retired elder in the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, and a member of the Waynesboro Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mattie (Ocker) Dye; a daughter, Mrs. Lewis W. Burger, RD 3, Waynesboro; a son, Roy C. Dye, Manorville, L. I.; stepsons, Jack Ocker, Hyattsville, John Ocker, Hagerstown; thirteen grandchildren; one great-grandchild.

Five sisters, Mrs. Robert Doyle, Lonaconing; Mrs. George Ayers, Barton; Mrs. Simeon Duckworth, Frostburg; Mrs. Sheridan Bucklew, Gilmore; Mrs. James Lammie, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and two brothers, James Dye, Akron, Ohio, and William Dye, of Detroit, Michigan.; survive.

Interment was in the Rose Hill Cemetery, Hagerstown.

MRS. THOMAS KIDDY

LUKE—Mrs. Nina Mabel Kiddy, 57, of 417 Pratt Street, widow of the late Thomas Kiddy, died yesterday morning in Potomac Valley Hospital about three hours after admission.

She had been in ill health for three years. A native of Elk Garden, W. Va., she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Knotts.

Mrs. Kiddy was a member of the Piedmont Presbyterian Church; Helen Gold Bible Class of the church and the Westernport Homemakers Club.

Her husband died in 1952. Surviving are one daughter, Miss Katherine Kiddy, at home; four sons, Thomas and Ronald Kiddy, Detroit, Mich.; Eugene Kiddy, Westernport and Pfc. Donald Kiddy, with the U. S. Army in Italy.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Mary Weese, Morgantown, W. Va.; Mrs. Ervin Warnick, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. George Heffner, Tipp City, Ohio; Mrs. Raymond Scheermesser, here and five grandchildren.

A service will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. in the Piedmont Presbyterian Church with Rev. Robert M. Campbell, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Philos Cemetery.

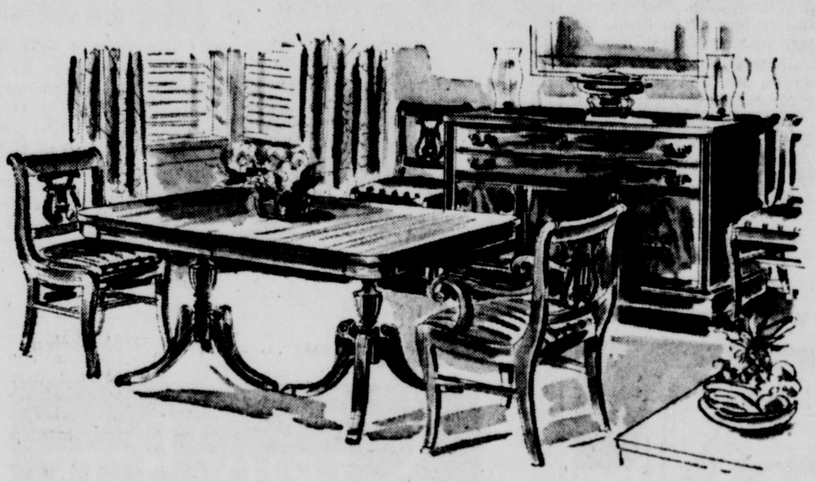

The body is at Boal's Funeral Home.

Lt. Jeffries Rites Set Tomorrow

The body of Navy Lt. George G. Jeffries Jr., 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Jeffries, Depot Street, Frostburg, who lost his life in an airplane crash at Lake Charles, La., last Friday, will arrive at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, this afternoon.

Arrangements have been made for the body to remain at the funeral home for services tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. John B. Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, Frostburg, officiating. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

Lt. Jeffries, a 1941 graduate of Beall High School and a 1947 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, has been widely acclaimed as a hero due to crash landing his plane instead of bailing out near Lake Charles because of the danger that the craft would not clear that city of 50,000.

Lt. Jeffries, an instructor, was on a routine flight from Kingsville Air Base, near Corpus Christi, Texas, to MacDill AFB, Tampa, Fla., when engine trouble developed and his FGF plane started losing altitude. He was told to bail out by another officer in the flight, but elected to crash with his plane rather than have it endanger the lives of residents of Lake Charles.

The story of Lt. Jeffries' heroism, along with his picture, appeared in hundreds of newspapers over the weekend. The deed has also been the subject of editorials in a number of papers.

MRS. MAXIE ELSEY

Mrs. Maxie Elsey, 81, Terra Alta, died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hazel A. Lemon, 119 South Allegany Street, with whom she had been visiting for about two weeks.

DKG To Have UN Program, Election

Eta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society will hold its quarterly meeting March 6. It will be at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

The program will feature an "Evaluation of the United Nations," by Miss Nellie Kooken, teacher of social studies at Bruce High School.

At noon there will be an executive board meeting and committee meetings, followed by a luncheon at 1 o'clock.

Election of officers will be held at the business session, following the program. Mrs. Virgil Atkinson is president of the chapter, with Miss Anna McLuckie, treasurer.

Homemakers To Discuss Teen-agers

Members of the Progressive Young Women's Club of Potomac Valley were urged to attend two special meetings. Mrs. Colleen Nelson presided at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harry Grimes, McMullen Highway, Monday evening. She urged that as many as could attend the county meeting being held at Central YMCA March 17, from 10 until 3 o'clock. The topic will be "Understanding Teenagers."

It was announced that Miss Joann Reitz will give a talk on "Color in Your Home" at the March 31 meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Wilson. Members were urged to attend.

The opening song was "Juanita," and roll call was answered with members answering with their most versatile accessory. Routine reports were given and Mrs. Viola Johnson recited a poem, "A Man's Needs." A letter of appreciation for participating in the Mothers March drive was read from Mrs. Ralph Isiminger.

A demonstration of using a basic pattern with correct measurements was given by Mrs. Arthur Evans and Mrs. Ferman Helmstetter. The recreational period was under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Thomas. Concluding the meeting refreshments were served.

BPW Hears Talk, Reports

Dr. Laura B. Harney, member of the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College, addressed the Business and Professional Women's Club, and reports of chairmen were given at the meeting last evening at Central YMCA. Miss Gerardine Pritchard presided. Miss Lillian C. Myers, International Relations chairman, introduced the speaker.

Speaking on South America, Dr. Harney based her talk on Dr. Milton Eisenhower's report, and quoting the philosophy therein expressed "that working together the nations of this hemisphere can stand firmly against any enemy and prosper mightily in times of peace." The latter part of her talk was devoted to personal experiences as a teacher and traveler in South America.

Members of the International Relations committee were introduced. They are Miss Jane Botsford, Miss Millie Gottlieb, Miss Margaret Hamilton, Miss Nan Livingston and Mrs. William Blake.

Committee reports were given by Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, Mrs. Ella McKenzie, Miss Lillian C. Compton, Miss Edith Scharf, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, Miss Olive Simpson, Miss Anna Agress and Dr. Ethel Dantzic. Miss Irene Lapp, TV chairman, gave a recommendation for viewing certain programs.

Pakistan will be the topic for the March 9 meeting, with the IR committee again in charge. There will be a board meeting March 15. Both are being held at the Y.

War Brides Planning Card Party

Mrs. John Cunningham presided at the meeting of the Cumberland Chapter of the Cosmopolitan Association Incorporated and introduced Mrs. Joseph Martin, a new member and native of Swindon, England. The meeeting was held at the VFW Home Sunday.

Plans were made for a card party after Lent. The date will be selected and chairmen named at the meeting March 21.

Mrs. William Riley, secretary, reported the national headquarters of the CAI, Newark, N. J., had informed her no more reservations can be accepted for the chartered plane flight in May from New York to Prestwick, Scotland.

A program of entertainment followed the business session and refreshments were served, with Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Orville Swartley and Mrs. Guy Thompson as hostesses.

Others attending were Mrs. Charles Fair, Mrs. Joseph DiNicola, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Mrs. Paul Baker, Mrs. Luther Hutter, Mrs. Kenneth Baierl and Mrs. Joseph Rhodes.

Observe Focus Week

The Young Woman's Auxiliary of First Baptist Church observed Focus Week last week with the girls and their counselor, Mrs. Virginia Boggs, taking part in the church services. They read the Scripture had prayer and special music. Roberta Markwood and Lois McCollough sang a duet.

As a special project the group made 110 Valentine treat baskets for the children's wards at Memorial and Sacred Heart Hospitals. They were assisted by Mrs. H. R. Matlick, president of the Woman's Missionary Unit.

Cumberland AAUW Board Plans Meetings, Policy

The executive board of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women decided on policy for the branch and changed the date of the regular meeting because of Lent. Mrs. Aden Everstine presided at the meeting Saturday at the public library.

It was decided to change the regular meeting from March 3 until March 10, at which time there is to be a speaker from the Historical Society, who will give some of the background of the library which is marking its 30th anniversary March 1. The program is under the direction of Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, Miss Ruth Clauson and Miss Margery Muncaster. Another board meeting will be held March 6. It also will be held at the library, when the board will complete plans for a fund-raising project for the Frostburg State Teachers College scholarship.

It was decided that the policy for selecting students for the FSTC scholarship will remain the same, that any girl student at the college is eligible.

Also it was decided that the new members will be held as guests until April when they will pay dues from April 1954 to 1955.

The art exhibit, sponsored by the Fine Arts group, was discussed. Mrs. Henry Sauer and Mrs. Harold Briggs are in charge of hanging the pictures, and with Mrs. Everstine will meet with Stevens Berge, Baltimore, judge for the exhibit, Monday at 1 o'clock, for lunch at Anton's.

Others attending were Miss Rose Ann Langans, Mrs. Harold Reese, Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk, Mrs. Jack Heath, Miss Clauson, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Caroline Dunlap, Mrs. Bruce Fable, Mrs. William Blake and Mrs. Richard Weiner.

The executive board of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women decided on policy for the branch and changed the date of the regular meeting because of Lent. Mrs. Aden Everstine presided at the meeting Saturday at the public library.

It was decided to change the regular meeting from March 3 until March 10, at which time there is to be a speaker from the Historical Society, who will give some of the background of the library which is marking its 30th anniversary March 1. The program is under the direction of Mrs. G. Morgan Smith, Miss Ruth Clauson and Miss Margery Muncaster. Another board meeting will be held March 6. It also will be held at the library, when the board will complete plans for a fund-raising project for the Frostburg State Teachers College scholarship.

It was decided that the policy for selecting students for the FSTC scholarship will remain the same, that any girl student at the college is eligible.

Also it was decided that the new members will be held as guests until April when they will pay dues from April 1954 to 1955.

The art exhibit, sponsored by the Fine Arts group, was discussed. Mrs. Henry Sauer and Mrs. Harold Briggs are in charge of hanging the pictures, and with Mrs. Everstine will meet with Stevens Berge, Baltimore, judge for the exhibit, Monday at 1 o'clock, for lunch at Anton's.

Others attending were Miss Rose Ann Langans, Mrs. Harold Reese, Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk, Mrs. Jack Heath, Miss Clauson, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Caroline Dunlap, Mrs. Bruce Fable, Mrs. William Blake and Mrs. Richard Weiner.

To Have Study Course

Cresaptown Women's Society of Christian Service will hold a study course on "Alcohol and Christian Responsibility," beginning March 17.

Classes will be each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church for six weeks.

Meeting Planned

WESTERNPORT—A joint meeting of the members of Victory Post 155, American Legion and the Auxiliary Unit will be held at the Post home Friday 7:30 p. m.

Sisterhood To Observe Anniversary

B'er Chayim Sisterhood will have Dr. Nell Hirschberg, a leader of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, as guest speaker at the 78th anniversary meeting today.

Mrs. Leonard Schwab is to be toastmaster for the meeting at 1 o'clock at Ali Ghan Country Club. The invocation is being offered by Rabbi Joseph Schimelman and Rabbi Samuel Umen is giving the benediction.

Greetings will be extended by Harry Beneman, president of B'er Chayim Congregation; David Kauffman, president of Beth Jacob Congregation; Mrs. Robert Gerson, president of Hadassah; Mrs. Marvin Kaplon, president of the Women's League of Beth Jacob, and Robert Kaplon, president of B'nai B'rith.

Mrs. David Sigel will preside at the meeting and Mrs. A. J. Mirkin is introducing the speaker. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Mrs. Milton Beneman, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Blane Schindler and Mrs. Mark Lazarus Jr.

Bride Is Honored At Shower Party

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Morral entertained with a miscellaneous shower in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Jean Vance, Saturday at their home, Chaneysville, Pa.

Police And Firemen Are Praised For Accomplishments

Cumberland Police and Fire Departments have progressed a long way, Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday.

Their jobs are hazardous, and with few exceptions, the men are "alert and devoted to their jobs of protecting every citizen," the commissioner continued.

Long's comments were in connection with his recommendation that the Police and Fire Departments go on a permanent five-day week basis after a six-month trial period. The move was approved unanimously Monday by the Mayor and Council.

Long said all of Cumberland can be proud of its police and fire departments.

Through training and personal effort, the police have:

"Suppressed gambling; moved traffic under trying conditions of railroad crossings, narrow streets and with an increase in motor vehicles of 15 per cent since the 1950 traffic survey; coordinated a school safety program that is respected throughout Maryland earned for Cumberland the award of No. 1 city for its safe pedestrian record; met all emergencies successfully; developed in-service training continued through the efforts of Officer Harry Iser of the Police Boys Club; improved all police equipmen and gained respect for themselves and the department."

Of the Fire Department, Long said it has:

"Met all emergencies successfully; developed in-service training and associated with the University of Maryland Fire Training Service; improved all fire equipment; continued inspections of buildings with followups; cooperated with schools, hospitals, etc., toward fire prevention training; and gained respect for themselves and the department."

Yesterday, the commissioner had said that the five-day week allowed 1. police and 16 firemen to a platoon the absolute minimum for coverage, and because of this "borderline coverage" the number of men in the department should be increased. Vacation periods, he added, must continue on a five-day basis.

Seven employes of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory have been awarded pins and certificates in recognition of ten years' service. They are William Sullivan, Virginia Thomas, Charles Strouse, Emma Atkins, Verda Often, Harry Clark and Clarence Walters.

Club Leadership To Be Subject Of Panel

A panel discussion will feature the local leaders dinner-meeting of Allegany County 4-H clubs Friday at 6:30 p. m. at Hafer's Restaurant on Baltimore Avenue.

Leaders of the panel will be Mrs. James Crable, Lonaconing; Mrs. Harry Morgan, Frostburg; Charles Llewellyn, McCoole, and William Shumaker, Rawlings. The topic will be "Guiding 4-H Clubs."

Miss Joanne Reitz, home demonstration agent, and Joseph M. Steger, assistant farm agent, will also take part in the program.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county schools, will speak at a meeting of the Allegany County Extension Clubs on March 3 at 8 p. m. at Flintstone High School. His topic will be "How Education Contributes to Family Living."

Catholic Vets Oppose Red China In UN

Victor Tambolleo Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, has gone on record as opposing the admittance of Communist China into the United Nations.

The move was taken in conjunction with a national CWV campaign, a spokesman said.

The Maryland State CWV convention will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Baltimore. Local delegates include Peter J. Carpenti, James L. King, Thomas F. Conlon Sr., Thomas F. Conlon Jr., Raymond E. Leidinger and Earl Humbertson.

Reader's Digest Reports:
ONLY NEW COLGATE DENTAL CREAM
with Miracle Anti-Enzyme Ingredient GARDOL*
HAS THE CLINICAL PROOF!
(Proof that Brings New Hope to Millions for LIFETIME PROTECTION AGAINST TOOTH DECAY)

5 QUICK FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST ARTICLE
"What About Anti-Enzyme Toothpastes?" December, 1953

1. Reader's Digest says—The most effective anti-enzyme toothpaste ingredient tested was developed in the Colgate-Palmolive Company laboratories.
(It's Colgate's miracle ingredient Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate)—found in no other leading toothpaste!)

2. Reader's Digest says—One of the foremost dental authorities in the world proved that this ingredient binds itself effectively to the teeth—holds acid formation below the decay level in 95 per cent of cases tested.
(Unlike ordinary toothpaste ingredients, effective only for minutes, this protection won't rinse off—won't wear off—all day or all night!)

3. Reader's Digest says—Even 12 hours after brushing, this new Colgate anti-enzyme discovery continues to guard against the enzymes that cause tooth decay.
(Thus, just daily morning and night brushings guard against decay-causing enzymes every minute of the day and night!)

4. Reader's Digest says—In clinical tests, supervised by leading dental authorities—for a full year—people who used ordinary toothpastes averaged almost two and a half times more new cavities than those who used New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate). In fact, of the group using New Colgate's, 4 out of 5 developed no new cavities at all!
(A group of distinguished dentists examined this evidence and agreed—New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol gives the surest protection against tooth decay ever offered by any toothpaste!)

5. Reader's Digest says—New Colgate Dental Cream is the only toothpaste with clinical proof of its effectiveness in actually reducing the formation of new cavities.

Canal Hiking Party Is Due During March

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and his party, which plan to hike the 185 miles of the C&O Canal, plan to arrive in Cumberland about March 29.

Justice Douglas' trip started out as a bet between himself and a couple of Washington Post writers. Since that time, the number making the trip has increased to 18 and it is getting larger all the time. The group plans to start the hike from Georgetown to Cumberland on March 20.

The justice became involved with the Post when he expressed his opinion that the canal region should be left unspoiled. The Post suggested that the scenic parkway should be built along its entire length.

Robert Estabrook and Merlo Pusey are the Washington Post men who originally accepted the challenge. Now the hiking party also includes such people as Sigurd Olson, president of the National Parks Association; Olaus Murie, Moose, Wyo., president of the Wilderness Society; Irston Barnes, president of the District of Columbia Audubon Society, and a group of persons who spend most of their spare time hiking.

Justice Douglas has even drawn up a list of provisions which each member of the party should take along to penetrate the wilderness. Included are such diverse items as aspirin, an Arctic mummy bag, change of clothing, razors, and an Army kit of dishes.

Justice Douglas, to get ready for the hike, is currently on a mountain lion hunting expedition in Arizona.

West Virginians have been silent over the proposed parkway which would pass along the Potomac River adjacent to four northern panhandle counties.

Both Rep. Harley O. Staggers and Senator Mathew Neely (D-W. Va.) report that there has been no comment on the parkway reaching their Washington offices.

President Eisenhower's federal budget presented to Congress two weeks ago provided for only $5,500 for the C&O Canal Parkway during the fiscal year 1955, but both U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde will attempt to have that item increased.

According to Rep. Hyde, this district's congressman, he and Senator Beall will work to have the amount requested by the National Park Service restored to the budget.

The Parks Service, a branch of the Department of the Interior, had asked the President to include an appropriation large enough to build the Cumberland terminus of the parkway together with seven miles of the two-lane highway east from here to Hancock.

The economy-minded administration, however, allocated only the $5,500, enough for aerial surveys of the 58-mile stretch proposed between Cumberland and Hancock, Rep. Hyde said yesterday.

Rep. Hyde admitted that any addition to the budget will be met with much opposition by the economy-minded administration forces.

He added that while he and the senator will endeavor to have the parkway started through sufficient amount of federal funds, the immediate future of the highway is dark.

Both Rep. Hyde and Senator Beall succeeded in having a bill passed to provide for perpetual federal easements across the parkway.

That federal measure was the stipulation placed by the Maryland General Assembly when it allocated $3,500,000 for acquisition of rights-of-way.

Until the middle of the 14th century, most Europeans considered that riding in a vehicle instead of on horseback was unmanly.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Do you have a salesman who is a 'Capricorn'? They always seem to understand me so much better."

Youths Get Suspended Jail Terms

Two youths who entered guilty pleas in Circuit Court two weeks ago on charges of assault with intent to rob yesterday were sentenced to terms not to exceed five years in the Maryland Reformatory and the sentence was suspended.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris attached strict parole terms to the suspended sentences. The boys, Charles Russell Calhoun, 17, of Paca Street, and John Vincent Green, 15, of Henry Street, must abstain from intoxicants, must not own or operate a motor vehicle, must attend church regularly, must not stay out later than 10 p. m. and must be of general good behavior.

Raymond A. Shuck, Flintstone, had stopped his car on Baltimore Avenue on January 17 when his motor developed trouble. The two youths got in the car with Shuck and when a point was reached near Flintstone the boys allegedly forced Shuck to drive them at gun-point to Baltimore.

Following the sentencing in Circuit Court, one of the youths, Calhoun, was taken before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason who sentenced him on several motor law violations.

Calhoun's sentences were suspended with similarly strict parole provisions. He had been sentenced to six months for reckless driving, one year in the House of Correction for failing to stop after property damage, $25 for having no driver's license.

West Virginia was the only state admitted to the Union during the Civil War. It was admitted as a result of the war.

Canal Hiking Party Is Due During March

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and his party, which plan to hike the 185 miles of the C&O Canal, plan to arrive in Cumberland about March 29.

Justice Douglas' trip started out as a bet between himself and a couple of Washington Post writers. Since that time, the number making the trip has increased to 18 and it is getting larger all the time. The group plans to start the hike from Georgetown to Cumberland on March 20.

The justice became involved with the Post when he expressed his opinion that the canal region should be left unspoiled. The Post suggested that the scenic parkway should be built along its entire length.

Robert Estabrook and Merlo Pusey are the Washington Post men who originally accepted the challenge. Now the hiking party also includes such people as Sigurd Olson, president of the National Parks Association; Olaus Murie, Moose, Wyo., president of the Wilderness Society; Irston Barnes, president of the District of Columbia Audubon Society, and a group of persons who spend most of their spare time hiking.

Justice Douglas has even drawn up a list of provisions which each member of the party should take along to penetrate the wilderness. Included are such diverse items as aspirin, an Arctic mummy bag, change of clothing, razors, and an Army kit of dishes.

Justice Douglas, to get ready for the hike, is currently on a mountain lion hunting expedition in Arizona.

West Virginians have been silent over the proposed parkway which would pass along the Potomac River adjacent to four northern panhandle counties.

Both Rep. Harley O. Staggers and Senator Mathew Neely (D-W. Va.) report that there has been no comment on the parkway reaching their Washington offices.

President Eisenhower's federal budget presented to Congress two weeks ago provided for only $5,500 for the C&O Canal Parkway during the fiscal year 1955, but both U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde will attempt to have that item increased.

According to Rep. Hyde, this district's congressman, he and Senator Beall will work to have the amount requested by the National Park Service restored to the budget.

The Parks Service, a branch of the Department of the Interior, had asked the President to include an appropriation large enough to build the Cumberland terminus of the parkway together with seven miles of the two-lane highway east from here to Hancock.

The economy-minded administration, however, allocated only the $5,500, enough for aerial surveys of the 58-mile stretch proposed between Cumberland and Hancock, Rep. Hyde said yesterday.

Rep. Hyde admitted that any addition to the budget will be met with much opposition by the economy-minded administration forces.

He added that while he and the senator will endeavor to have the parkway started through sufficient amount of federal funds, the immediate future of the highway is dark.

Both Rep. Hyde and Senator Beall succeeded in having a bill passed to provide for perpetual federal easements across the parkway.

That federal measure was the stipulation placed by the Maryland General Assembly when it allocated $3,500,000 for acquisition of rights-of-way.

Until the middle of the 14th century, most Europeans considered that riding in a vehicle instead of on horseback was unmanly.

Youths Get Suspended Jail Terms

Two youths who entered guilty pleas in Circuit Court two weeks ago on charges of assault with intent to rob yesterday were sentenced to terms not to exceed five years in the Maryland Reformatory and the sentence was suspended.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris attached strict parole terms to the suspended sentences. The boys, Charles Russell Calhoun, 17, of Paca Street, and John Vincent Green, 15, of Henry Street, must abstain from intoxicants, must not own or operate a motor vehicle, must attend church regularly, must not stay out later than 10 p. m. and must be of general good behavior.

Raymond A. Shuck, Flintstone, had stopped his car on Baltimore Avenue on January 17 when his motor developed trouble. The two youths got in the car with Shuck and when a point was reached near Flintstone the boys allegedly forced Shuck to drive them at gun-point to Baltimore.

Following the sentencing in Circuit Court, one of the youths, Calhoun, was taken before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason who sentenced him on several motor law violations.

Calhoun's sentences were suspended with similarly strict parole provisions. He had been sentenced to six months for reckless driving, one year in the House of Correction for failing to stop after property damage, $25 for having no driver's license.

West Virginia was the only state admitted to the Union during the Civil War. It was admitted as a result of the war.

Crossing Elimination Plan Will Be Studied By City

Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan asked Monday that the city explore further the possibility of eliminating the Virginia Avenue crossing of the Western Maryland Railway by use of an underpass or bridge.

Keegan spoke at the meeting of the Mayor and Council after City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum submitted a report in which he said the city is cooperating with the State Roads Commission in plans for a proposed new Wiley Ford bridge.

Nuzum said he is working on estimates of the work involving 1,300 lineal feet and predicted the cost would be in excess of $200,000.

The engineer said the Wiley Ford span is in the future but long-range planning by the city should take into consideration the need for a modern bridge and that the city is responsible for the cost of the approach from the Maryland side.

Nuzum told Keegan he had not discussed the underpass with the railway so Keegan said if it sounds feasible, he suggested that be done to see if the company would contribute toward its construction.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he believed Nuzum should talk with the railway and prepare a further report. Keegan suggested City Attorney Thomas B. Finan also join in the study.

Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder pointed out that the request for the Wiley Ford bridge study and estimate on approximate amount for a long-range program came from the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Commissioner John J. Long commented that the city should go into the money question for the projects and see where it is coming from.

Guard Units Planning Recruiting Drive Dance

A recruiting dance will be sponsored by the local National Guard units today from 8 p. m. to midnight at the State Armory.

Store Workers Share Profits

Fifty-two employes of the Cumberland store of Sears, Roebuck and Company Monday received individual statements showing the extent to which each has shared in the company's profits for 1953.

The employes are members of "The Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Company Employes."

C. W. Seasholtz, manager of the Cumberland store, announced at a meeting of fund members that the local employe group has to its credit in the fund 1,515 shares of Sears stock, plus a cash balance of $33,087.55.

Based on a year-end market value of $62 per share for the Sears stock and on other miscellaneous investments, the group now has a total investment worth $127,017.55.

All regular Sears employes are eligible to join the fund after one year with the company. The fund is in its 38th year.

Employe members deposit five per cent of their wages and salaries up to a $500 maximum deposit each year. Sears annual contribution is based on an established percentage of net profit before taxes. This sum is credited to employe-members on the basis of their length of service and annual contribution.

Total current assets of the fund now exceed $500,000,000. Of this amount, $84,000,000 represents deposits from the wages and salaries of the 120,000 employe-members in the fund.

The fund now owns 26 per cent of Sears stock and this ownership makes it the company's largest single stockholder.

Face Assault Charges

Three Cresaptown men who had been charged with felonious assault by Mineral County (W.Va.) toda, surrendered to Probation Officer David M. Steele at the Court House.

Later on they posted $500 bond for their appearance before West Virginia authorities.

They are Raymond Poland, 30; Gene Keister, 27, and Richard Haines, 22.

Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin of Mineral County, said the altercation occurred February 8 about midnight when the Cresaptown trio allegedly "jumped" a party of teen-agers enroute to Fort Ashby injuring James I. Lewis, of Cumberland.

Coal Land Assessment Will Be Stricken

A total of 8,401 acres of coal land has been ordered taken off the assessment against the Campbell Coal Company by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners under the depletion section of the tax laws of the county.

An official of the company, George D. Campbell notified the commissioners the firm mined 19,725 tons of coal at the Hampshire Mine and 5,478 tons at the Phoenix Mine during 1953. The depletion was based upon this tonnage.

The letter from the firm listed 27,405.80 tons mined at the Hampshire and 7,478.35 tons mined at the Phoenix Mine in 1952. The acreage for depletion purposes was listed at 11.628 in the report.

Provision for a 15-minute parking program for three cars in front of the Court House during the sale of new car tags was arranged yesterday by the commissioners with Police Commissioner John J. Long.

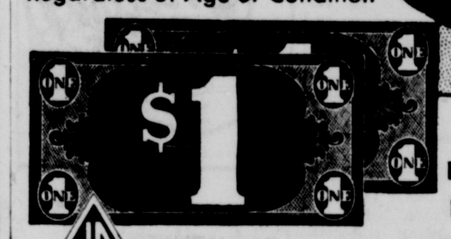

It was pointed out that there is no space ordinarily for motorists who go to the Court House to obtain their new tags and the allotment of three spaces on a 15-minute plan should work out.

The George Construction Company's offer to furnish and install a brass railing for the center of the steps in front of the Court House was accepted by the board. The steps are rather steep and the railing is a safety provision, the board commented.

Publicity Warning To State Prosecutors Is Suggested

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — Sen. Dippel (D-Balto 3rd) suggested legislative action today to caution Maryland prosecutors against too much publicity in criminal cases.

Dippel authored a resolution urging that each prosecutor conduct himself so "there shall never be any question raised in any criminal case that would tend to cast a doubt upon the complete impartiality of any trial conducted by him or his office."

The Baltimore senator referred without mentioning it by name to pre-trial publicity in the Baltimore case against G. Edward Grammer, later convicted of killing his wife in what first appeared to have been an auto accident.

In recent years, his resolution said, there have been instances "in which public remarks, discussions and television appearances by state's attorneys have caused grave doubts to arise concerning the impartial trial of a defendant." As a result, "this doubt had to be resolved by the Court of Appeals."

The main point in Grammer's move to have the State's high court reverse his conviction was that pre-trial publicity prevented him from getting a fair hearing. State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro of Baltimore and others had discussed the case publicly when Grammer was arrested.

The appeals court ruled that publicity had not doomed Grammer. Now the Supreme Court has been asked to decide the same question.

Dippel last year tried to silence state's attorneys almost completely by law but the Senate voted against his bill.

Judges Consider Doomed Man's New Trial Plea

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23 (AP)—A defense motion to strike out the hanging sentence against Sylvester Madison and to grant him a new trial was taken under study today by Judges S. Ralph Warnken, Herman M. Moser and Joseph R. Byrnes.

Madison was convicted of the robbery-murder of Zelig Gerstein, Baltimore grocer in April 1951. He was scheduled to hang last Friday, but Gov. McKeldin postponed the execution date when the defense said it had new evidence.

The defense said the principal prosecution witness, Delores Wooden, who placed Madison at the scene of the crime, had changed her mind and decided she was not sure she could identify Madison.

The state then filed an affidavit from the woman asserting her original testimony was valid.

Man Who Tarried To Pick Up Dice Game Pot Nabbed

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Five others in an alley dice game fled when the cops appeared but Melvin J. Jameson tarried to pick up the $9 pot.

He tarried too long, and was nabbed by Detective Grason Wigfield, who told the story to Magistrate Paul Ottinger today.

Ottinger sentenced Jameson, who said he was a cab driver from Washington, to two months in the county jail.

The nine bucks is in escrow, pending a possible appeal. It will be confiscated unless the conviction is reversed.

Democrats Rap Release By Dept. Of Information

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — Two Democratic senators today charged the Department of Information with putting out a press release for "political purposes."

Sen. Shehan (D-Talbot) said if it continues he "will be the first to vote to wipe out the department."

He and Majority Leader Goldstein (D-Calvert) criticized a news handout dated Feb. 19 quoting Albert W. Ward, secretary of the State Tax Commission, on the state property tax. The remarks were picked up from Ward's appearance on a radio broadcast directed by the information department.

The release was prepared by Earle R. Poorbaugh, department director, for a statewide mailing to newspapers.

Shehan said he thought it all right for Ward to tell his views on the radio, but Goldstein contended "if he wants to speak politically, he should do it on his own money."

The Talbot senator said Ward's comments carried in the information release were "not entirely true—a slanting of the whole thing."

Ward was quoted as making three points:

1. The real estate tax couldn't be abolished for at least 14 years because of outstanding bonds.

2. Taxes now being collected "are used entirely to pay off bonds issued by previous state administrations."

3. Contrary to what the news release called "the public's mistaken belief that all real estate taxes will be doubled," the State's portion is now only about 5¾ cents per $100 valuation. Local property levies are much higher.

Shehan snapped that the Department of Information "is supposed to publicize the good points of the state to bring people here to see and enjoy it. As a matter of fact, it is being used by this administration to further its ideas with taxpayer's funds."

Publicity Warning To State Prosecutors Is Suggested

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — Sen. Dippel (D-Balto 3rd) suggested legislative action today to caution Maryland prosecutors against too much publicity in criminal cases.

Dippel authored a resolution urging that each prosecutor conduct himself so "there shall never be any question raised in any criminal case that would tend to cast a doubt upon the complete impartiality of any trial conducted by him or his office."

The Baltimore senator referred without mentioning it by name to pre-trial publicity in the Baltimore case against G. Edward Grammer, later convicted of killing his wife in what first appeared to have been an auto accident.

In recent years, his resolution said, there have been instances "in which public remarks, discussions and television appearances by state's attorneys have caused grave doubts to arise concerning the impartial trial of a defendant." As a result, "this doubt had to be resolved by the Court of Appeals."

The main point in Grammer's move to have the State's high court reverse his conviction was that pre-trial publicity prevented him from getting a fair hearing. State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro of Baltimore and others had discussed the case publicly when Grammer was arrested.

The appeals court ruled that publicity had not doomed Grammer. Now the Supreme Court has been asked to decide the same question.

LaSalle Turns Back Beall, Ridgeley Defeats Fort Hill

Explorers Win 15th Of Season At Home, 65-57

Mountaineer Rally Falls Short; Nolan, Geatz Score 17 Each

BY TED TROXELL

Although the Beall Mountaineers lost to the LaSalle Explorers last night, 65-57, it was still a victory for Frostburg, as the dominantly Frostburg Explorers racked up their 15th win of the season on the SS. Peter and Paul floor.

The Explorers took the lead midway in the first quarter, and stayed out of trouble until the final period, when it appeared as if the Mountaineers might stage a repeat performance of the great comeback that enabled them to overcome a 16-point Allegany lead, and beat the Campers, earlier in the season.

LaSalle piled up a 10-point lead at the end of the half, 38-28, and when the third period drew to a close, the locals enjoyed a reasonably comfortable 14-point spread, 56-42, one of the largest leads they held throughout the entire contest.

Neither team was able to hit from the floor with any great regularity, the Explorers hitting on 24 of 77 tries, for a .312 percentage, while the Windy City five was able to find the range only 18 times in 67 attempts, for a mediocre mark of .268.

Nolan and Geatz, the only regular on the LaSalle five who does not hail from Frostburg, were the game's leading scorers, both of them banging in 17 tallies. Geatz also played a major part in the Explorers' success with his great rebound work.

Jim Sigler, and Dallas Chaney, a very able reserve, both connected on 50% of their shots, and wound up as the leading scorers for the losers, caging 15 points each.

The two teams will battle it out again next Tuesday, with the site of that contest being the Beall floor, where a capacity crowd is expected to be on hand, especially because of the inter-city rivalry involved.

The win was LaSalle's 15th in 21 starts this year. Beall's won-lost mark is 12-7.

Fort Hill Girls Notch 7th Win

Defeat Bruce High By Score Of 51-39

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 23 — Bruce High School's girls went down to defeat at the hands of Fort Hill's basketball sextet here today by the score of 51-39.

The loss was Bruce's fourth against as many wins. The locals have two more games on their schedule with Ursuline Academy. Fort Hill posted its 7th win in eight starts and winds up its season with Ursuline March 5.

Today's game was close throughout, Bruce leading at the quarter, 18-17 while the visitors were in front at halftime, 31-27, and also at the end of the third quarter, 36-28. Joanne Dickel and Pat Thompson sparked the Fort Hill attack with 25 and 17 tallies. Alma Grove was high scorer for Bruce with 24 markers. The lineups:

Blackhawks Avenge Earlier Loss; Both Teams Win 9 Of 21

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks brought their regular basketball season to a glorious close last night by smacking down the floo .en of Fort Hill High School on the Ridgeley court to the tune of 64-50.

Fort Hill won on its home court earlier in the season by the score of 50-34.

The Sentinels held a 30-26 lead at intermission but Coach Chester Payne's Blackhawks moved to the fore at 40-36 in the third quarter and poured in 24 tallies in the final heat while holding the Hilltoppers to 14.

Three substitutes, namely, Dick Bobo, Mike Zollner and Bob Bradley played outstanding ball for the Blackhawks in the final peroid after Kenny Hartman fouled out and Showers and Nield "rode the bench" after having four personals each.

Ridgeley's attack was paced by Fritz Showers who slammed in 21 points on seven field goals and 7-8 fouls. Phillips contributed 15 points and Hartman 10. Bo. Brant, center, who fouled out in the last quarter, headed Fort Hill's scorers with 14 tallies.

When the game ended the Fort Hill players carried Coach Payne off the court to the shower room but failed to dunk him because he was sporting a new suit.

Ridgeley closed its regular season with a 9-12 record the same as Fort Hill.

Fort Hill's Jayvees won the preliminary game, 44-34. Lineups:

MT. SAVAGE, Feb. 23 — Coach Johnny Thomas' Mt. Savage High School cagers averted a winless season in the W.M.I. Basketball League by knocking off the cagers of Valley High School, Lonaconing, in the grand finale tonight by the score of 56-43.

Mt. Savage had dropped nine in a row prior to tonight's contest.

At the halfway mark, Valley held a 25-24 lead but the locals sewed it up in the third quarter by outpointing the Black Knights 18 to 7. In the final heat, Mt. Savage continued to outscore the visitors, 14-11.

Ronnie Carter, Eddie Williams and Bill Clauson led the Mt. Savage offensive with 15, 13 and 10 points. Tod Cuthbertson and Bobby Mundeno sparked Valley with 11 points each.

Rams Lose, 86-68 In WVIC Tourney

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 23 (AP)—West Virginia Tech took a fast, evenly paced 86-68 first round victory from a fighting Shepherd squad here tonight, to open the annual state conference tourney program of 13 games.

Shepherd, which outfought Tech the entire first quarter and held a 14-15 lead going into the second period, wilted before the Golden Bears fast break and strong bench power.

Tech's Warren Dean lead all scorers with 16 points.

Shepherd's spark was Lee Seibert, who collected 15 before fouling out in the third period.

WHEN Dave Marple, Bruce High center, rang up 44 points against Valley High School last week he fell just eight points short of the W.M.I. League's one-game output of 52 established thirty years ago.

Holder of that record is John J. Long, now Cumberland police and fire commissioner. Long hung up the league all-time mark in his senior year at Allegany County High School on Greene Street.

Incidentally, the victim that night, March 22, 1924, was Bruce High School and the score was 76-11.

Johnny banged in 23 field goals and hooped 6 of 14 free throws.

It was also during the 1924 season that Marie Boyd of Central High, Lonaconing, posted 156 points in a single game—an all-time record for girls' basketball. On two other occasions the same season Marie scored 86 and 65 points.

FRIENDS of Russell L. Hockenbury in this section will be sorry to learn of the sudden death of his wife, Mrs. Anna Bailey Hockenbury, at Brunswick, Ga., several days ago.

Mrs. Hockenbury became ill in a restaurant while the couple was returning home after a Florida vacation.

Russell will be remembered as the popular secretary-treasurer of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League in which the Cumberland Colts were represented from 1925 through 1932. The Hockenburys are residents of Scottdale, Pa.

Irving "Babe" Millenson, of Cumberland, was the first secretary-treasurer of the Mid-Atlantic and served in that capacity during the 1925 and 1926 seasons. After he resigned Hockenbury got the appointment in 1927 and remained at

Selvy Scores 58

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Feb. 23 (INS) — Basketball's scoring king, Frank Selvy, ran his season total to 1,099 points tonight by scoring 58 points while Furman University defeated Wofford, 117 to 73, at Spartanburg.

Sixteen of Selvy's points tonight came on free throws, giving him a total of 327 for the season. This is but five points shy of the record 332 held by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle. O'Brien's record is the lone national major basketball mark which Selvy does not now own.

Elks Win Over Davis In Two Extra Periods

Basket By Sharpless Decides Game, 82-80

ELK GARDEN, W. Va., Feb. 23—A field goal by substitute guard Sharpless in a "sudden death" overtime period enabled Elk Garden to eke out an 82-80 verdict over Davis High School of Tucker County in a cage thriller here tonight.

The regulation game ended 73-73 and after one five-minute overtime period the teams still were deadlocked at 80-all. Then Sharpless' hook shot in the second extra period settled the issue in favor of Coach Paul Kalbaugh's Elks.

Joe Rhodes was high scorer for Elk Garden with 18 points. Charles Reel and Gilbert Streets chucked in 17 each, Dick Turner had 14 and John Parish 13.

Don Shure led the scoring procession for Davis with 11 field goals and 27 markers.

Streets of Elk Garden and Demott of Davis went out on personal fouls.

Elk Garden closed its regular season with a record of four wins and 16 losses. Davis won six and lost 14. Lineups:

Northern Quint Upsets Oakland

1,500 Witness 65-49 Contest At Oakland

ACCIDENT, Md., Feb. 23 — Northern High, Garrett county's Class "B" representative, provided a big surprise here tonight by upsetting Southern High of Oakland by the score of 65-49.

The victory enabled Northern to avenge an 81-58 loss at the hands of the Highlanders.

Approximately 1,500 fans crowded the Northern gym to see tonight's contest. The outcome of the game left the Garrett county championship race in a tie, each school having won one game.

Allen Georg headed the Northern attack with 19 points while Lambert Wright had 16 and Bob Murphy 15. Charley Dudbin was high man for Southern with 21 points and Larry Friend 13.

Southern's Jayvees won the preliminary game, 38-37. Lineups:

Scarlet Fever Outbreak Puts Potomac State Out Of Tourney

Basketball Players Not Afflicted; School Tourney Given O.K.

Officials of Potomac State College, Keyser, last night announced that the school's basketball team has withdrawn from the annual West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference tournament which started last night at Buckhannon due to an outbreak of scarlet fever.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts were scheduled to play Alderson-Broaddus in the final game of the opening round tonight on the West Virginia Wesleyan College court.

Potomac State's withdrawal was made public late yesterday by Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater of the public relations department.

Players Not Afflicted

There are presently two cases of scarlet fever on the Potomac State campus but none of the team members have been afflicted. However, Dr. Thad T. Huffman, school physician, said the "boys on the team have been definitely exposed."

The two students stricken over the weekend with the disease were not identified by the college.

Dr. Huffman said:

"We feel boys on the team have been definitely exposed and the period of incubation will not be up in time for them to go into the game. If they were to go into the game there could be serious repercussions. The boys might break out in scarlet fever and as a result have lifelong injuries and as carriers could give the disease to others."

No Epidemic, Doctor Says

Dr. Huffman declared that there is "no epidemic" and there are no more cases of scarlet fever in Keyser than any other community in the state. Five cases, he added, are now on record in Keyser, including the two on the campus."

The physician stated that every boy who has lived in the dormitory has been given a sulpha drug as a precaution and the stricken have been isolated in the college infirmary. To contract scarlet fever, Dr. Huffman said that a person must come in contact with somebody that has the disease.

Tourney Will Be Held

The physician said he saw no reason for the scarlet fever scare to cancel the West Virginia Class B sectional basketball tournament scheduled to open Thursday night at the Potomac State gymnasium. Scarlet fever germs don't live outside of the body more than 15 or 20 minutes and therefore could not be picked up by schoolboys using the gym later in the week, Dr. Huffman concluded.

Schools participating in the Sectional No. 16 tourney are Elk Garden, Piedmont, Fort Ashby, Ridgeley, Romney and West Virginia School for the Deaf.

LaSalle Turns Back Beall, Ridgeley Defeats Fort Hill

Explorers Win 15th Of Season At Home, 65-57

Mountaineer Rally Falls Short; Nolan, Geatz Score 17 Each

BY TED TROXELL

Although the Beall Mountaineers lost to the LaSalle Explorers last night, 65-57, it was still a victory for Frostburg, as the dominantly Frostburg Explorers racked up their 15th win of the season on the SS. Peter and Paul floor.

The Explorers took the lead midway in the first quarter, and stayed out of trouble until the final period, when it appeared as if the Mountaineers might stage a repeat performance of the great comeback that enabled them to overcome a 16-point Allegany lead, and beat the Campers, earlier in the season.

LaSalle piled up a 10-point lead at the end of the half, 38-28, and when the third period drew to a close, the locals enjoyed a reasonably comfortable 14-point spread, 56-42, one of the largest leads they held throughout the entire contest.

Neither team was able to hit from the floor with any great regularity, the Explorers hitting on 24 of 77 tries, for a .312 percentage, while the Windy City five was able to find the range only 18 times in 67 attempts, for a mediocre mark of .268.

Nolan and Geatz, the only regular on the LaSalle five who does not hail from Frostburg, were the game's leading scorers, both of them banging in 17 tallies. Geatz also played a major part in the Explorers' success with his great rebound work.

Jim Sigler, and Dallas Chaney, a very able reserve, both connected on 50% of their shots, and wound up as the leading scorers for the losers, caging 15 points each.

The two teams will battle it out again next Tuesday, with the site of that contest being the Beall floor, where a capacity crowd is expected to be on hand, especially because of the inter-city rivalry involved.

The win was LaSalle's 15th in 21 starts this year. Beall's won-lost mark is 12-7.

Fort Hill Girls Notch 7th Win

Defeat Bruce High By Score Of 51-39

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 23 — Bruce High School's girls went down to defeat at the hands of Fort Hill's basketball sextet here today by the score of 51-39.

The loss was Bruce's fourth against as many wins. The locals have two more games on their schedule with Ursuline Academy. Fort Hill posted its 7th win in eight starts and winds up its season with Ursuline March 5.

Today's game was close throughout, Bruce leading at the quarter, 18-17 while the visitors were in front at halftime, 31-27, and also at the end of the third quarter, 36-28. Joanne Dickel and Pat Thompson sparked the Fort Hill attack with 25 and 17 tallies. Alma Grove was high scorer for Bruce with 24 markers. The lineups:

Blackhawks Avenge Earlier Loss; Both Teams Win 9 Of 21

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks brought their regular basketball season to a glorious close last night by smacking down the floor on Fort Hill High School on the Ridgeley court to the tune of 64-50.

Fort Hill won on its home court earlier in the season by the score of 50-34.

The Sentinels held a 30-26 lead at intermission but Coach Chester Payne's Blackhawks moved to the fore at 40-36 in the third quarter and poured in 24 tallies in the final heat while holding the Hilltoppers to 14.

Three substitutes, namely, Dick Bobo, Mike Zollner and Bob Bradley played outstanding ball for the Blackhawks in the final peroid after Kenny Hartman fouled out and Showers and Nield "rode the bench" after having four personals each.

Ridgeley's attack was paced by Fritz Showers who slammed in 21 points on seven field goals and 7-8 fouls. Phillips contributed 15 points and Hartman 10. Bo. Brant, center, who fouled out in the last quarter, headed Fort Hill's scorers with 14 tallies.

When the game ended the Fort Hill players carried Coach Payne off the court to the shower room but failed to dunk him because he was sporting a new suit.

Ridgeley closed its regular season with a 9-12 record the same as Fort Hill.

Rams Lose, 86-68 In WVIC Tourney

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 23 (AP)—West Virginia Tech took a fast, evenly paced 86-68 first round victory from a fighting Shepherd squad here tonight, to open the annual state conference tourney program of 13 games.

Shepherd, which outfought Tech the entire first quarter and held a 14-15 lead going into the second period, wilted before the Golden Bears fast break and strong bench power.

Tech's Warren Dean lead all scorers with 16 points.

Shepherd's spark was Lee Seibert, who collected 15 before fouling out in the third period.

WHEN Dave Marple, Bruce High center, rang up 44 points against Valley High School last week he fell just eight points short of the W.M.I. League's one-game output of 52 established thirty years ago.

Holder of that record is John J. Long, now Cumberland police and fire commissioner. Long hung up the league all-time mark in his senior year at Allegany County High School on Greene Street.

Incidentally, the victim that night, March 22, 1924, was Bruce High School and the score was 76-11.

Johnny banged in 23 field goals and hooped 6 of 14 free throws.

It was also during the 1924 season that Marie Boyd of Central High, Lonaconing, posted 156 points in a single game—an all-time record for girls' basketball. On two other occasions the same season Marie scored 86 and 65 points.

FRIENDS of Russell L. Hockenbury in this section will be sorry to learn of the sudden death of his wife, Mrs. Anna Bailey Hockenbury, at Brunswick, Ga., several days ago.

Mrs. Hockenbury became ill in a restaurant while the couple was returning home after a Florida vacation.

Russell will be remembered as the popular secretary-treasurer of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League in which the Cumberland Colts were represented from 1925 through 1932. The Hockenburys are residents of Scottdale, Pa.

Irving "Babe" Millenson, of Cumberland, was the first secretary-treasurer of the Mid-Atlantic and served in that capacity during the 1925 and 1926 seasons. After he resigned Hockenbury got the appointment in 1927 and remained at

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Feb. 23 (INS) — Basketball's scoring king, Frank Selvy, ran his season total to 1,099 points tonight by scoring 58 points while Furman University defeated Wofford, 117 to 73, at Spartanburg.

Sixteen of Selvy's points tonight came on free throws, giving him a total of 327 for the season. This is but five points shy of the record 332 held by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle. O'Brien's record is the lone national major basketball mark which Selvy does not now own.

Elks Win Over Davis In Two Extra Periods

Basket By Sharpless Decides Game, 82-80

ELK GARDEN, W. Va., Feb. 23 —A field goal by substitute guard Sharpless in a "sudden death" overtime period enabled Elk Garden to eke out an 82-80 verdict over Davis High School of Tucker County in a cage thriller here tonight.

The regulation game ended 73-73 and after one five-minute overtime period the teams still were deadlocked at 80-all. Then Sharpless' hook shot in the second extra period settled the issue in favor of Coach Paul Kalbaugh's Elks.

Joe Rhodes was high scorer for Elk Garden with 18 points. Charles Reel and Gilbert Streets chucked in 17 each, Dick Turner had 14 and John Parish 13.

Don Shure led the scoring procession for Davis with 11 field goals and 27 markers.

Streets of Elk Garden and Demott of Davis went out on personal fouls.

Elk Garden closed its regular season with a record of four wins and 16 losses. Davis won six and lost 14. Lineups:

Northern Quint Upsets Oakland

1,500 Witness 65-49 Contest At Oakland

ACCIDENT, Md., Feb. 23 — Northern High, Garrett county's Class "B" representative, provided a big surprise here tonight by upsetting Southern High of Oakland by the score of 65-49.

The victory enabled Northern to avenge an 81-58 loss at the hands of the Highlanders.

Approximately 1,500 fans crowded the Northern gym to see tonight's contest. The outcome of the game left the Garrett county championship race in a tie, each school having won one game.

Allen Georg headed the Northern attack with 19 points while Lambert Wright had 16 and Bob Murphy 15. Charley Dudbin was high man for Southern with 21 points and Larry Friend 13.

Southern's Jayvees won the preliminary game, 38-37. Lineups:

Legion Shufflers Win

Frostburg American Legion won three games from Cas Taylor's last night in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League. Phyllis Geis led Frostburg with 29 points while Ann Fletcher and Betty England of Cas Taylor's tied for high with 12s.

Scarlet Fever Outbreak Puts Potomac State Out Of Tourney

Basketball Players Not Afflicted; School Tourney Given O.K.

Officials of Potomac State College, Keyser, last night announced that the school's basketball team has withdrawn from the annual West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference tournament which started last night at Buckhannon due to an outbreak of scarlet fever.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts were scheduled to play Alderson-Broaddus in the final game of the opening round tonight on the West Virginia Wesleyan College court.

Potomac State's withdrawal was made public late yesterday by Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater of the public relations department.

Players Not Afflicted

There are presently two cases of scarlet fever on the Potomac State campus but none of the team members have been afflicted. However, Dr. Thad T. Huffman, school physician, said the "boys on the team have been definitely exposed."

The two students stricken over the weekend with the disease were not identified by the college.

Dr. Huffman said:

"We feel boys on the team have been definitely exposed and the period of incubation will not be up in time for them to go into the game. If they were to go into the game there could be serious repercussions. The boys might break out in scarlet fever and as a result have lifelong injuries and as carriers could give the disease to others."

No Epidemic, Doctor Says

Dr. Huffman declared that there is "no epidemic" and there are no more cases of scarlet fever in Keyser than any other community in the state. Five cases, he added, are now on record in Keyser, including the two on the campus."

The physician stated that every boy who has lived in the dormitory has been given a sulpha drug as a precaution and the stricken have been isolated in the college infirmary. To contract scarlet fever, Dr. Huffman said that a person must come in contact with somebody that has the disease.

Tourney Will Be Held

The physician said he saw no reason for the scarlet fever scare to cancel the West Virginia Class B sectional basketball tournament scheduled to open Thursday night at the Potomac State gymnasium. Scarlet fever germs don't live outside of the body more than 15 or 20 minutes and therefore could not be picked up by schoolboys using the gym later in the week, Dr. Huffman concluded.

Schools participating in the Sectional No. 16 tourney are Elk Garden, Piedmont, Fort Ashby, Ridgeley, Romney and West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Hancock Cops Thriller

HANCOCK, Md., Feb. 23 — Hancock High staved off a desperate Paw Paw rally here tonight, and pulled out a thrilling 48-46 victory over the Pirates.

With the score tied, 46-46, and just 35 seconds remaining in the game, Bishop, Hancock forward, calmly converted two fouls to give the Marylanders the win.

Martinsburg, Keyser Open "A" Sectional Series Tonight

Sixth Annual Series Starts In Keyser Gym

Bulldogs Hold 3-2 Edge; Winning Team Goes To Fairmont

Coach John Shelton's Keyser High School Golden Tornado and the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs meet tonight at Keyser in the opener of a best-of-three series to determine the Class "A" champion of West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle.

These annual series were inaugurated in 1949 and in the five conducted to date, Martinsburg leads three to two. All of the series went the limit of three games with the exception of the 1951 tests in which Keyser was returned the victor in two straight. Martinsburg won in 1949 and 1950, Keyser evened it up by winning in 1951 and 1952 and the Bulldogs emerged the victor last year by copping the rubber game of the series, 52-48.

Winner Goes To Fairmont

The Keyser-Martinsburg series determine the championship of Section 11, Region 3. The winner advances to the Region 3 tourney at Fairmont State College, March 11, 12 and 13. There the winner qualifies for the eight-team state championship event at the West Virginia University Field House, Morgantown, March 18, 19 and 20.

Martinsburg will play host to Keyser in the second game on March 2 while the third game, if necessary, will be staged in Keyser March 4.

Martinsburg, coached by George Whitacre, had won 15 and lost 3 prior to its Monday night game in Waynesboro, Pa. The Golden Tornado has won 12 of 18 contests.

The contest will get under way at 8 o'clock with Bill Hahn and Ray Hull as the officials.

Tonight the first of the Class "B" sectionals in eastern West Virginia is scheduled to open at Martinsburg where a single game is billed between Charles Town and Shepherdstown. Other teams in this tournament (Section 13, Region 4) are Harpers Ferry, Hedgesville and Musselman, the only undefeated high school in the state this season with a 13-0 record. This tourney draws to a close Friday night.

Hyndman At Mt. Savage

Other games on tap in the area tonight Charles Town at Howard and Mt. Savage at Hyndman. In the latter contest Hyndman, featuring Bruce May, the tri-state area's top scorer, the Hornets will be angling for their 18th victory in 26 outings. Mt. Savage has suffered 14 losses against three wins.

Training Camp Notes

DETROIT, Feb. 23 (AP)—Fred Hatfield, who hopes to be the Detroit Tigers regular second baseman this year, agreed to terms today.

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Southpaw pitcher Mel Parnell again was among the missing today and Boston Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau expressed mystification.

"I misunderstood when I said that Parnell was en route," he told baseball writers. "As I understand now Joe (General Manager Cronin) hasn't heard from him recently. Two or three days extra work would help Parnell."

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Instead of driving baseballs over the fences, the Detroit Tigers were throwing at 'em today.

Coach Schoolboy Rowe, one-time Tiger pitching great, had a half-dozen "bulls-eyes" painted on the outfield wall. They were shaped like home plate and were painted at a spot high enough off the ground to correspond to a batter's knees.

Rowe had all the rookie hurlers in camp spending the afternoon throwing at the targets.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Maury McDermott, an 18-game winner for Boston last year, was making it clear today that he's delighted he'll be doing most of his pitching this season in the Washington Senators' spacious ball park.

"It will be wonderful to see those pop flies caught instead of soaring over the fence for home runs," McDermott said.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23 (AP)—Paul Smith signed a 1954 contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates today, raising to 40 the number in the fold. Smith, who played at first base and in the outfield, batted .283 for the Pirates last season.

Navy, Fordham, Notre Dame Get Berths In NCAA

Playoffs Scheduled To Start On March 9

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—Notre Dame, Navy and Fordham were selected today to play in the National Collegiate basketball championship playoffs that get underway March 9.

All three also were chosen as at-large teams last year. They join Bradley, Oklahoma City and Seattle universities as at-large selections for the 24-team bracket of the 16th annual national championships. Other schools already in the field are Toledo, winner of the Mid-America Conference title; LaSalle, Middle Atlantic champion, and Idaho State, Rocky Mountain Conference winner.

Notre Dame, sixth ranking team in the nation with a 17-2 record, will join Toledo and two other at-large teams in a doubleheader at Fort Wayne, Ind., on March 9 to get the huge field under way, Douglas R. Mills, athletic director at Illinois and chairman of the NCAA Eastern Selection Committee announced.

Navy, now sporting a 16-6 record, and Fordham (17-4) will join LaSalle and the yet undecided New England Conference winner in another twin bill at a site to be selected soon. Pairings will be made later this week for this doubleheader, too, Mills said.

LaSalle, Navy, Fordham and the New England Conference winners will be battling for the right to go to the Eastern regional at the University of Pennsylvania, also on March 12-13.

Chief Wilson, Former Pirate Star, Dies

BERTRAM, Tex., Feb. 23 (AP)—John Owen (Chief) Wilson, 70, former major league outfielder, died unexpectedly yesterday while working in a pasture on his ranch near here.

Wilson set a National League record for triples, hitting 36 in 1912 while with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He also played for the St. Louis Cardinals during his eight years in the big leagues.

To Make Pairings

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 23 (AP)—The Southern Conference Basketball Committee will meet here Sunday to make pairings for its tournament at Morgantown, W. Va., March 4, 5 and 6.

George Washington has already won first place in the regular season's standings. Tournament berths have also been filled by six other clubs, including Furman, Richmond, William and Mary, Virginia Military, West Virginia and Davidson. The eighth and final tournament team will be determined in games this week.

New York Yanks Sell Raschi To St. Louis Cardinals

Champs Get $75,000 For Holdout Hurler

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—New York's five-time world champion Yankees sold Vic Raschi, holdout right handed pitcher, to the St. Louis Cardinals today for an estimated $75,000 with the announcement that "some of the players acted as if they were the employers and the club the employe."

"I don't want to make Raschi the whipping boy," said George Weiss, Yankee general manager, "but there is an attitude of complacency on the club. Some of the players have become independently wealthy through the winning of five straight world championships."

Raschi, whose 120 victories and 50 defeats made him the best pitcher in the majors by statistics, officially became a holdout yesterday when Yankee pitchers were to have reported for spring practice. He has been here for some time but avoided meeting club officials. After the deal, Raschi said he was happy and would contact his new bosses at once.

Yankees To Get Players

The purchase price was not divulged but it was understood to be $75,000 with a part of it to be paid in young, unidentified talent.

Although he won only 13 games last year while losing six, Raschi received an estimated $40,000. Weiss said that the 1954 salary offered the 34-year-old pitcher was less than that and that Raschi had refused to sign.

"Some of the players don't seem to realize, or will not admit, that the club itself had something to do with our winning streak," Weiss said before adding that falling attendance in New York and the rise in the cost of operating the farm system made it necessary to keep salaries in line. It was the first time the present owners of the Yankees, Del Webb and Dan Topping, had sold a player for cash.

Stanky Tickled Silly

Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards was "tickled silly" about the deal that gave him another dependable starter.

"I had only Gerry Staley and Harvey Haddix to call starters," he said. "Now I have three."

Raschi didn't know about the deal until informed by a photographer as he returned from the fishing docks at Passe-a-Grille on the St. Petersburg beaches. He had no hint that any such move was in the wind. In fact, he appeared almost stunned by the news.

"I regret leaving all my friends with the Yankees," he said. "I have been with them since I was 16 when I signed an agreement as a high school freshman at Springfield, Mass. They sent me through William and Mary."

Three Hit Homers

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' first spring practice session cost Manager Charlie Grimm three boxes of cigars.

The rotund skipper had promised a box to any player who hit the ball out of the park during batting practice—and pitchers Jim Wilson and Phil Paine and catcher Del Crandall—obliged.

Roberts Still Unsigned

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23 (AP)—Star pitcher Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies held a lengthy conference with Owner Bob Carpenter today but the two failed to agree on Roberts' 1954 salary.

A Phillies spokesman said Roberts, who won 23 and lost 16 last year, and Carpenter, would meet again at the end of the week.

BERTRAM, Tex., Feb. 23 (AP)—John Owen (Chief) Wilson, 70, former major league outfielder, died unexpectedly yesterday while working in a pasture on his ranch near here.

Wilson set a National League record for triples, hitting 36 in 1912 while with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He also played for the St. Louis Cardinals during his eight years in the big leagues.

To Make Pairings

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 23 (AP)—The Southern Conference Basketball Committee will meet here Sunday to make pairings for its tournament at Morgantown, W. Va., March 4, 5 and 6.

George Washington has already won first place in the regular season's standings. Tournament berths have also been filled by six other clubs, including Furman, Richmond, William and Mary, Virginia Military, West Virginia and Davidson. The eighth and final tournament team will be determined in games this week.

New York Yanks Sell Raschi To St. Louis Cardinals

Champs Get $75,000 For Holdout Hurler

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—New York's five-time world champion Yankees sold Vic Raschi, holdout right handed pitcher, to the St. Louis Cardinals today for an estimated $75,000 with the announcement that "some of the players acted as if they were the employers and the club the employe."

"I don't want to make Raschi the whipping boy," said George Weiss, Yankee general manager, "but there is an attitude of complacency on the club. Some of the players have become independently wealthy through the winning of five straight world championships."

Raschi, whose 120 victories and 50 defeats made him the best pitcher in the majors by statistics, officially became a holdout yesterday when Yankee pitchers were to have reported for spring practice. He has been here for some time but avoided meeting club officials. After the deal, Raschi said he was happy and would contact his new bosses at once.

Yankees To Get Players

The purchase price was not divulged but it was understood to be $75,000 with a part of it to be paid in young, unidentified talent.

Although he won only 13 games last year while losing six, Raschi received an estimated $40,000. Weiss said that the 1954 salary offered the 34-year-old pitcher was less than that and that Raschi had refused to sign.

"Some of the players don't seem to realize, or will not admit, that the club itself had something to do with our winning streak," Weiss said before adding that falling attendance in New York and the rise in the cost of operating the farm system made it necessary to keep salaries in line. It was the first time the present owners of the Yankees, Del Webb and Dan Topping, had sold a player for cash.

Stanky Tickled Silly

Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards was "tickled silly" about the deal that gave him another dependable starter.

"I had only Gerry Staley and Harvey Haddix to call starters," he said. "Now I have three."

Raschi didn't know about the deal until informed by a photographer as he returned from the fishing docks at Passe-a-Grille on the St. Petersburg beaches. He had no hint that any such move was in the wind. In fact, he appeared almost stunned by the news.

"I regret leaving all my friends with the Yankees," he said. "I have been with them since I was 16 when I signed an agreement as a high school freshman at Springfield, Mass. They sent me through William and Mary."

Three Hit Homers

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves' first spring practice session cost Manager Charlie Grimm three boxes of cigars.

The rotund skipper had promised a box to any player who hit the ball out of the park during batting practice—and pitchers Jim Wilson and Phil Paine and catcher Del Crandall—obliged.

Roberts Still Unsigned

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23 (AP)—Star pitcher Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies held a lengthy conference with Owner Bob Carpenter today but the two failed to agree on Roberts' 1954 salary.

A Phillies spokesman said Roberts, who won 23 and lost 16 last year, and Carpenter, would meet again at the end of the week.

Mink Stole

GET THAT Million Dollar LOOK . . . .
FROM THE Million Dollar BEER!

NO EMPLOYEE OF THE BREWERY or its advertising agency nor any wholesaler or retailer or their employees selling Old German Beer is eligible to win the mink stole.

For the last time this month Old German Beer will give away a natural ranch mink stole of matchless beauty, worth hundreds & hundreds of dollars. Old German, the beer that's so dry, so light, so smooth, so fine that its formula is insured for one million dollars, is giving away the one garment that provides a million dollar appearance.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO:

Examine Old German bottle caps. Pry up the cork lining—it's easy with a key or nail file—and you'll find a letter there. Save your letters till you can spell out O-L-D G-E-R-M-A-N. Then send all nine letters or reasonable facsimiles thereof to Queen City Brewing Co., Cumberland, Md., before midnight, Feb. 28th. In the same envelope complete this statement in 10 words or less "I prefer Old German Beer because . . ." Winning entry each month will be judged on basis of accuracy, cleverness and clarity. It is not necessary to buy the beer from which the caps come in order to win. The letter will be found in cap-sealed bottles or cans. Judges have no connection with Brewery and their decision is final.

Ridgeley Post Backs Legion Drive For Korea Vets Bonus

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, went on record this week supporting the West Virginia Department of the Legion in its effort to secure a state bonus for veterans of the Korean conflict.

Officers said the Department is endeavoring to have the Legislature pass a bill providing a bonus for Korean veterans, similar to the one already in effect for veterans of World War II.

At a special meeting called Monday by Commander K. Albert Wolfe, a committee was named to attend the 10th West Virginia District Legion meeting held yesterday at Keyser.

Also named was a committee to take charge and plan for the annual homecoming celebration slated this year for July 26 to 31.

On the committee are Roland Showers Sr., K. Albert Wolfe, James Dittner, Roland S. Tabler, Joseph Bowers, Paul McFarland, Charles P. Day, Archie Lough, Paul Baker and Raymond V. Hershberger.

The Ridgeley Legion members made plans to celebrate the 35th anniversary of the American Legion on Monday, March 15, with a birthday celebration at the post home.

Officers announced that the ladies auxiliary will hold a shrimp feed this Saturday at 5 p. m. at the post home. Funds realized from the feed will go to the March of Dimes fund to fight polio.

Local Man Gets National Award

Record 1953 sales in this area of face-amount investment certificates and mutual fund shares have won national recognition for Louis D. Baldwin, local production leader for Investors Diversified Services, Inc., Minneapolis.

Baldwin will be given an award for the top sales and service achievements qualifying him for membership in the I.D.S. President's Club, an annual honor roll of the company's leading representatives.

He won the membership award in competition with the firm's nationwide securities distribution organization of more than 2,000 representatives who serve more than 600,000 certificate holders and mutual fund share owners from coast to coast, Robert W. Purcell, chairman of I.D.S., said.

Grady Clark, vice president and general sales manager of the company, said the awards reflected a record year of greatly increased investor activity. Sales of both face-amount investment certificates and mutual fund shares distributed by the company increased across the nation, Clark added.

State License Tag Sale Tops Last Year

Sale of 1954-55 Maryland automobile license tags started off on a faster pace than a year ago in the office of Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat in the Allegany County Court House.

Treat reported that 274 were sold yesterday compared to 266 on the first day of sale a year ago. The new tags may not be attached until Monday, March 1, and must be on by midnight Wednesday, March 31.

Meeting Set Today

A committee working on the classification of city jobs will meet today at 9 a. m. with supervisors of the Street and Sewer Departments.

The work of evaluating the tasks performed by city personnel is being done by Henry Lowery, of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Walter N. Hedrick, of the Celanese Corporation's Amcelle plant, and W. Eric Gibbs, of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Area Man Hurt

Marshall Collins, 32, of RD 3, Valley Road, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering a possible ankle fracture following a fall at his home.

Attaches last night said he was brought to the hospital about 4:45 p. m. and was admitted for X-rays.

PTA Meets Tonight

The Carver School PTA will hold a social tonight at 8 o'clock in the school cafeteria. Refreshments will be served.

PTA Board To Meet

East Side School PTA executive board will meet at 7:30 p. m. today in the school.

Sale Of Brady House Is Being Sought

A petition asking Circuit Court to order the sale of the Brady House in Lonaconing has been filed by Thomas B. Finan, attorney for two of the heirs of the Patrick Doolan estate.

The petition states that Patrick Doolan died in 1946 and the will provided that William Kelly and his wife, Antoinette, operate the hotel part of the establishment while Edward G. Atkinson and his wife, Margaret, be the owners of the bar in the building.

Finan in his petition states that the will had a clause stating that the property could be sold seven years after probating of the document if the heirs so desired. It is stated that the Kellys and Atkinsons cannot agree on the sale of the property or its present operation.

During the heyday of the coal industry in the Georges Creek region the Brady House was a noted hostelry. The building was purchased by the Brady family in 1873 from the Georges Creek Coal Company.

It is the only hotel in Lonaconing.

Church Education Building Dedication Is Set Friday

Program Scheduled At 7:30 P. M. At Lonaconing Presbyterian Manse

LONACONING — Dedication of the Christian Education Building of the First Presbyterian Church, Lonaconing, will be Friday, February 26, at 7:30 p. m., with the Rev. Chalmers H. Goshorn, pastor, in charge of the affair.

Music will be presented by the Adult Choir with Miss Verna Miller, directress of music and Miss Dorothy Brown, organist. Adams' "How Pleasant Is Thy Dwelling Place" will be the opening anthem.

Introduction will be given by the Rev. Goshorn; scripture and prayer (in unison) will follow. The unveiling of painted symbols: the Calvinistic Seal, the Communion Chalice, and the Celtic Cross by the artist, Mrs. James L. Ziler, will take place.

There will be presentation of William Marshall and Walter N. Yoder, who constructed the new addition; followed by presentation of the Christian Education Building by the Board of Trustees, Robert D. Peebles, president.

Acceptance by the Session in behalf of the church will be made by Lowell M. Sowers, Clerk of Session. The Dedicatory Prayer will be offered by the Rev. Ralph S. Illingsworth, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Frostburg.

"Lighting of Candles" will be the ceremony by the pastor for Christ (white); by Lowell M. Sowers, clerk, for the church (blue); by Mrs. Robert Robertson for Home (orange); J. Thomas Ritchie, superintendent, for the church school (green); Miss Peggy Wills, moderator, for the Westminster Fellowship (red).

Committee of recognition and thanks will be presented by Mrs. George Gardner, chairman. Wilson's "Great and Marvelous Are Thy Works" will be an anthem.

An address will be given by Rev. Robert S. Meyer, pastor of the Church of the Savior and Founder of Boys' Haven, Baltimore. The hymn, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord" will be sung.

Benediction will be given by the Rev. Walter Veasel, secretary of the Lonaconing Ministerium.

Deaths

DR. GEORGE SMITH

PARSONS — Word has been received here of the death of Dr. George W. Smith, 79, a resident of Ohio, and native of Tucker County, who died in a hospital in Canton on Thursday following an illness of three weeks.

He was born at Flanagan Hill, in Tucker County, and was a son of the late Isaac and Clorinda (Carr) Smith. He taught school for four years before he started the study of medicine. He was graduated from the University of Maryland and took post graduate work at the Chicago Polyclinic Hospital and the New York Medical School.

Dr. Smith began his practice in Davis. He later went to Canton where he was a member of the Trinity Reformed Church; Stark County Medical Association; Canton Academy of Medicine, Ohio State and American Medical Association and a National Medical Association.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ethel Culler, three sisters, Mrs. Robert Teter of Parsons; Mrs. Alfred Johnson of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Margaret Judy, of Parsons; one brother, Dr. F. N. Smith of Harlingen, Texas. Dr. Smith retired from active practice of medicine only six months ago.

ENOCH J. SILVER

MOUNDSVILLE — A requiem mass was celebrated Monday in Church of St. Francis Xavier for Enoch J. Silver, 45, who died at Glen Dale Hospital. Interment was in Halcyon Hills Memorial Gardens.

He was born September 30, 1908 in Thomas, a son of Mrs. Catherine Silver and the late John Silver. Survivors include his widow, two children, five sisters, a brother and a grandchild.

MRS. WILLIAM O. SMILEY

PIEDMONT — A funeral service for Mrs. Edna Mae Smiley, 44, wife of William O. Smiley, 8 Oak Street, who died Monday, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Bloomington Methodist Church.

Rev. Leroy Imperio, pastor of Elk Garden Church of God, and Rev. Edwin Smith, pastor of Bloomington Church, will officiate. Interment will be in the Bernard Cemetery near Chestnut Grove, Garrett County.

The body is at the residence.

HENRY PYLE

FROSTBURG — Henry Pyle, 86, Boswell, Pa., father of Mrs. Weaver Turner, Star Route, died Sunday in Somerset Community Hospital where he had been a patient three weeks.

His wife, the former Mary Alice Tipton, preceded him in death.

Survivors include two other daughters, Mrs. Pearl Holder, Alexandria, Va., and Mrs. Emma Dickson, Lewistown, Pa.; four sons, Elmer and Arthur Pyle, Boswell; William and Harrison Pyle, Homer City, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Elsie LaRue, Meyersdale; Mrs. Jeannette Laye, Canton, Ohio, and Mrs. Ev[illegible]very, Pittsburgh; two brothers, Charles Pyle, Boynton, Pa., and How[illegible] Pyle, Canton; 38 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

Services will be held today at 2 p. m. in Boswell. Burial will be in Jenners Crossroads Cemetery there.

An estimated 27 per cent of all married women in the United States hold jobs.

Rev. Yingling Is Installed At St. Paul's Ceremonies

FROSTBURG — A reception for Rev. and Mrs. Yingling was held Monday evening at the church with U. B. F. Edwards presiding. Rev. Yingling was installed Sunday as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The program included vocal selections by the church choir, under direction of Harry Crow, with Hugh Watson, organist, playing the accompaniments. Vocal trios were by Mrs. Betty Blair, Mrs. Marion Charles and Richard Green, and welcoming addresses were by Rev. John B. Jones, Rev. George L. Wehler, Rev. Ralph Illingworth, Dr. Paul V. Taylor and Rev. J. F. Zimmerman. Responses to the addresses of welcome were delivered by Rev. Yingling and his father, William Yingling, of Baltimore.

Refreshments were served by the Ladies Guild of the church.

The Sunday installation services included an address to the pastor by Rev. Robert E. Cassell, pastor of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, Westernport and an address to the congregation by Rev. Frederick T. Eckert who is pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Cumberland. The official installation of the newly elected pastor was conducted by Dr. J. Frank Fife, president of the Maryland Synod.

Rev. Yingling made a brief address asking for the cooperation of the congregation. Two anthems were rendered by the church choir under the direction of Harry Crow, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," and "Be Still And Know." The soloists were Glyn Geis, tenor; Mrs. Betty Blair, soprano, and Richard Green, baritone. The organ accompaniments were by Hugh Watson.

The services were largely attended by members of the three congregations whose ministers took part in the ceremonies.

Rev. Yingling was a classmate of Rev. Cassell and Rev. Eckert at Gettysburg College and at the Lutheran Theological Seminary. He is a veteran of World War II, having served for 30 months with the army medical corps in the Pacific Theatre of operations. Prior to accepting the pastorate of the Frostburg church, he had charge of a Lutheran Parish with headquarters in Lovettsville, Va.

Beer License Hearing Set

A hearing is scheduled for the licensee Class D beer license holder at the Manhattan Hotel in Oakland before the Garrett County Board of License Commissioners.

The board revoked the beer license at the hotel after the license holder at the Manhattan and four other places of business accused of violating county liquor laws pleaded guilty when given hearings before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland.

At that time James McNelis and Richard Sheehe both entered pleas of guilty to selling whisky at the Manhattan Hotel and both were fined $500 and costs.

The Manhattan and three other places had their permits revoked while the other had its license suspended for four months.

Last week attorneys for Margaret Fay Sheehe, the licensee at the Manhattan, filed in Garrett County Circuit Court a petition asking a review of the board's action in revoking the hotel's permit.

Study Course Opens

FROSTBURG — Rev. Sidney S. Aldrich, pastor of Eckhart Baptist Church, is the teacher of a study course entitled "Found Faithful," which opened Monday at First English Baptist Church.

The course is sponsored by the Training Union of the church. The last two sessions will be Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. The course is open to the public.

Grain Ordered For Farmers

PARSONS, W. Va.—The Tucker County drought committee met at the Court House on Thursday afternoon with George Kisner, chairman, present along with W. Denzil Kee, cashier of the Tucker County Bank as bank representative; Okey Stiles, representing the farmers; G. E. Adams, FHA Field representative and Carl Hardin, county agent.

Kisner received word that a carload of drought wheat has been shipped from Wisconsin and should arrive in Parsons next week. The members voted to order a carload of corn and an additional carload of wheat. The feed is being made available at a reduced price to all eligible farmers of Tucker County who do not have enough grain to winter their stock.

The committee has already distributed a carload of corn and a carload of cotton seed meal. The farmers have also been able to obtain mixed dairy feed at a reduced price through the drought committee.

Mineral County Prepares New Clinic Setup

School-Age Children's Program Is Underway

KEYSER — A new plan for conducting immunization clinics in Mineral County this year for pre-school age children, has been adopted, the county Board of Education has announced. Instead of the former plan of conducting clinics in each of the schools of the county there will be group plans for the various areas in the county.

The West Virginia law specifies that all children must be immunized against diphtheria and successfully vaccinated against smallpox before entering school and because one of the objectives of public health is prevention of disease through immunization, the clinical plan is being adopted and made available for all pre-school children.

In announcing the new plan, the county school officials say fewer clinics will be conducted this year, but with a system that can care for all in a much better way than heretofore.

All Children Under Plan

All children from five months to school age come under the pre-school immunization plan. The health authorities urge parents to aid in having their children immunized through physical examinations, to determine that the child is physically and emotionally ready to take part in a school curriculum.

Parents are reminded by the local board that children who have not previously been immunized against diphtheria must receive three injections of diphtheria toxoid, each of them four weeks apart, to be considered adequately immunized. This means three visits to an immunization clinic or to a private physician, covering a period of two months.

It is a rule of the Mineral County Board of Education that these immunizations be completed before opening of school in September.

Principals of the schools have been instructed that children whose immunizations are not complete before the first day of school are to be excluded from school until they are satisfactorily immunized. It is a recognized practice to immunize in the spring of the year, in order that the series of inoculations may be completed before hot weather. With that thought in mind, county immunization clinics have been started in February and will continue with the second and third of the series in March and April.

The schedule of clinics to be conducted this spring for the first series includes:

Schedule Is Set Up

Burlington—at the school library, March 1 at 1:30 p. m.

Elk Garden—at high school home economics room, March 3, at 1 p. m.

Lonaconing Graduate Plays Uncle Louis In College Show

DAVID DUNN

FROSTBURG — David Dunn, a sophomore from Lonaconing, plays the part of Uncle Louis in the forthcoming production of Little Theatre of Frostburg State Teachers College. The play is "The Happy Time" by Samuel Taylor and is adapted from stories by Robert Fontaine.

It will be staged February 26 in the college auditorium. Uncle Louis is a lovable character who drinks wine from a water cooler which he has with him all of the time. He loves to loaf around, never working, but sending his wife and daughter to make a living.

The play is a comedy based on a French family in Ottawa, Canada, in the early nineteen hundreds. This play is the annual spring production of Little Theatre with 12 of its members taking the roles of this hilarious French family and their friends.

David graduated from Central High School. While in high school he played leading dramatic roles. During his first two years at State Teachers College he has played in skits and small plays under the auspices of Little Theatre, which is directed by Miss Edith E. Humphrey.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23 (INS) — "Robin Hood," one of the late Douglas Fairbanks' best films, and brought to the screen more recently by Errol Flynn, Walt Disney and others, is on MGM's agenda as a musical. Howard Keel has been chosen by Producer Jack Cummings as the star, and George Sidney will direct the singer.

This is one of the great all time classics, and should make an excellent musical.

Cummings is en route to Furope, and while in New York will take a look at "Teahouse of the August Moon," which MGM has bought and will make early next year.

Keel, who made himself many new friends in "Kiss Me Kate," has an ambitious program coming up. Besides his movie commitments, he is preparing for his Las Vegas opening at the Last Frontier Hotel on Aug. 1.

Don Hartman didn't have to tell me that Paramount can't use the title "Magnificent Bastard," the L. H. Crockett novel just bought by the studio. Hartman is one studio boss who has no intention of warring with the Johnston office.

"The story is that of a frustrated love between a Marine nurse and a married colonel in World War II," Don explained, "But I think we've successfully cleaned up that angle, too, in the script. We feel we have another 'Farewell to Arms' in this novel."

The script will be sent to Willie Wyler and Don hopes he'll like it enough to take on the directorial assignment.

Henry Fonda is in and Marlon Brando is out of "Mister Roberts." At a conference held by Jack Warner and Leland Hayward, who is producing his stage play, it was decided to put Fonda in the role he created on the stage.

Brando is hardly in a position to accept any motion picture until he gets himself straightened out with 20th Century-Fox.

As I told you last week, Warners and Hayward were able to get John Ford to direct, which is a big feather in their cap.

Chatter in Hollywood:

In Prince Aly Khan's last letter to Gene Tierney he said he was leaving Karachi Feb. 23 — that was today. He's going to stop briefly in Cairo and will stay at the Semiramis Hotel, and then he's flying to see Gene.

Whether or not she will say yes to his proposal is another matter. Her brother, living in Connecticut, is greatly opposed to such a marriage, and Gene, herself, will take time to think of the seriousness of marrying a man of a different religious belief.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Flo and Jack Haley are acting as go-betweens in Jackie Gleason's marital troubles. They're trying to bring about a lasting reconciliation between the Gleasons.

Alan Mowbray is home from Midway Hospital where he was taken with a bad attack of blood poisoning. He can be grateful for the antibiotic drugs — they saved his life.

The new character in Ed Gardiner's "Duffy's Tavern" TV show is named, of all things, Harlon Lando! Nothing personal, I presume.

Lisa Kirk and her song-writer husband, Bob Welles, have decided to make their separation legal.

Adela Rogers St. John has a wonderful new format for TV. She's calling it "Thanks A Million," and already has had several offers from interested sponsors.

MGM has made Eleanor Holm an offer for her life story, and if she accepts, of course, but of course, it will star another swim champ, Esther Williams.

I love the crack Bob Hope made at the Friars dinner honoring George Jessel in New York. Bob said, "Jessel has spoken at so many funerals that I consider it a privlege just to be alive when Jessel talks."

Eddie O'Brien and Olga San Juan are sending for their children to come to Italy. Eddie makes a second picture in Milan.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark.

Using beautiful perfume bottles as ornaments can result in a costly waste of fragrance!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

No question about it, the designers of perfume bottles outdid themselves this year in making beautiful flacons. But what a tragic waste of fragrance to allow them to remain unopened! Even though the seal is unbroken, warm temperature and light cause the perfume to oxidize, changing its fragrance and breaking it down chemically.

It may sound like a paradox but the only way to save your lovely perfume is to use it . . . use it before you lose it either through deterioration or evaporation.

Cool And Dark

If you are so rich in perfume that you cannot spend your treasure in anything like a reasonable length of time, store your well-sealed bottles in a cool dark place.

And by the way, do you know the trick that removes a stopper that sticks? Neither hot nor cold water is the answer. But if you take another bottle, and tap the stubborn stopper gently all around, the tightly fitted top will be released both easily and safely. Perfumers use this method and say it never fails. Of course, before you start tapping, remove the cord and plastic outer sealer. A pair of nail scissors will do this admirably.

A lot of wonderful perfume gets wasted in other ways, too. It's wasted when you use too little and when you use too much. In the first case, no one knows that you are even wearing it. In the second case, every one knows, but only too well!

Know Your Fragrance

It is important to get acquainted with the character of each new fragrance so that you can accurately judge both its strength and how long you can depend on it to last after application. Generally speaking, perfumes are strongest, followed by toilet water and then cologne. But if the perfumer makes only a cologne it may be every bit as strong as another perfume's toilet water. This year, the perfumer brought out a fragrance with a strength definitely beyond a toilet water and almost equal to a perfume. You can really see the importance of using judgment in your application.

Your perfume should always be your most subtle, personal accessory!

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Using beautiful perfume bottles as ornaments can result in a costly waste of fragrance!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

No question about it, the designers of perfume bottles outdid themselves this year in making beautiful flacons. But what a tragic waste of fragrance to allow them to remain unopened! Even though the seal is unbroken, warm temperature and light cause the perfume to oxidize, changing its fragrance and breaking it down chemically.

It may sound like a paradox but the only way to save your lovely perfume is to use it . . . use it before you lose it either through deterioration or evaporation.

Cool And Dark

If you are so rich in perfume that you cannot spend your treasure in anything like a reasonable length of time, store your well-sealed bottles in a cool dark place.

And by the way, do you know the trick that removes a stopper that sticks? Neither hot nor cold water is the answer. But if you take another bottle, and tap the stubborn stopper gently all around, the tightly fitted top will be released both easily and safely. Perfumers use this method and say it never fails. Of course, before you start tapping, remove the cord and plastic outer sealer. A pair of nail scissors will do this admirably.

A lot of wonderful perfume gets wasted in other ways, too. It's wasted when you use too little and when you use too much. In the first case, no one knows that you are even wearing it. In the second case, every one knows, but only too well!

Know Your Fragrance

It is important to get acquainted with the character of each new fragrance so that you can accurately judge both its strength and how long you can depend on it to last after application. Generally speaking, perfumes are strongest, followed by toilet water and then cologne. But if the perfumer makes only a cologne it may be every bit as strong as another perfume's toilet water. This year, the perfumer brought out a fragrance with a strength definitely beyond a toilet water and almost equal to a perfume. You can readily see the importance of using judgment in your application.

Your perfume should always be your most subtle, personal accessory!

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

The all-steel and aluminum Cash Drawer can be factory or field fitted to all Hano Refolder Registers using forms up to 8½" long. Using less counter space, the Hano unit is only 15¼" wide.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

News From All Over

More and more, radio is seeking the specialized audiences. WNEW, in New York, an old hand at grubbing for odd audiences, has just inaugurated one that ought to fill a long-felt need. It's a disk jockey show called "2 a. m. Feeding" and it's aimed, of course, at those sleepy and hitherto totally ignored wretches who have to get up to feed the baby at that awful hour.

John Crosby

Art Ford, who has been sitting up nights on WNEW spinning records for decades, is the baby-sitter. He's providing baby-care tips culled from "Parents Magazine" and playing music suitable to the occasion. The first few minutes, the music is bright and snappy to wake poppa or mamma up. The last few are lullaby type records to waft the child back to sleep again. And guess who the sponors are—Clapp's Baby Foods, Mennen's Baby products and Lulla-by-lite, an infant's musical night light.

And over on NBC, the deep thinkers have recognized that a good many of their dwindling audience members are in automobiles and are beaming one four-hour broadcast called "Roadshow" (2 to 6 p. m. EST Saturdays) at them. A feature of this program is "Mr. Safety" who cruises the highways in search of a safe, courteous driver, a quest that must sometimes seem like that of Diogenes for an honest man. When they find one — and they do, believe it or not — he is introduced to the listening audience by telephone and awarded prizes.

That's what's up in radio. Now what's doing in the space world? Well, sir, Omnivac, an electronic brain designed to make decisions automatically, went berserk on "The Secret Files of Captain Video" and tried to wrest control of the Universe from the human beings. That's what happens when you let anyone make decisions. Delusions of grandeur every time. Captain Video, though, mastered the crazed machine and has things well in hand.

Up in Montreal, there arose a rather different problem. Because of the large French populace, the first TV station in Montreal had to be bilingual. Montreal residents moaned about having to receive their programs half in French, half in English. Now the city has two TV stations, one French, one English. But the moppets of either language insist on one program — "Ecole Ding Dong."

And from the animal world, on which we keep an uneasy eye for signs of unrest similar to that exhibited by Omnivac, I hear from Bil Baird, the pupetteer, that one of his most enthusiastic viewers is a Muscovie duck who resides in Indiana. Slugger, the droopy-eyed piano-playing puppet, is the especial favorite of this Muscovie duck, a piece of information I pass on to other Muscovie duck owners who may have wondered how to keep them entertained.

And now from the educational front comes word from the University of Toledo which for four years has been offering college courses on television. The average TV student, the university has discovered, is a housewife between the ages of 31 to 50 years of age, many of them already well-educated but athirst for more.

Most of the girls live in small towns or out in the country rather than in Toledo proper and their favorite class time is in the mornings after they've got the breakfast dishes done. Courses they prefer include literature, music, art, science and child psychology and they get so wrapped up in the courses that they get in touch with their professors at least 40 times—either by phone or mail — to clear up things that puzzle them. They get good grades too, all A's or B's which is better than the average on-campus student.

DON'T LET IT DAMAGE

IT IS bad enough to have a misunderstanding with your partner which causes you to get a bad score on a particular deal. But that should be the end of the matter, except that it ought to strengthen your pair by assuring that the same type of misunderstanding is not likely to occur again. This is the case with cardsmen of the top rank. But lesser players usually wind up with an upsetting argument which makes them less efficient on the immediately succeeding deals. Determine not to let such a happening damage you or your partner.

Here were four of the world's most famous players battling in a championship. Both East and West were owners of names known all over the world of bridge before South even took up the game. For charitable reasons, only he will be identified now—John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia, considered by many Americans as the peer of anybody, who has compiled a spectacular record.

It takes a little study to see that he ought to score an extra trick after the heart 2 lead, which is just what he did, gaining a terrific clear top score on the deal. Followed then the discussion between West and East.

West doubled the 4-Hearts mainly because he considered East's redouble, after the 1-Diamond was doubled, as indicating a hand of general strength, somewhat above average, with the general message that both members of the redoubler's side would refrain from bidding thereafter until each had a chance for a business double of whatever the opponents bid. If East had held that type of hand, the double of 4-Hearts would have paid a profit.

East, however, had the suit-fitting type of redouble, and felt that, when he took out the 2-Hearts with his 3-Diamonds, he showed his partner that fact. West did not so view it. They agreed then, however, that a redouble followed by a takeout into the original suit would indicate the kind of hand East held, and they had no more trouble about the incident as they went on from there to win the tournament.

News From All Over

More and more, radio is seeking the specialized audiences. WNEW, in New York, an old hand at grubbing for odd audiences, has just inaugurated one that ought to fill a long-felt need. It's a disk jockey show called "2 a. m. Feeding" and it's aimed, of course, at those sleepy and hitherto totally ignored wretches who have to get up to feed the baby at that awful hour.

John Crosby

Art Ford, who has been sitting up nights on WNEW spinning records for decades, is the baby-sitter. He's providing baby-care tips culled from "Parents Magazine" and playing music suitable to the occasion. The first few minutes, the music is bright and snappy to wake poppa or mamma up. The last few are lullaby type records to waft the child back to sleep again. And guess who the sponors are—Clapp's Baby Foods, Mennen's Baby products and Lulla-by-lite, an infant's musical night light.

And over on NBC, the deep thinkers have recognized that a good many of their dwindling audience members are in automobiles and are beaming one four-hour broadcast called "Roadshow" (2 to 6 p. m. EST Saturdays) at them. A feature of this program is "Mr. Safety" who cruises the highways in search of a safe, courteous driver, a quest that must sometimes seem like that of Diogenes for an honest man. When they find one — and they do, believe it or not — he is introduced to the listening audience by telephone and awarded prizes.

That's what's up in radio. Now what's doing in the space world? Well, sir, Omnivac, an electronic brain designed to make decisions automatically, went berserk on "The Secret Files of Captain Video" and tried to wrest control of the Universe from the human beings. That's what happens when you let anyone make decisions. Delusions of grandeur every time. Captain Video, though, mastered the crazed machine and has things well in hand.

Up in Montreal, there arose a rather different problem. Because of the large French populace, the first TV station in Montreal had to be bilingual. Montreal residents moaned about having to receive their programs half in French, half in English. Now the city has two TV stations, one French, one English. But the moppets of either language insist on one program — "Ecole Ding Dong."

And from the animal world, on which we keep an uneasy eye for signs of unrest similar to that exhibited by Omnivac, I hear from Bil Baird, the pupetteer, that one of his most enthusiastic viewers is a Muscovie duck who resides in Indiana. Slugger, the droopy-eyed piano-playing puppet, is the especial favorite of this Muscovie duck, a piece of information I pass on to other Muscovie duck owners who may have wondered how to keep them entertained.

And now from the educational front comes word from the University of Toledo which for four years has been offering college courses on television. The average TV student, the university has discovered, is a housewife between the ages of 31 to 50 years of age, many of them already well-educated but athirst for more.

Most of the girls live in small towns or out in the country rather than in Toledo proper and their favorite class time is in the mornings after they've got the breakfast dishes done. Courses they prefer include literature, music, art, science and child psychology and they get so wrapped up in the courses that they get in touch with their professors at least 40 times—either by phone or mail — to clear up things that puzzle them. They get good grades too, all A's or B's which is better than the average on-campus student.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement at the death of our wife and mother, Mary E. Phillips. To Rev. C. L. Voll and Rev. C. H. Clapp we are indeed grateful for conducting the services. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
The C. A. Phillips family.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who aided and comforted us during the illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Minnie H. Twigg. We especially wish to thank Rev. Frederick Eckert, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church; the pallbearers; those who sent floral tributes; those who loaned their cars for the funeral; and all others who in any way rendered assistance.
Her daughters: Mrs. Loman E. Bennett and Mrs. Elbert H. Jones.

We take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and brother, David L. Bootman. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and also the Minister, Rev. Roscoe Hall.
His Wife, MRS. LEONA BOOTMAN, BROTHERS and SISTERS.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement at the death of our wife and mother, Mary E. Phillips. To Rev. C. L. Voll and Rev. C. H. Clapp we are indeed grateful for conducting the services. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
The C. A. Phillips family.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who aided and comforted us during the illness and following the death of our beloved mother, Minnie H. Twigg. We especially wish to thank Rev. Frederick Eckert, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church; the pallbearers; those who sent floral tributes; those who loaned their cars for the funeral; and all others who in any way rendered assistance.
Her daughters: Mrs. Loman E. Bennett and Mrs. Elbert H. Jones.

We take this means to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and brother, David L. Bootman. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and also the Minister, Rev. Roscoe Hall.
His Wife, MRS. LEONA BOOTMAN,
BROTHERS and SISTERS.

Stock Market Backs Down With Trading On Slow Side

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Lower prices were the general rule today in the Stock Market in a routine decline marked by irregularity.

Lots of traders and others stood aside as the market backed down. No points of acute weakness appeared in the list. There were, however, few areas of support.

The list was composed of 1,162 individual issues, 47 more than in Friday's quietly declining market. Business was the slowest in around three weeks with 1,470,000 individual issues traded as compared with 1,510,000 shares last Friday. The market was closed yesterday for Washington's birthday.

Motion pictures acted rather well at one time and retained a good part of their gains. Railroads displayed a few good plus signs, although lower as a group. Air lines at best were mixed. The chemicals were ahead for a time, but they ended lower. Also lower were the steels, motors, rubbers, distillers, and coppers. Others were mixed or steady.

Roy Clyde Douty, Jr., an infant, by Benett Marie Finzel Minnick, his mother and next friend, Ex Parte. No. 23552 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the petition filed in the foregoing cause is to have the name of Roy Clyde Douty, Jr., an infant, of Cumberland, Maryland, changed to Roy Joseph Douty Hawkins.

It is thereupon ordered this 9th day of February, 1954, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that a copy of this order be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, for three successive weeks before the 8th day of March, 1954, warning all persons to show cause, if any they have, in this Court, on or before the 24th day of March, 1954, why said name of said infant should not be so changed.

JOSEPH E. BODEN,
Clerk.

Stock Market Backs Down With Trading On Slow Side

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Lower prices were the general rule today in the Stock Market in a routine decline marked by irregularity.

Lots of traders and others stood aside as the market backed down. No points of acute weakness appeared in the list. There were, however, few areas of support.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 60 cents at $113.20 which compares with its recent peak of $114.90 touched a week ago last Friday.

The list was composed of 1,162 individual issues, 47 more than in Friday's quietly declining market. Business was the slowest in around three weeks with 1,470,000 individual issues traded as compared with 1,510,000 shares last Friday. The market was closed yesterday for Washington's birthday.

Motion pictures acted rather well at one time and retained a good part of their gains. Railroads displayed a few good plus signs, although lower as a group. Air lines at best were mixed. The chemicals were ahead for a time, but they ended lower. Also lower were the steels, motors, rubbers, distillers, and coppers. Others were mixed or steady.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Soybeans soared nearly 1 cents a bushel to the highest prices in three years in active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat also was quite firm, although not matching the gains in soybeans. Corn scored modest gaines and oats did practically nothing.

Closing futures:

Wheat: Mar 2.16; May 2.17⅛-¾; Jly 2.13⅜-¾; Sep 2.16-15⅝; Dec 2.19⅜-¾.

Corn: Mar 1.51¼-⅜; May 1.53¼; Jly 1.54½; Sep 1.52¼; Dec 1.44½.

Oats: Mar 75¾; May 75¾; Jly 72¾; Sep 72½.

Rye: Mar 1.18½; May 1.21-20½; Jly 1.22¾-½; Sep 1.25.

Soybeans: Mar 3.36-36½; May 3.37¾-38; Sep 2.71½-72; Nov 2.49¼.

Lard: Mar 16.92; May 16.67; Jly 16.00; Sep 15.50; Oct 14.90Bid.

Cash wheat: No 2 red 2.18¾. Corn: No. 1 yellow 1.56; No. 2 red 1.55¾-56; No. 3 1.53½-55; sample grade 1.40-51½; No. 2 white 1.68. Oats: Sample grade medium heavy white 74½; No. 1 white 77¼-79¼; No. 1 heavy white 80¼-81; No. 3 77½-79; No. 4 77½; sample grade white 75. Soybeans: None.

Barley nominal: Malting 1.20-62; feed 93-1.16. Field seed per 100 lb nominal: White clover 10.25-10.75; red top 57.00-58.00; alsike 17.00-18.00; timothy 12.50-13.50; red clover 27.00-28.00.

Position Of Treasury

Board Approves Contract For School At Flintstone

Site For New Westernport High School Accepted; Architect Will Begin Plans

Two significant decisions in Allegany County's $3,500,000 school construction program were made yesterday afternoon by the County Board of Education.

The school board accepted the low bid of the John I. Vandegrift Company, local contractor, for the proposed addition to the Flintstone School. By taking two alternates the board cut the price $2,900 to $486,700.

In the other action, the board approved the site along Philos Avenue in Green's Additions for the new high school in Westernport. Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was authorized to purchase the needed land and S. Russ Minter, local architect, was instructed to prepare plans for the new school.

Shortcut To Save Money

When bids on the Flintstone job were received February 11, the Vandegrift firm bid $489,600. Four alternates were added which would have reduced the total cost about $13,000. The board accepted two of the alternates. By eliminating plastic skylights in corridors and closets $1,400 was lopped off. By dropping the proposed covered walkway between the addition and the new vocational agriculture shop another $1,500 was saved.

In original planning on the construction program, Webster had hoped to build and equip the Flintstone School for $500,000. Some $24,490 already has been spent from that amount for a sewage disposal system to serve both the existing and proposed buildings.

To keep the cost as low as possible, Webster also told the board yesterday that new equipment in the school will be kept at an "absolute minimum." The new job includes four classrooms, office, cafeteria and kitchen, boiler room to serve both the old and new buildings, and a home economics department.

Webster also reported yesterday that about $78,000 which the county can get this year from a state incentive fund because of the construction program will be earmarked for the Flintstone project.

Test Borings Discussed

The decision on the Westernport site was made after Minter had discussed with the Board of Education the results of test borings made recently by the Baltimore division of the Raymond Concrete Pile Company. These tests indicated the number of blows with a 40-pound weight necessary to force a two-inch core down through ground and rock. The tests showed that one portion in the upper end of the tract had bed rock only four to six inches under the surface. As a result the school will be planned away from that sector.

"What has been criticized by some persons in the Westernport area as dilatory tactics perhaps will prove a prudent delay," Webster said in commenting upon the delay caused by the test. "I know that in construction of the Salem Avenue Elementary School in Hagerstown, the cost was $100,000 more than had been expected because the contractor ran into bed rock just beneath the surface.

"This Philos Avenue site is not a good one by modern standards but is the best available in the Westernport area," the superintendent added. "There is no good parking area but water is close by. The board will have to build a sewage disposal plant there," Webster concluded.

Clergy To Take Part In Eagles Memorial Event

Service To Honor Deceased Members

A clergyman from each of three major faiths will be represented at the annual Memorial Service of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, to be held Sunday, March 7, at 2 p. m. in the FOE Home, North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will give the invocation at the event; Rabbi Joseph Schimelman of Beth Jacob Congregation will give the prayer for deceased members, and Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholice Church, will conduct the benediction.

C. William H. Baer, chairman, and Herman J. Miller, co-chairman, said plans are almost complete for the service to pay tribute to 33 deceased members who died during the past year.

Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, will give the Memorial Service address. Special honors will be paid 16 members of the local Aerie who died in service during World War II.

This year the eevnt will have present the Allegany High School Choir under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison, and music will be provided by Mrs. Jerome Creegan at the electric organ.

A highlight of the annual ceremony is the picturesque memorial pageant. Officers said this year the pageant will have pure white setting. As Herman L. Myers, secretary, calls the roll of members who have died during the past year, Miss Ann DeHaven, a student at Allegany High School, dressed in white and gold gown, will place a red carnation upon a Bible on the altar for each name.

Besides Myers, other officers of Aerie 245 are Charles Robinette, president; William T. Damm, vice president; Thomas J. Hopwood, junior past president; Robert E. Danner, chaplain; Hampton P. Driver Sr., conductor, and Lawrence I. Matt, treasurer.

On the board of trustees are Francis H. Shultz, chairman; Vincent T. Morrissey and John H. Hager. Elmer H. Lashley is inside guard and Ernest Duckworth is outside guard.

Forest Group To Plant Trees

In cooperation with several organizations the Operation Green Thumb Committee of the West Virginia Forest Council has planned five major projects for this spring.

Included among the programs is the Black Water Falls State Park project near Davis. Approximately 20,000 trees are to be planted by Boy Scouts under the supervision of the West Virginia Conservation Commission and USFS personnel. Co-sponsor with the Forest Council in promotion and planning is the Upper Monongahela Valley Association.

Tree planting will be held April 10 and 11.

Meanwhile the council also issued warnings of the ever recurring semi-annual threat of forest fires in the woodlands of West Virginia and surrounding states. It hopes the greater portion of the population of the state will become more careful and will reduce the "fire load" to a point where effective and economical fire control organization can be expected.

Last year in the spring 477 fires were reported in the forests of West Virginia resulting in 12,248 acres being burned. Last fall 1,947 additional blazes burned over 327,354 acres in one of the driest seasons on record.

News In Brief

The executive board of the Woman's Association of First Presbyterian Church will meet at 1:30 p. m. today in the Templar room.

A social will be held today at 8 p. m. by the Carver School PTA in the cafeteria at Carver High School.

A meeting of the 4-H Tractor Maintenance Club will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the Light and Decker farm machinery shop.

State Leaders Will Discuss Surplus Food

County Board Invites Waxter To Come Here

An invitation was extended yesterday afternoon to Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, to meet here with the Allegany County Commissioners to discuss the institution of a surplus foods program in this county.

William H. Lemmert, president of the County Commissioners, signed the letter addressed to Waxter.

In the correspondence Lemmert says that the County Commissioners would sincerely appreciate meeting with Waxter and E. L. Vogelman, supervisor of the donable foods program of the state, at the Court House here on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 2, or Friday, March 5. The commissioners suggest that another Tuesday or Friday be agreed upon if these dates are not satisfactory.

Lemmert's letter was in reply to Waxter's offer to the commissioners dated February 18.

The commissioners will distribute the surplus food to needy persons certified either by the County Welfare Board, Associated Charities, the Red Cross, Salvation Army or locals of the United Mine Workers.

Although the commissioners do not know when the food will be received, they know it will include butter, cheese and dried milk. Earlier, it had been hoped that canned beef also would be available for distribution but Lemmert reports that all of it will have been distributed by March 1.

15-Year-Old Boy Ill With Meningitis

A 15-year-old South Cumberland youth was stricken suddenly by that strange malady, spinal meningitis, early yesterday morning and is now battling for his life in Memorial Hospital.

Paul C. Hull, ninth grade Fort Hill High School student, was found unconscious in his bed yesterday morning when his family tried to awaken him for school. Dr. Ralph Roth, called by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Hull, 441 Race Street, diagnosed the illness as meningitis in a "very advanced stage."

The Hull boy was rushed to Memorial Hospital where he was given 1,000,000 units of penicillin and has been placed in an isolated room. He was still unconscious late last night and attaches reported his condition as "very critical."

Dr. Roth said there appeared to be no immediate danger to the youth's family or no need to check his schoolmates, although the boy had attended school the day before his illness.

Members of the family said last night Paul had returned home from school Monday evening complaining of a headache. He had gone to bed, then later had come downstairs to eat his supper before retiring again. They found him unconscious in his bedroom the next morning.

Paul is one of 12 children of the Hull family and the father, a former B&O worker, is unable to work because of an accident suffered while working with the railroad last July. The father fell from a boxcar and his injuries have left him partially paralyzed with the loss of the sight of one eye.

The Allegany County Red Cross chapter is striving to secure an emergency furlough for a brother, Thomas Hull, now stationed at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C. The airman was sent home yesterday evening on a short pass after a long-distance call was put through to the Air Force base. He is due to report back at the base Thursday unless the furlough can be arranged.

Three Festivals For Musicians Scheduled Here

County Concerts Planned In Spring

Three music festivals will be conducted in Allegany County during the coming spring months, W. Valgene Routch, supervisor of music education in the county schools, announced yesterday.

The first, a County Senior High School Choral Festival, will be staged at Fort Hill High School Tuesday, March 23, Routch said. There will be an all-day rehearsal followed by an evening concert starting about 8 o'clock. Students from all senior high schools in the county will participate.

The evening concert will be divided into four parts. The Girls' Glee Club, with about 400 voices, will present the first portion. Then will come selections by the Boys' Glee Club of 175. A mixed choir of 100 boys and girls will sing the third section of the program. Finally, the chorus composed of all 575 festival participants will present the last numbers in the concert.

Next on the festival schedule will be a County Junior High and Elementary School Band Festival at Beall High School in Frostburg Friday, April 30. This too will close with a concert starting at 8 p. m.

Rehearsals for these young band members from all county schools will be held on Saturdays at convenient points in Cumberland, Frostburg and Westernport. They will start in the latter part of March.

Last of the three festivals will be a joint concert by the County Senior High School Band and County High School Orchestra at Valley High School in Lonaconing, Thursday, May 6.

This too, will be preceded by all-day rehearsals in the new school. Orchestra members will practice in the morning, musicians who play string instruments will rehearse in the afternoon as will all band members. After an evening meal in the Valley cafeteria, the band and orchestra members will combine their talent for the 8 o'clock concert.

Senior high school band members will rehearse at Valley on the afternoons and early evenings of March 10 and April 8. Orchestra members will practice at Valley afternoons and early evenings of March 22 and April 13.

Red Cross Praised For Aiding Man Who Was Stricken Ill

Allegany County Red Cross Chapter workers were thanked by members of the family of Joseph Lewis, 54, of Frostburg, for the prompt attention they gave the man when he collapsed yesterday in the Cumberland Post Office building.

Temporary first aid was given the stricken man when he fell while waiting outside the Railroad Retirement Board office by Red Cross members who immediately called a doctor and ambulance which took the Western Maryland Railway trackman to Sacred Heart Hospital where he was reported "resting comfortably" last night.

Suffering from a coronary condition, Lewis struck his head and suffered lacerations when he fell to the floor.

Meetings Planned For Rubber Workers

The election of a chairman for Department 44-1, the shipping department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire plant, will be held Sunday at 1 p. m. in the Rubber Workers Hall. Candidates for the post are Carl Robinson and Kenneth Wise.

Planned Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in the union hall is a meeting on the veterans seniority issue. Involved are about 20 veterans who were employed by the Kelly Engineering Company, which made shells here during World War II.

Girl Guards Open Candy Sale

Barbara Johnson, a member of the Girl Guard troop of the Salvation Army Citadel, sells a box of Girl Guard milk chocolates to Daniel Y. Browne, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, as Mrs. Shirley Stimler, Guard leader, looks on. The Guards and Sunbeams are holding the candy sale to finance attendance at summer camps.

Tax Office Has Full Staff To Aid Residents

Many Incorrect Returns Are Noted

R. J. Stakem, in charge of the local office of Internal Revenue, said yesterday he now has a full staff to assist taxpayers in making out returns.

Internal Revenue Agents, who were working in area communities for the past two months, have completed their work in the field, Stakem said, and are now available to assist at the local tax office.

Besides Stakem, the local office has three collection agents and two field representatives to serve local taxpayers. He added the office has been busy every day for the past several weeks.

L. A. Chamberlin, district director of Internal Revenue Service, said the Baltimore district office has received over 20,000 imperfect returns: These are the most common errors to avoid, he pointed out:

Missing original Form W-2 (statement of wages and withholding tax); pay slips instead of original Form W-2; missing signature, and incompletion of the long-form tax computation on page 3 of the return.

Stakem said these mistakes hold up processing and delay the scheduling of refunds, if any are due.

For the district, over 500,000 Federal income tax returns have been received, Chamberlin said, but there is still a long way to go if the 1,185,000 returns are to be received by March 15.

Over 165,000 refunds have been scheduled for payment, totaling over 11 million dollars, from the smallest of six cents to the largest of over $5,000.

Clinics Are Planned

The Health Department will hold child hygiene conferences Thursday at 10 a. m. in Frostburg and Friday at 10 a. m. in Flintstone. A chest clinic will be held in City Hall Friday from 9 a. m. to noon.

Citadel Begins Publication Of 'Banners And Bonnets'

Lt. James Pappas, who came here recently to become assistant to Capt. and Mrs. Daniel Biggs, commanders, is editor of the mimeographed paper which will be issued monthly.

Some 2 dozen senior soldiers of the Citadel and the South Cumberland Corps will go to Washington Friday night to attend a sectional Soldiers Rally.

Capt. Biggs and Lt. Pappas will lead a delegation of 14 soldiers from the Citadel, and Lt. Harold May will be accompanied by 10 senior members of the South Cumberland corps.

Col. Edward Laity, Atlanta, Ga., property and legal secretary of the Southern Territory, will be the speaker at the meeting set for 7 p. m.

Girl Guards and Sunbeams, under the direction of Mrs. Capt. Daniel Biggs, began selling candy to finance attendance at summer camps planned for the Salvation Army youth groups.

The Girl Guards, for girls from 11 to 18, number 17 at the Citadel and the Sunbeams, the junior branch for girls of 6-10, has 10 members.

Similar in program to the Girl Scout and Brownies, the troops have a fourfold purpose, the guarding of the soul, mind, body and of others.

The program was instituted by the Salvation Army in England in 1915, and is now world-wide in scope.

Board Opposes Bill On Reports

Opposition to House Bill 114, which would require all Maryland public elementary schools to use a five-symbol grading system on report cards was registered yesterday afternoon by the Allegany County Board of Education.

The Anne Arundel County Delegation introduced the bill stating that in that county elementary pupils get only two grades. They are either "S" for satisfactory or "N" for needs improvement.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was instructed to wire the County Delegation about the school board's views. In the elementary grades here pupils may get any of four grades, highly satisfactory, satisfactory, unsatisfactory or progressing, but could do better. In junior and senior high schools the five-symbol system is used.

The school board also gave the State Roads Commission a right-of-way through school property at Mt. Savage. The commission is planning a new road leading up the hill to the new school.

In another action yesterday, the Cumberland Kiwanis Club was granted permission to use the Fort Hill High School auditorium for a concert by the United States Marine Band September 15.

The Weather

Although yesterday's maximum temperatures were slightly higher than the previous day the 24-hour period was actually colder as the low was recorded at 22 degrees. At 8 o'clock last evening the thermometer registered 40 degrees and the humidity at 6 p. m. was 41 per cent. Today's forecast is not quite so cold with showers likely in the afternoon or evening.

Boy Injured In Fall On Toy Pistol Near East Side School

Although the child, Thomas Hudgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudgins, 6 Marion Street, was not struck by the car, he injured his chin when he fell on a toy pistol he was carrying.

The driver of the car, Paul E. Imler, of Bowman's Addition, saw the child dart into the path of the car, applied his brakes and avoided hitting the boy. He then took the child to Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was admitted for X-rays and observation.

City Police received a call at headquarters at 3:50 p. m. and Officer Louis Downey investigated.

Women To Hear Clothing Talks At Humbird School

Demonstrations in methods of clothing construction for adults will be offered at John Humbird School one afternoon each week for six weeks.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics in the county schools, will demonstrate simple methods of clothing construction, pattern selection, correct body measurements for altering commercial patterns, pattern selection, choice of material and accessories.

The class will be held each Wednesday from 1:30 until 3 p. m. in the school auditorium. The first class will meet next Wednesday, March 3. It is primarily for women in the area served by the Humbird School.

Yellow Top Drivers To Meet Today

Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), has called a meeting for today at 10 a. m. in the union hall for drivers of the Yellow Top taxicab company.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the meeting is planned to decide whether to take further action in the contract dispute regarding leasing of taxicabs here.

Local 1874 Officers To Be Installed

Installation of new officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at a special meeting in the union hall.

The officers will be obligated by James A. Dundon, national TWUA representative.

Group To Study Discipline

Gephart Adult Study Group will meet at 1:30 o'clock today in the school cafeteria. "Discipline" is the subject.

To Hold Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held by the Sunday School of Emmanuel Episcopal Church from 6 until 9 o'clock tonight in the parish house.

House Overrides McKeldin Veto Of Liquor Bill

Governor Terms Tax Change Unsound Law

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — The House tonight overrode Gov. McKeldin's veto of a share-the-wealth plan for Maryland's liquor tax.

The vote, which straddled party lines, was 81 to 22. Only 74 had been needed to upset the governor on a measure that will cost the State almost a million dollars but split among Baltimore and the subdivisions more than twice that sum.

McKeldin had cited the revenue loss and said it would lead to unsound conduct of State finances.

Delegation Favors Bill

Delegate Estel C. Kelley, one of the sponsors of the bill, said all six members of the Allegany County Delegation voted to override the governor's veto.

He termed the bill of great importance to Allegany County, since it will add about $65,000 of tax revenues.

The House reversal passed the bill to the Senate, where the governor's opposition counted on enough strength to write it into law.

If this is done, all local authority to tax alcoholic beverages will expire in July, 1955, when the split of one-third the $1.50 gallon tax will begin with Baltimore and the counties.

McKeldin's lengthy veto message took 20 minutes to be read by a House clerk. Only five more minutes were needed to override. Majority Leader Thompson (D-Dorchester) said McKeldin had omitted reference to "one sound principle behind this bill, namely that liquor should be taxed by the State at a uniform rate."

Delay Shouted Down

Del. Wallace (R-Montgomery) tried to put off a test until tomorrow so delegates could study the message. He was shouted down in a voice vote.

McKeldin had taken the stand that the business of making the State a tax collector for its subdivisions has gone far enough.

For that and other reasons he vetoed once more an act which would increase the Maryland liquor tax from $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon and give 50 cents of that back to Baltimore City and the counties.

The same act was vetoed last year.

"It would increase the already heavy burden borne by the State as a tax collector for its political subdivisions—another foolish defiance of the established fact that government is most efficient and economical when appropriating bodies have the responsibility of levying for the revenues from which they appropriate."

The governor told the Legislature that next year the State will collect for the city and counties around 90 million dollars, one way or another. That is about 63 million dollars more than it turned over in 1947.

McKeldin also made these points in telling the Assembly he did not like the liquor tax bill or any part of it:

Would Cut Revenue

1. It will cut State revenue by around a million dollars at a time when the budget gets harder to balance every year.

2. It is an invitation to bootlegging.

3. It threatens increases in other taxes, to the detriment of the taxpayer.

4. The bill passed without any popular demand for it and there was little "popular knowledge or understanding."

5. It is a reversal of precedent all around.

6. Cutting the State's income from liquor taxes can't be justified when there are much more deserving fields for tax relief.

7. Even though the bill doesn't go into effect until 1955, trying to look so far in the future is very unwise.

McKeldin pointed out that every commission which has studied Maryland's tax structure has recommended that the State keep all the liquor taxes.

Hagerstown VA Office Will Close

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23 (AP) — The Veterans Administration said today it will close its contact office in Hagerstown effective March 30.

William L. Limburg, manager of the VA regional office in Baltimore, said the volume of claims and other services for veterans at Hagerstown has declined to the point that it is no longer practical to keep the Hagerstown office open.

The Hagerstown office was one of six established by the VA in 1945 to handle the onrush of veterans returning from World War II service. Others were at Cumberland, Frederick, Annapolis, Salisbury and Cambridge.

Walter Quenstedt, contact representative for the VA in Hagerstown, will be transferred to Baltimore.

A field office of the Maryland Veterans Commission is maintained in Hagerstown and will continue to serve veterans in that area.

Attend School Dedication

Board Approves Contract For School At Flintstone

Site For New Westernport High School Accepted; Architect Will Begin Plans

Two significant decisions in Allegany County's $3,500,000 school construction program were made yesterday afternoon by the County Board of Education.

The school board accepted the low bid of the John I. Vandegrift Company, local contractor, for the proposed addition to the Flintstone School. By taking two alternates the board cut the price $2,900 to $486,700.

The board accepted two of the alternates. By eliminating plastic skylights in corridors and closets $1,400 was lopped off. By dropping the proposed covered walkway between the addition and the new vocational agriculture shop another $1,500 was saved.

In original planning on the construction program, Webster had hoped to build and equip the Flintstone School for $500,000. Some $24,490 already has been spent from that amount for a sewage disposal system to serve both the existing and proposed buildings.

To keep the cost as low as possible, Webster also told the board yesterday that new equipment in the school will be kept at an "absolute minimum." The new job includes four classrooms, office, cafeteria and kitchen, boiler room to serve both the old and new buildings, and a home economics department.

Webster also reported yesterday that about $78,000 which the county can get this year from a state incentive fund because of the construction program will be earmarked for the Flintstone project.

Test Borings Discussed

The decision on the Westernport site was made after Minter had discussed with the Board of Education the results of test borings made recently by the Baltimore division of the Raymond Concrete Pile Company. These tests indicated the number of blows with a 40-pound weight necessary to force a two-inch core down through ground and rock. The tests showed that one portion in the upper end of the tract had bed rock only four to six inches under the surface. As a result the school will be planned away from that sector.

"What has been criticized by some persons in the Westernport area as dilatory tactics perhaps will prove a prudent delay," Webster said in commenting upon the delay caused by the test. "I know that in construction of the Salem Avenue Elementary School in Hagerstown, the cost was $100,000 more than had been expected because the contractor ran into bed rock just beneath the surface.

"This Philos Avenue site is not a good one by modern standards but is the best available in the Westernport area," the superintendent added. "There is no good parking area but water is close by. The board will have to build a sewage disposal plant there," Webster concluded.

Clergy To Take Part In Eagles Memorial Event

Service To Honor Deceased Members

A clergyman from each of three major faiths will be represented at the annual Memorial Service of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, to be held Sunday, March 7, at 2 p. m. in the FOE Home, North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will give the invocation at the event; Rabbi Joseph Schimelman of Beth Jacob Congregation will give the prayer for deceased members, and Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholice Church, will conduct the benediction.

C. William H. Baer, chairman, and Herman J. Miller, co-chairman, said plans are almost complete for the service to pay tribute to 33 deceased members who died during the past year.

Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, will give the Memorial Service address. Special honors will be paid 16 members of the local Aerie who died in service during World War II.

This year the eevnt will have present the Allegany High School Choir under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison, and music will be provided by Mrs. Jerome Creegan at the electric organ.

A highlight of the annual ceremony is the picturesque memorial pageant. Officers said this year the pageant will have pure white setting. As Herman L. Myers, secretary, calls the roll of members who have died during the past year, Miss Ann DeHaven, a student at Allegany High School, dressed in white and gold gown, will place a red carnation upon a Bible on the altar for each name.

Besides Myers, other officers of Aerie 245 are Charles Robinette, president; William T. Damm, vice president; Thomas J. Hopwood, junior past president; Robert E. Danner, chaplain; Hampton P. Driver Sr., conductor, and Lawrence I. Matt, treasurer.

On the board of trustees are Francis H. Shultz, chairman; Vincent T. Morrissey and John H. Hager. Elmer H. Lashley is inside guard and Ernest Duckworth is outside guard.

Forest Group To Plant Trees

In cooperation with several organizations the Operation Green Thumb Committee of the West Virginia Forest Council has planned five major projects for this spring.

Included among the programs is the Black Water Falls State Park project near Davis. Approximately 20,000 trees are to be planted by Boy Scouts under the supervision of the West Virginia Conservation Commission and USFS personnel. Co-sponsor with the Forest Council in promotion and planning is the Upper Monongahela Valley Association.

Tree planting will be held April 10 and 11.

Meanwhile the council also issued warnings of the ever recurring semi-annual threat of forest fires in the woodlands of West Virginia and surrounding states. It hopes the greater portion of the population of the state will become more careful and will reduce the "fire load" to a point where effective and economical fire control organization can be expected.

Last year in the spring 477 fires were reported in the forests of West Virginia resulting in 12,248 acres being burned. Last fall 1,947 additional blazes burned over 327,354 acres in one of the driest seasons on record.

State Leaders Will Discuss Surplus Food

County Board Invites Waxter To Come Here

An invitation was extended yesterday afternoon to Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, to meet here with the Allegany County Commissioners to discuss the institution of a surplus foods program in this county.

William H. Lemmert, president of the County Commissioners, signed the letter addressed to Waxter.

In the correspondence Lemmert says that the County Commissioners would sincerely appreciate meeting with Waxter and E. L. Vogelman, supervisor of the donable foods program of the state, at the Court House here on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 2, or Friday, March 5. The commissioners suggest that another Tuesday or Friday be agreed upon if these dates are not satisfactory.

Lemmert's letter was in reply to Waxter's offer to the commissioners dated February 18.

The commissioners will distribute the surplus food to needy persons certified either by the County Welfare Board, Associated Charities, the Red Cross, Salvation Army or locals of the United Mine Workers.

Although the commissioners do not know when the food will be received, they know it will include butter, cheese and dried milk. Earlier, it had been hoped that canned beef also would be available for distribution but Lemmert reports that all of it will have been distributed by March 1.

15-Year-Old Boy Ill With Meningitis

A 15-year-old South Cumberland youth was stricken suddenly by that strange malady, spinal meningitis, early yesterday morning and is now battling for his life in Memorial Hospital.

Paul C. Hull, ninth grade Fort Hill High School student, was found unconscious in his bed yesterday morning when his family tried to awaken him for school. Dr. Ralph Roth, called by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Hull, 441 Race Street, diagnosed the illness as meningitis in a "very advanced stage."

The Hull boy was rushed to Memorial Hospital where he was given 1,000,000 units of penicillin and has been placed in an isolated room. He was still unconscious late last night and attaches reported his condition as "very critical."

Dr. Roth said there appeared to be no immediate danger to the youth's family or no need to check his schoolmates, although the boy had attended school the day before his illness.

Members of the family said last night Paul had returned home from school Monday evening complaining of a headache. He had gone to bed, then later had come downstairs to eat his supper before retiring again. They found him unconscious in his bedroom the next morning.

Paul is one of 12 children of the Hull family and the father, a former B&O worker, is unable to work because of an accident suffered while working with the railroad last July. The father fell from a boxcar and his injuries have left him partially paralyzed with the loss of the sight of one eye.

The Allegany County Red Cross chapter is striving to secure an emergency furlough for a brother, Thomas Hull, now stationed at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C. The airman was sent home yesterday evening on a short pass after a long-distance call was put through to the Air Force base. He is due to report back at the base Thursday unless the furlough can be arranged.

Condition Of Brown Child Unchanged

No change was reported last night in the serious condition of Walter "Tommy" Brown, six-year-old son of Army Pvt. and Mrs. Walter T. Brown, Frederick Street, who was revived last week at Sacred Heart Hospital as the result of heart massage.

However, attaches reported that the boy, whose heart stopped beating for several minutes during a tonsillectomy, is semi-conscious.

Three Festivals For Musicians Scheduled Here

County Concerts Planned In Spring

Three music festivals will be conducted in Allegany County during the coming spring months, W. Valgene Routch, supervisor of music education in the county schools, announced yesterday.

The first, a County Senior High School Choral Festival, will be staged at Fort Hill High School Tuesday, March 23, Routch said. There will be an all-day rehearsal followed by an evening concert starting about 8 o'clock. Students from all senior high schools in the county will participate.

The evening concert will be divided into four parts. The Girls' Glee Club, with about 400 voices, will present the first portion. Then will come selections by the Boys' Glee Club of 175. A mixed choir of 100 boys and girls will sing the third section of the program. Finally, the chorus composed of all 575 festival participants will present the last numbers in the concert.

Next on the festival schedule will be a County Junior High and Elementary School Band Festival at Beall High School in Frostburg Friday, April 30. This too will close with a concert starting at 8 p. m.

Rehearsals for these young band members from all county schools will be held on Saturdays at convenient points in Cumberland, Frostburg and Westernport. They will start in the latter part of March.

Last of the three festivals will be a joint concert by the County Senior High School Band and County High School Orchestra at Valley High School in Lonaconing, Thursday, May 6.

This too, will be preceded by all-day rehearsals in the new school. Orchestra members will practice in the morning, musicians who play string instruments will rehearse in the afternoon as will all band members. After an evening meal in the Valley cafeteria, the band and orchestra members will combine their talent for the 8 o'clock concert.

Senior high school band members will rehearse at Valley on the afternoons and early evenings of March 10 and April 8. Orchestra members will practice at Valley afternoons and early evenings of March 22 and April 13.

Red Cross Praised For Aiding Man Who Was Stricken Ill

Allegany County Red Cross Chapter workers were thanked by members of the family of Joseph Lewis, 54, of Frostburg, for the prompt attention they gave the man when he collapsed yesterday in the Cumberland Post Office building.

Temporary first aid was given the stricken man when he fell while waiting outside the Railroad Retirement Board office by Red Cross members who immediately called a doctor and ambulance which took the Western Maryland Railway trackman to Sacred Heart Hospital where he was reported "resting comfortably" last night.

Suffering from a coronary condition, Lewis struck his head and suffered lacerations when he fell to the floor.

Meetings Planned For Rubber Workers

The election of a chairman for Department 44-1, the shipping department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire plant, will be held Sunday at 1 p. m. in the Rubber Workers Hall. Candidates for the post are Carl Robinson and Kenneth Wise.

Planned Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in the union hall is a meeting on the veterans seniority issue. Involved are about 20 veterans who were employed by the Kelly Engineering Company, which made shells here during World War II.

Girl Guards Open Candy Sale

Barbara Johnson, a member of the Girl Guard troop of the Salvation Army Citadel, sells a box of Girl Guard milk chocolates to Daniel Y. Browne, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, as Mrs. Shirley Stimler, Guard leader, looks on. The Guards and Sunbeams are holding the candy sale to finance attendance at summer camps.

Tax Office Has Full Staff To Aid Residents

Many Incorrect Returns Are Noted

R. J. Stakem, in charge of the local office of Internal Revenue, said yesterday he now has a full staff to assist taxpayers in making out returns.

Internal Revenue Agents, who were working in area communities for the past two months, have completed their work in the field, Stakem said, and are now available to assist at the local tax office.

Besides Stakem, the local office has three collection agents and two field representatives to serve local taxpayers. He added the office has been busy every day for the past several weeks.

L. A. Chamberlin, district director of Internal Revenue Service, said the Baltimore district office has received over 20,000 imperfect returns: These are the most common errors to avoid, he pointed out:

Missing original Form W-2 (statement of wages and withholding tax); pay slips instead of original Form W-2; missing signature, and incompletion of the long-form tax computation on page 3 of the return.

Stakem said these mistakes hold up processing and delay the scheduling of refunds, if any are due.

For the district, over 500,000 Federal income tax returns have been received, Chamberlin said, but there is still a long way to go if the 1,185,000 returns are to be received by March 15.

Over 165,000 refunds have been scheduled for payment, totaling over 11 million dollars, from the smallest of six cents to the largest of over $5,000.

Clinics Are Planned

The Health Department will hold child hygiene conferences Thursday at 10 a. m. in Frostburg and Friday at 10 a. m. in Flintstone. A chest clinic will be held in City Hall Friday from 9 a. m. to noon.

Citadel Begins Publication Of 'Banners And Bonnets'

Copies of the first edition of Banners and Bonnets, the official newspaper of the Salvation Army Citadel, are being distributed here.

Lt. James Pappas, who came here recently to become assistant to Capt. and Mrs. Daniel Biggs, commanders, is editor of the mimeographed paper which will be issued monthly.

Some 2 dozen senior soldiers of the Citadel and the South Cumberland Corps will go to Washington Friday night to attend a sectional Soldiers Rally.

Capt. Biggs and Lt. Pappas will lead a delegation of 14 soldiers from the Citadel, and Lt. Harold May will be accompanied by 10 senior members of the South Cumberland corps.

Col. Edward Laity, Atlanta, Ga., property and legal secretary of the Southern Territory, will be the speaker at the meeting set for 7 p. m.

Girl Guards and Sunbeams, under the direction of Mrs. Capt. Daniel Biggs, began selling candy to finance attendance at summer camps planned for the Salvation Army youth groups.

The Girl Guards, for girls from 11 to 18, number 17 at the Citadel and the Sunbeams, the junior branch for girls of 6-10, has 10 members.

Similar in program to the Girl Scout and Brownies, the troops have a fourfold purpose, the guarding of the soul, mind, body and of others.

The program was instituted by the Salvation Army in England in 1915, and is now world-wide in scope.

Board Opposes Bill On Reports

Opposition to House Bill 114, which would require all Maryland public elementary schools to use a five-symbol grading system on report cards was registered yesterday afternoon by the Allegany County Board of Education.

The Anne Arundel County Delegation introduced the bill stating that in that county elementary pupils get only two grades. They are either "S" for satisfactory or or "N" for needs improvement.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was instructed to wire the County Delegation about the school board's views. In the elementary grades here pupils may get any of four grades, highly satisfactory, satisfactory, unsatisfactory or progressing, but could do better. In junior and senior high schools the five-symbol system is used.

The school board also gave the State Roads Commission a right-of-way through school property at Mt. Savage. The commission is planning a new road leading up the hill to the new school.

In another action yesterday, the Cumberland Kiwanis Club was granted permission to use the Fort Hill High School auditorium for a concert by the United States Marine Band September 15.

The Weather

Although yesterday's maximum temperatures were slightly higher than the previous day the 24-hour period was actually colder as the low was recorded at 22 degrees. At 8 o'clock last evening the thermometer registered 40 degrees and the humidity at 6 p. m. was 41 per cent. Today's forecast is not quite so cold with showers likely in the afternoon or evening.

Boy Injured In Fall On Toy Pistol Near East Side School

A five-year-old local boy was injured in an unusual mishap yesterday afternoon after falling into the street in front of an approaching vehicle near East Side School.

Although the child, Thomas Hudgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudgins, 6 Marion Street, was not struck by the car, he injured his chin when he fell on a toy pistol he was carrying.

The driver of the car, Paul E. Imler, of Bowman's Addition, saw the child dart into the path of the car, applied his brakes and avoided hitting the boy. He then took the child to Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was admitted for X-rays and observation.

City Police received a call at headquarters at 3:50 p. m. and Officer Louis Downey investigated.

Women To Hear Clothing Talks At Humbird School

Demonstrations in methods of clothing construction for adults will be offered at John Humbird School one afternoon each week for six weeks.

Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics in the county schools, will demonstrate simple methods of clothing construction, pattern selection, correct body measurements for altering commercial patterns, pattern selection, choice of material and accessories.

The class will be held each Wednesday from 1:30 until 3 p. m. in the school auditorium. The first class will meet next Wednesday, March 3. It is primarily for women in the area served by the Humbird School.

Yellow Top Drivers To Meet Today

Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), has called a meeting for today at 10 a. m. in the union hall for drivers of the Yellow Top taxicab company.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the meeting is planned to decide whether to take further action in the contract dispute regarding leasing of taxicabs here.

Local 1874 Officers To Be Installed

Installation of new officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at a special meeting in the union hall.

The officers will be obligated by James A. Dundon, national TWUA representative.

Group To Study Discipline

Gephart Adult Study Group will meet at 1:30 o'clock today in the school cafeteria. "Discipline" is the subject.

To Hold Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held by the Sunday School of Emmanuel Episcopal Church from 6 until 9 o'clock tonight in the parish house.

House Overrides McKeldin Veto Of Liquor Bill

Governor Terms Tax Change Unsound Law

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 23 (AP) — The House tonight overrode Gov. McKeldin's veto of a share-the-wealth plan for Maryland's liquor tax.

The vote, which straddled party lines, was 81 to 22. Only 74 had been needed to upset the governor on a measure that will cost the State almost a million dollars but split among Baltimore and the subdivisions more than twice that sum.

McKeldin had cited the revenue loss and said it would lead to unsound conduct of State finances.

Delegation Favors Bill

Delegate Estel C. Kelley, one of the sponsors of the bill, said all six members of the Allegany County Delegation voted to override the governor's veto.

He termed the bill of great importance to Allegany County, since it will add about $65,000 of tax revenues.

The House reversal passed the bill to the Senate, where the governor's opposition counted on enough strength to write it into law.

If this is done, all local authority to tax alcoholic beverages will expire in July, 1955, when the split of one-third the $1.50 gallon tax will begin with Baltimore and the counties.

McKeldin's lengthy veto message took 20 minutes to be read by a House clerk. Only five more minutes were needed to override. Majority Leader Thompson (D-Dorchester) said McKeldin had omitted reference to "one sound principle behind this bill, namely that liquor should be taxed by the State at a uniform rate."

Delay Shouted Down

Del. Wallace (R-Montgomery) tried to put off a test until tomorrow so delegates could study the message. He was shouted down in a voice vote.

McKeldin had taken the stand that the business of making the State a tax collector for its subdivisions has gone far enough.

For that and other reasons he vetoed once more an act which would increase the Maryland liquor tax from $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon and give 50 cents of that back to Baltimore City and the counties.

The same act was vetoed last year.

In a five-page message the governor said:

"It would increase the already heavy burden borne by the State as a tax collector for its political subdivisions—another foolish defiance of the established fact that government is most efficient and economical when appropriating bodies have the responsibility of levying for the revenues from which they appropriate."

The governor told the Legislature that next year the State will collect for the city and counties around 90 million dollars, one way or another. That is about 63 million dollars more than it turned over in 1947.

McKeldin also made these points in telling the Assembly he did not like the liquor tax bill or any part of it:

Would Cut Revenue

1. It will cut State revenue by around a million dollars at a time when the budget gets harder to balance every year.

2. It is an invitation to bootlegging.

3. It threatens increases in other taxes, to the detriment of the taxpayer.

4. The bill passed without any popular demand for it and there was little "popular knowledge or understanding."

5. It is a reversal of precedent all around.

6. Cutting the State's income from liquor taxes can't be justified when there are much more deserving fields for tax relief.

7. Even though the bill doesn't go into effect until 1955, trying to look so far in the future is very unwise.

McKeldin pointed out that every commission which has studied Maryland's tax structure has recommended that the State keep all the liquor taxes.

Hagerstown VA Office Will Close

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23 (AP) — The Veterans Administration said today it will close its contact office in Hagerstown effective March 30.

William L. Limburg, manager of the VA regional office in Baltimore, said the volume of claims and other services for veterans at Hagerstown has declined to the point that it is no longer practical to keep the Hagerstown office open.

The Hagerstown office was one of six established by the VA in 1945 to handle the onrush of veterans returning from World War II service. Others were at Cumberland, Frederick, Annapolis, Salisbury and Cambridge.

The closing of the Hagerstown office will leave only the facility in Cumberland still in operation.

Walter Quenstedt, contact representative for the VA in Hagerstown, will be transferred to Baltimore.

A field office of the Maryland Veterans Commission is maintained in Hagerstown and will continue to serve veterans in that area.

Attend School Dedication
